introduction

When the publisher asked me to write a few introductory remarks about Don Marquis for this new edition of archy and mehitabel, he said in his letter: "The sales of this particular volume have been really astounding."

They do not astound me. Among books of humor by American authors, there are only a handful that rest solidly on the shelf. This book about Archy and Mehitabel, hammered out at such awful cost by the bug hurling himself at the keys, is one of those books. It is funny, it is wise, it is tender, and it is tough. The sales do not astound me; only the author astounds me, for I know (or think I do) at what cost Don Marquis produced these gaudy and irreverent tales. He was the sort of poet who does not create easily; he was left unsatisfied and gloomy by what he produced; day and night he felt the juices squeezed out of him by the merciless demands of daily newspaper work; he was never quite certified by intellectuals and serious critics of belles lettres. He ended in an exhausted condition—his money gone, his strength gone. Describing the coming of Archy in the Sun Dial column of the New York Sun one afternoon in 1916, he wrote: "After about an hour of this frightfully difficult literary labor he fell to the floor exhausted, and we saw him creep feebly into a nest of the poems which are always there in profusion." In that sentence Don Marquis was writing his own obituary notice. After about a lifetime of frightfully difficult literary labor keeping newspapers supplied with copy, he fell exhausted.

I feel obliged, before going any further, to dispose of one troublesome matter. The reader will have perhaps noticed that I am capitalizing the name Archy and the name Mehitabel. I mention this because the capitalization of Archy is considered the unforgivable sin by a whole raft of old Sun Dial fans who have somehow nursed the illogical idea that because Don Marquis's cockroach was incapable of operating the shift key of a typewriter, nobody else could operate it. This is preposterous. Archy himself wished to be capitalized—he was no e. e. cummings. In fact he once flirted with the idea of writing the story of his life all in capital letters, if he could get somebody to lock the shift key for him. Furthermore, I capitalize Archy on the highest authority: wherever in his columns Don Marquis referred to his hero, Archy was capitalized by the boss himself. What higher authority can you ask?

The device of having a cockroach leave messages in his typewriter in the Sun office was a lucky accident and a happy solution for an acute problem. Marquis did not have the patience to adjust himself easily and comfortably to the rigors of daily columning, and he did not go about it in the steady, conscientious way that (for example) his contemporary Franklin P. Adams did. Consequently Marquis was always hard up for stuff to fill his space. Adams was a great editor, an insatiable proof-reader, a good make-up man. Marquis was none of these. Adams, operating his Conning Tower in the World, moved in the commodious margins of column-and-a-half width and built up a reliable stable of contributors. Marquis, cramped by single-column width, produced his column largely without outside assistance. He never assembled a hard-hitting bunch of contributors and never tried to. He was impatient of hard work and humdrum restrictions, yet expression was the need of his soul. (It is significant that the first words Archy left in his machine were "expression is the need of my soul".)

The creation of Archy, whose communications were in free verse, was part inspiration, part desperation. It enabled Marquis to use short (sometimes very, very short) lines, which fill space rapidly, and at the same time it allowed his spirit to soar while viewing things from the under side, insect fashion. Even Archy's physical limitations (his inability to operate the shift key) relieved Marquis of the toilsome business of capital letters, apostrophes, and quotation marks, those small irritations that slow up all men who are hoping their spirit will soar in time to catch the edition. Typographically, the vers libre did away with the turned or runover line that every single-column practitioner suffers from.

Archy has endeared himself in a special way to thousands of poets and creators and newspaper slaves, and there are reasons for this beyond the sheer merit of his literary output. The details of his creative life make him blood brother to writing men. He cast himself with all his force upon a key, head downward. So do we all. And when he was through his labors, he fell to the floor, spent. He was vain (so are we all), hungry, saw things from the under side, and was continually bringing up the matter of whether he should be paid for his work. He was bold, disrespectful, possessed of the revolutionary spirit (he organized the Worms Turnverein), was never subservient to the boss yet always trying to wheedle food out of him, always getting right to the heart of the matter. And he was contemptuous of those persons who were absorbed in the mere technical details of his writing. "The question is whether the stuff is literature or not." That question dogged his boss, it dogs us all. This book—and the fact that it sells steadily and keeps going into new editions—supplies the answer.

In one sense Archy and his racy pal Mehitabel are timeless. In another sense, they belong rather intimately to an era—an era in American letters when this century was in its teens and its early twenties, an era before the newspaper column had degenerated. In 1916 to hold a job on a daily paper, a columnist was expected to be something of a scholar and a poet—or if not a poet at least to harbor the transmigrated soul of a dead poet. Nowadays, to get a columning job a man need only have the soul of a Peep Tom, or of a third-rate prophet. There are plenty of loud clowns and bad poets at work on papers today, but there are not many columnists adding to belles lettres, and certainly there is no Don Marquis at work on any big daily, or if there is, I haven't encountered his stuff. This seems to me a serious falling off of the press. Mr. Marquis's cockroach was more than the natural issue of a creative and humorous mind. Archy was the child of compulsion, the stern compulsion of journalism. The compulsion is as great today as it ever was, but it is met in a different spirit. Archy used to come back from the golden companionship of the tavern with a poet's report of life as seen from the under side. Today's columnist returns from the platinum companionship of the night club with a dozen pieces of watered gossip and a few bottomless anecdotes. Archy returned carrying a heavy load of wine and dreams. These later cockroaches come sober from their taverns, carrying a basket of fluff. I think newspaper publishers in this decade ought to ask themselves why. What accounts for so great a falling off?

I hesitate to say anything about humor, hesitate to attempt an interpretation of any man's humor: it is as futile as explaining a spider's web in terms of geometry. Marquis was, and is, to me a very funny man, his product rich and satisfying, full of sad beauty, bawdy adventure, political wisdom, and wild surmise; full of pain and jollity, full of exact and inspired writing. The little dedication to this book

. . . to babs with babs knows what and babs knows why is a characteristic bit of Marquis madness. It has the hasty despair, the quick anguish, of an author who has just tossed another book to a publisher. It has the unmistakable whiff of the tavern, and is free of the pretense and the studied affection that so often pollute a dedicatory message.

The days of the Sun Dial were, as one gazes back on them, pleasantly preposterous times and Marquis was made for them, or they for him. Vers libre was in vogue, and tons of souped-up prose and other dribble poured from young free-verse artists who were suddenly experiencing a gorgeous release in the disorderly high-sounding tangle of non-metrical lines. Spiritualism had captured people's fancy also. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle was in close touch with the hereafter, and received frequent communications from the other side. Ectoplasm swirled around all our heads in those days. (It was great stuff, Archy pointed out, to mend broken furniture with.) Souls, at this period, were being transmigrated in Pythagorean fashion. It was the time of "swat the fly," dancing the shimmy, and speakeasies. Marquis imbibed freely of this carnival air, and it all turned up, somehow, in Archy's report. Thanks to Archy, Marquis was able to write rapidly and almost (but not quite) carelessly. In the very act of spoofing free verse, he was enjoying some of its obvious advantages. And he could always let the chips fall where they might, since the burden of responsibility for his sentiments, prejudices, and opinions was neatly shifted to the roach and the cat. It was quite in character for them to write either beautifully or sourly, and Marquis turned it on and off the way an orchestra plays first hot, then sweet.

Archy and Mehitabel, between the two of them, performed the inestimable service of enabling their boss to be profound without sounding self-important, or even self-conscious. Between them, they were capable of taking any theme the boss threw them, and handling it. The piece called "the old trouper" is a good example of how smoothly the combination worked. Marquis, a devoted member of The Players, had undoubtedly had a bellyful of the lamentations of aging actors who mourned the passing of the great days of the theater. It is not hard to imagine him hastening from his club on Gramercy Park to his desk in the Sun office and finding, on examining Archy's report, that Mehitabel was inhabiting an old theater trunk with a tom who had given his life to the theater and who felt that actors today don't have it any more—"they don't have it here." (Paw on breast.) The conversation in the trunk is Marquis in full cry, ribbing his nostalgic old actors all in the most wildly fantastic terms, with the tomcat's grandfather (who trooped with Forrest) dropping from the fly gallery to play the beard. This is double-barreled writing, for the scene is funny in itself, with the disreputable cat and her platonic relationship with an old ham, and the implications are funny, with the author successfully winging a familiar type of bore. Double-barreled writing and, on George Herriman's part, double-barreled illustration. It seems to me Herriman deserves much credit for giving the right form and mien to these willful animals. They possess (as he drew them) the great soul. It would be hard to take Mehitabel if she were either more catlike, or less. She is cat, yet not cat; and Archy's lineaments are unmistakably those of poet and pest.

Marquis moved easily from one form of composition to another. In this book you will find prose in the guise of bad vers libre, poetry that is truly free verse, and rhymed verse. Whatever fiddle he plucked, he always produced a song. I think he was at his best in a piece like "warty bliggens," which has the jewel-like perfection of poetry and contains cosmic reverberations along with high comedy. Beautiful to read, beautiful to think about. But I am making Archy sound awfully dull, I guess. (Why is it that when you praise a poet, or a roach, he begins to sound well worth shunning?)

When I was helping edit an anthology of American humor some years ago, I recall that although we had no trouble deciding whether to include Don Marquis, we did have quite a time deciding where to work him in. The book had about a dozen sections; something by Marquis seemed to fit almost every one of them. He was parodist, historian, poet, clown, fable writer, satirist, reporter, and teller of tales. He had everything it takes, and more. We could have shut our eyes and dropped him in anywhere.

At bottom Don Marquis was a poet, and his life followed the precarious pattern of a poet's existence. He danced on bitter nights with Boreas, he ground out copy on drowsy afternoons when he felt no urge to write and in newspaper offices where he didn't want to be. After he had exhausted himself columning, he tried playwriting and made a pot of money (on The Old Soak) and then lost it all on another play (about the Crucifixion). He tried Hollywood and was utterly miserable and angry, and came away with a violent, unprintable poem in his pocket describing the place. In his domestic life he suffered one tragedy after another—the death of a young son, the death of his first wife, the death of his daughter, finally the death of his second wife. Then sickness and poverty. All these things happened in the space of a few years. He was never a robust man—usually had a puffy, overweight look and a gray complexion. He loved to drink, and was told by doctors that he mustn't. Some of the old tomcats at The Players remember the day when he came downstairs after a month on the wagon, ambled over to the bar, and announced: "I've conquered that god-damn will power of mine. Gimme a double scotch."

I think the new generation of newspaper readers is missing a lot that we used to have, and I am deeply sensible of what it meant to be a young man when Archy was at the top of his form and when Marquis was discussing the Almost Perfect State in the daily paper. Buying a paper then was quietly exciting, in a way that it has ceased to be.

Marquis was by temperament a city dweller, and both his little friends were of the city: the cockroach, most common of city bugs; the cat, most indigenous of city mammals. Both, too, were tavern habitués, as was their boss. Here were perfect transmigrations of an American soul, this dissolute feline who was a dancer and always the lady, toujours gai, and this troubled insect who was a poet—both seeking expression, both vainly trying to reconcile art and life, both finding always that one gets in the way of the other. Their employer, in one of his more sober moods, once put the whole matter in a couple of lines.

My heart has followed all my days Something I cannot name . . .

Such is the lot of poets. Such was Marquis's lot. Such, probably, is the lot even of bad poets. But bad poets can't phrase it so simply.

E. B. White

archy and mehitabel reads it and sniffs at it the coming of archy the circumstances of Archy's first appearance are narrated in the following extract from the Sun Dial column of the New York Sun.

Dobbs Ferry possesses a rat which slips out of his lair at night and runs a typewriting machine in a garage. Unfortunately, he has always been interrupted by the watchman before he could produce a complete story.

It was at first thought that the power which made the typewriter run was a ghost, instead of a rat. It seems likely to us that it was both a ghost and a rat. Mme. Blavatsky's ego went into a white horse after she passed over, and someone's personality has undoubtedly gone into this rat. It is an era of belief in communications from the spirit land.

And since this matter had been reported in the public prints and seriously received we are no longer afraid of being ridiculed, and we do not mind making a statement of something that happened to our own typewriter only a couple of weeks ago.

We came into our room earlier than usual in the morning, and discovered a gigantic cockroach jumping about upon the keys.

He did not see us, and we watched him. He would climb painfully upon the framework of the machine and cast himself with all his force upon a key, head downward, and his weight and the impact of the blow were just sufficient to operate the machine, one slow letter after another. He could not work the capital letters, and he had a great deal of difficulty operating the mechanism that shifts the paper so that a fresh line may be started. We never saw a cockroach work so hard or perspire so freely in all our lives before. After about an hour of this frightfully difficult literary labor he fell to the floor exhausted, and we saw him creep feebly into a nest of the poems which are always there in profusion.

Congratulating ourself that we had left a sheet of paper in the machine the night before so that all this work had not been in vain, we made an examination, and this is what we found:

expression is the need of my soul i was once a vers libre bard but i died and my soul went into the body of a cockroach it has given me a new outlook upon life i see things from the under side now thank you for the apple peelings in the wastepaper basket but your paste is getting so stale i cant eat it there is a cat here called mehitabel i wish you would have
she catch rats that is what she is supposed to be for there is a rat here she should get without delay most of these rats here are just rats but this rat is like me he has a human soul in him he used to be a poet himself night after night i have written poetry for you on your typewriter and this big brute of a rat who used to be a poet comes out of his hole when it is done and reads it and sniffs at it he is jealous of my poetry he used to make fun of it when we were both human he was a punk poet himself and after he has read it he sneers and then he eats it i wish you would have mehitabel kill that rat or get a cat that is onto her job and i will write you a series of poems showing how things look to a cockroach that rats name is freddy the next time freddy dies i hope he wont be a rat

in the next transmigration and freddy a cockroach i will teach him to sneer at my poetry then dont you ever eat any sandwiches in your office i havent had a crumb of bread for i dont know how long or a piece of ham or anything but apple parings and paste leave a piece of paper in your machine every night you can call me archy so stale i can t eat it i was cleopatra once she said mehitabel was once cleopatra boss i am disappointed in some of your readers they are always asking how does archy work the shift so as to get a new line or how does archy do this or do that they are always interested in technical details when the main question is whether the stuff is literature or not i wish you would leave that book of george moores on the floor

mehitabel would sell her soul for a plate of fish any day i told her i thought you were going to say you were the favorite wife of the emperor valerian he was some cat nip eh mehitabel but she did not get me
archy

this is the song of mehitabel of mehitabel the alley cat as i wrote you before boss mehitabel is a believer in the pythagorean theory of the transmigration of the soul and she claims that formerly her spirit was incarnated in the body of cleopatra that was a long time ago and one must not be surprised if mehitabel has forgotten some of her more regal manners

i have had my ups and downs
fried oysters and velvet gowns and today i herd with bums
i wake the world from sleep as i caper and sing and leap when i sing my wild free tune
under the blear eyed moon i am pelted with cast off shoon

do you think that i would change my present freedom to range for a castle or moated grange
cage me and i d go frantic my life is so romantic capricious and corybantic and i m toujours gai toujours gai i know that i am bound for a journey down the sound in the midst of a refuse mound

oh i should worry and fret death and i will coquette there s a dance in the old dame yet

i followed adown the street the pad of his rhythmical feet

i once was an innocent kit
with a ribbon my neck to fit and bells tied onto it o wotthehell wotthehell but a maltese cat came by with a come hither look in his eye and a song that soared to the sky and wotthehell wotthehell and i followed adown the street the pad of his rhythmical feet o permit me again to repeat

my youth i shall never forget but there s nothing i really regret

the things that i had not ought to i do because i ve gotto
and i end with my favorite motto

boss sometimes i think that our friend mehitabel is a trifle too gay

pity the poor spiders

i have just been reading an advertisement of a certain roach exterminator the human race little knows all the sadness it causes in the insect world i remember some weeks ago meeting a middle aged spider she was weeping what is the trouble i asked her it is these cursed fly swatters she replied they kill off all the flies and my family and i are starving to death it struck me as so pathetic that i made a little song about it as follows to wit

twas an elderly mother spider grown gaunt and fierce and gray with her little ones crouched beside her who wept as she sang this lay

for me and my little daughters

swattin and swattin and swattin tis little else you hear and we ll soon be dead and forgotten with the cost of living so dear my husband he up and left me

and he says as he bereft me tis wrong but i ll get a feed and me a working and working scouring the streets for food faithful and never shirking doing the best i could

me and my poor little daughters

only a withered spider feeble and worn and old and this is what you do when you swat you swatters cruel and cold i will admit that some of the insects do not lead noble lives but is every man s hand to be against them yours for less justice and more charity

mehitabel s extensive past mehitabel the cat claims that she has a human soul also and has transmigrated from body to body and it may be so boss you remember i told you she accused herself of being cleopatra once i asked her about antony anthony who she asked me are you thinking of that song about rowley and gammon and spinach heigho for anthony rowley no i said mark antony the great roman the friend of caesar surely cleopatra you remember j caesar

listen archy she said i have been so many different people in my time and met so many prominent gentlemen i wont lie to you or stall i do get my dates mixed sometimes think of how much i have had a chance to forget and i have always made a point of not
from one life to the next archy i have been used something fierce in my time but i am no bum sport archy i am a free spirit archy i look on myself as being quite a romantic character oh the queens i have been and the swell feeds i have ate a cockroach which you are and a poet which you used to be archy couldn t understand my feelings at having come down to this i have had bids to elegant feeds where poets and cockroaches would neither one be mentioned without a

adventures but i have never been an adventuress one life up and the next life down archy but always a lady through it all and a good mixer too always the life of the party archy but never anything vulgar always free footed archy never tied down to a job or housework yes looking back on it all i can say is i had some romantic lives and some elegant times i have seen better days archy but whats the use of kicking kid its all in the game like a gentleman friend of mine used to say toujours gai kid toujours gai he was an elegant cat he used to be a poet himself and he made up some elegant poetry about me and him lets hear it i said and

persian pussy from over the sea demure and lazy and smug and fat none of your ribbons and bells for me ours is the zest of the alley cat over the roofs from flat to flat we prance with capers corybantic what though a boot should break a slat

roach i said what do you mean roach interrupting mehitabel yes roach she said thats the way my boy friend made it up i climbed in amongst the typewriter keys for she had an excited look in her eyes go on mehitabel i said feeling safer and she resumed her elocution

than slaves to a tame society
fish heads freedom a frozen sprat dug from the gutter with digits frantic is better than bores and a fireside mat

when the pendant moon in the leafless tree clings and sways like a golden bat i sing its light and my love for thee
missiles around us fall rat a tat tat but our shadows leap in a ribald antic as over the fences the world cries scat

persian princess i dont care that for your pedigree traced by scribes pedantic

aint that high brow stuff archy i always remembered it but he was an elegant gent even if he was a highbrow and a regular bohemian archy him and me went aboard a canal boat one day and he got his head into a pitcher of cream and couldn t get it out and fell overboard he come up once before he drowned toujours gai kid he gurgled and then sank for ever that was always his words archy toujours gai kid toujours gai i have known some swell gents in my time dearie the cockroach who had been to hell listen to me i have been mobbed almost theres an old simp cockroach here who thinks he has been to hell and all the young cockroaches make a hero out of him and admire him he sits and runs his front feet through his long white beard and tells the story one day he says he crawled into a yawning cavern and suddenly came on a vast abyss full of whirling smoke there was a light at the bottom billows and billows of yellow smoke swirled up at him and through the horrid gloom he saw things with wings flying and dropping and dying they veered and fluttered like damned spirits through that sulphurous mist listen i says to him old man youve never been to hell at all there isn t any hell transmigration is the game i used to be a human vers libre poet and i died and went into a cockroach s body if there was a hell id know it wouldn t i you re irreligious says the old simp combing his whiskers excitedly ancient one i says to him while all those other cockroaches gathered into a ring around us what you beheld was not hell all that was natural some one was fumigating a room and you blundered into it through a crack in the wall atheist he cries and all those young cockroaches cried atheist and made for me if it had not been for freddy the rat i would now be on my way once more i mean killed as a cockroach and transmigrating

that old whitebearded devil is laying for me with his gang he is jealous because i took his glory away from him dont ever tell me insects are any more liberal than humans

my political opponents back home always maintained that i would wind up in hell and it seems they had the right dope and with these hopeless words the unfortunate residuum gave a great cough of despair and turned to dust and debris right in my face it being the only time i ever actually saw anybody put the cough

a spider and a fly

i heard a spider and a fly arguing wait said the fly do not eat me i serve a great purpose in the world

you will have to show me said the spider i scurry around gutters and sewers and garbage cans

up the germs of typhoid influenza and pneumonia on my feet and wings then i carry these germs into the households of men and give them diseases all the people who have lived the right sort of life recover from the diseases and the old soaks who have weakened their systems with liquor and iniquity succumb it is my mission to help rid the world of these wicked persons i am a vessel of righteousness scattering seeds of justice and serving the noblest uses it is true said the spider that you are more useful in a plodding material sort of way than i am but i do not serve the utilitarian deities i serve the gods of beauty look at the gossamer webs i weave they float in the sun like filaments of song if you get what i mean i do not work at anything i play all the time i am busy with the stuff of enchantment and the materials of fairyland my works transcend utility i am the artist a creator and a demi god

that i should be denied the food i need in order to continue to create beauty i tell you plainly mister fly it is all damned nonsense for that food to rear up on its hind legs and say it should not be eaten you have convinced me said the fly say no more and shutting all his eyes he prepared himself for dinner and yet he said i could have made out a case for myself too if i had had a better line of talk of course you could said the spider clutching a sirloin from him but the end would have been just the same if neither of us had spoken at all boss i am afraid that what the spider said is true

furiously upon the futility of literature

freddy the rat perishes listen to me there have been some doings here since last i wrote there has been a battle behind that rusty typewriter cover in the corner you remember freddy the rat well freddy is no more but he died game the other day a stranger with a lot of legs came into our little circle a tough looking kid he was with a bad eye who are you said a thousand legs if i bite you once said the stranger you won t ask again he he little poison tongue said the thousand legs who gave you hydrophobia i got it by biting myself said the stranger i m bad keep away from me where i step a weed dies if i was to walk on your forehead it would raise measles and if you give me any lip i ll do it they mixed it then and the thousand legs succumbed well we found out this fellow was a tarantula he had come up from south america in a bunch of bananas for days he bossed us life was not worth living he would stand in the middle of the floor and taunt us ha ha he would say where i step a weed dies do you want any of my game i was raised on red pepper and blood i am so hot if you scratch me i will light like a match you better with military honors dodge me when i m feeling mean and i don t feel any other way i was nursed on a tabasco bottle if i was to slap your wrist in kindness you would boil over like job and heaven help you if i get angry give me room i feel a wicked spell coming on last night he made a break at freddy the rat keep your distance little one said freddy i m not feeling well myself somebody poisoned some cheese for me im as full of death as a drug store i feel that i am going to die anyhow come on little torpedo come on don t stop to visit and search then they went at it and both are no more please throw a late edition on the floor i want to keep up with china we dropped freddy off the fire escape into the alley with military honors

the merry flea

the high cost of living isn t so bad if you dont have to pay for it i met
was grinning all over himself why so merry why so merry little bolshevik i asked him i have just come from a swell dog show he said i have been lunching off a dog that was worth at least one hundred dollars a pound you should be ashamed to brag about it i said with so many insects and humans on short rations in the world today the public be damned he said i take my own where i find it those are bold words i told him i am a bold

fitting for me it was only last thursday that i marched bravely into the zoo and bit a lion what did he do i asked he lay there and took it said the flea what else could he do he knew i had his number and it was little use to struggle some day i said even you will be conquered terrible as you are who will do it he said the mastodons are all dead and i am not afraid of any mere elephant i asked him how about a microbe and he turned pale as he thought it over there is always some
big for us every goliath has his david and so on ad finitum but what said the flea is the terror of the smallest microbe of all he i said is afraid of a vacuum what is there in a vacuum to make one afraid said the flea there is nothing in it i said and that is what makes one afraid to contemplate it a person can t think of a place with nothing at all in it without going nutty and if he tries to think that nothing is something after all he gets nuttier you a too subtle for me said the flea i never took much stock in being scared of hypodermic propositions or hypothetical injections i am going to have dinner off a man eating tiger if a vacuum gets me i will try and send you word before the worst comes to the worst some people i told him inhabit a vacuum all their lives and never know it then he said it don t hurt them any no i said it dont but it hurts people who have to associate with them and with these words we parted each feeling superior to the other and is not that feeling after all one of the great desiderata of social intercourse arch, why mehitabel jumped well boss i saw mehitabel the cat the other day and she was looking a little

with a limp in the hind leg on the starboard side old feline animal i said how is tricks still in the ring archy she said and still a lady in spite of h dash double l always jolly archy she said in spite of hard luck toujours gai is the word archy toujours gai how did you get the game leg mehitabel i asked her alas she said it is due to the treachery of one of these social swells who is sure one bad actor he was a fussed up cat with a bell around his neck on a ribbon and the look about him of a person that is currycombed and manicured from teeth to tail every day i met him down by the east river front when i was scouting about for a little piece of fish since the high cost of living has become so self conscious archy

how close they watch their fish nowadays but what the h dash double l archy it is the cheerful heart that wins i am never cast down for long kid says this gilded feline to me you look hungry i am all of that i says to him i have a vacuum in my midst that is bigger than i am i could eat the fish that ate jonah kid he says you have seen better days i can tell that from looking at you thanks i said what you say is at least half true i have never
archy one word led to another until that sleek villain practically abducted me and i went with him on board a houseboat of which he was the pampered mascot such evidences of pomp and wealth archy were there that you would not believe them if i told of them to you poor cockroach that you are but these things were nothing to me for i am a reincarnation of cleopatra as i told you long ago you mean her soul transmigrated to a cat s body i said it is all one archy said she have it your own way reincarnation or transmigration is the same to me the point is i used to be a queen in egypt and will likely be one again this place was furnished swell percy i said the furniture is fine and i could eat some of it if i was a saw mill but where is the honest to g dash d food the eats percy what i crave is some cuisine for my stomach let us trifle with an open ice box for a space if one can be persuaded to divulge the scheme of its interior decoration follow me said this percy thing and led me to a cabin in which stood a table upon which stood viands i have heard of tables groaning archy but this one did not it was too satisfied it purred with contentment in an instant i had eaten a cold salmon who seemed to be toastmaster of the occasion and a whole scuttleful of chef doovers what you mean is hors d'ouvres mehitabel i told her what i mean is grub said she when i walked a person whom i should judge to be either a butler or the admiral of that fleet or maybe both this percy creature who had led me to it was on the table eating with me what do you think he did what would any gentleman friend with a spark of chivalry do what but stand by a lady this percy does nothing of the kind archy he immediately attacks me do you get me archy he acts as if i was a stray cat he did not know and he was protecting his loving masters food from my onslaughts i do not doubt he got praise and had another blue ribbon for his heroism as for me i got the boot and as i went overboard they hit me on the limb with a bottle or an anchor or something nautical and hard that archy is why i limp but toujours gai archy what the h dash double l i am always merry and always ladylike mine archy has been a romantic life and i will tell you some more of my adventures ere long well au revoir i suppose i will have to go and start a pogrom against some poor innocent little mouse just the same i think that mehitabel s unsheltered life sometimes makes her a little sad the other day by the name he was sitting under feeling contented he explained that when the cosmos was created that toadstool was especially planned for his personal shelter from sun and rain thought out and prepared for him

do not tell me said warty bliggens

a little more
that warty bliggens considers himself to be freedom and—

mehitabel has an adventure back to the city archy and dam glad of it there s something about the suburbs that gets on a town lady s nerves fat slick tabbies sitting around those country clubs and lapping up the cream of existence none of that for me give me the alley archy me for the mews and the roofs of the city an occasional fish head and liberty is all i ask freedom and the garbage can romance archy romance is the word maybe i do starve sometimes but wotthehell archy wotthehell i live my own life i met a slick looking tom out at one of these long island spotless towns he fell for me hard he slipped me into the pantry and just as we had got the icebox door open and were about to sample the cream in comes his mistress why fluffy she says to this slicker the idea of you making friends with a horrid creature like that and what did fluffy do stand up for me like a gentleman make good on all the promises with which he had lured me into his house not he the dirty slob he pretended he did not know me he turned upon me and attacked me to make good with his boss you mush faced bum i said and clawed a piece out of his ear i am a lady archy always a lady but an aristocrat will always resent an insult the woman picked up a mop and made for me well well madam i said it is unfortunate for you that you have on sheer silk stockings and i wrote my protest on her shin it took reinforcements in the shape of the cook to rauss me archy and as i went out the window i said to the fluffy person you will hear from me later he had promised me everything archy that cat had he had practically abducted me and then the cheap crook threw me down before his swell friends no lady loves a scene archy and i am always the lady no matter what temporary disadvantages i may struggle under to hell with anything unrefined has always been my motto violence archy always does something to my nerves but an aristocrat must revenge an insult i owe it to my family to protect my good name so i laid for that slob for two days and nights and finally i caught the boob in the shrubbery pretty thing i said it hurts me worse than it does you to remove that left eye of yours but i did it with one sweep of my claws you call yourself a gentleman do you i said as i took a strip out of his nose you will think twice after this before you offer an insult to an unprotected young tabby where is the little love nest you spoke of i asked him you go and lie down there i said and maybe you can incubate another ear because i am going to take one of yours right off now and with those words i made ribbons out of it you are the guy i said to him that was going to give me an easy life sheltered from all the rough ways of the world fluffy dear you don t know what the rough ways of the world are and i am going to show you i have got you out here in the great open spaces where cats are cats and im gonna make you understand the affections of a lady ain t to be trifled with by any slicker like you where is that red ribbon with the silver bells you promised me the next time you betray the trust of an innocent female reflect on whether she may carry a wallop little fiddle strings this is just a mild lesson i am giving you tonight i said as i took the fur off his back and you oughta be glad you didn't make me really angry my sense of dignity is all that saves you a lady little sweetness never loses her poise and i thank god i am always a lady even if i do live my own life and with that i picked him up by what was left of his neck like a kitten and laid him on the doormat slumber gently and sweet dreams fluffy dear i said and when you get well make it a rule of your life never to trifle with another girlish confidence i have been abducted again and again by a dam sight better cats than he ever was or will be well archy the world is full of ups and downs but toujours gai is my motto the flattered lightning bug a lightning bug got

regular hick from the real country he was awful proud of himself you city insects may think you are some punkins but i don t see any of you flashing in the dark like we do in the country all right go to it says i mehitabel the cat and that green spider who lives in your locker and two or three cockroach friends of mine and a friendly rat all gathered around him and urged him on and he lightened and lightened and lightened you don t see anything like this in town often he says go to it we told him it s a real treat to us and we nicknamed him broadway which pleased him this is the life
need is a harbor
statue of liberty and he got so vain of himself i had to take
made lightning for two hours little bug i told him but i don t hear any claps of thunder yet there are some men

the robin and the worm a robin said to an angleworm as he ate him i am sorry but a bird has to live somehow the worm being slow witted could

dissent into a wise crack and retort he was
before he could turn a phrase by the time he had reflected long enough
bird live he felt the beginnings of a gradual change invading him some new and disintegrating influence was stealing along him from his positive to his negative pole and he did not have the mental stamina of a jonah to resist the insidious process of assimilation which comes like a thief in the night demons and fishhooks he exclaimed i am losing my personal identity as a worm my individuality is melting away from me odds crawl i am becoming part and parcel of this bloody robin so help me i am thinking like a robin and not like a worm any longer yes yes i even find myself agreeing that a robin must live i still do not understand with my mentality why a robin must live and yet i swoon into a condition of belief yes yes by heck that is my dogma and i shout it a robin must live amen said a beetle who had preceded him into the interior that is the way i feel myself is it not wonderful when one arrives at the place where he can give up his ambitions and resignedly nay even with gladness recognize that it is a far far better thing to be merged harmoniously in the cosmic all and this comfortable situation in his midst so affected the marauding robin that he perched upon a blooming twig and sang until the blossoms shook with ecstasy he sang i have a good digestion and there is a god after all which i was wicked enough to doubt yesterday when it rained breakfast breakfast i am full of breakfast and they are at breakfast in heaven

so intent was this pious and murderous robin on his own sweet song that he did not notice
mehitabel the cat
sneaking toward him she pounced just as he had extended his larynx in a melodious burst of thanksgiving and he went the way of all flesh fish and good red herring a ha purred mehitabel licking the last

feather from her whiskers was not that a beautiful song he was singing just before i took him to my bosom
how true that is and even yet his song echoes in the haunted woodland of my midriff peace and joy in the world and over all the provident skies how beautiful is the universe when something digestible meets with an eager digestion how sweet the embrace when atom rushes to the arms of waiting atom and they dance together skimming with fairy feet along a tide of gastric juices oh feline cosmos you were made for cats and in the spring old cosmic thing i dine and dance with you i shall creep through yonder tall grass to see if peradventure some silly fledgling thrushes newly from the nest be not floundering therein i have a gusto this morning i have a hunger i have a yearning to hear from my stomach further music in accord with the mystic chanting of the spheres of the stars that sang together in the dawn of creation prophesying food for me i have a faith that providence has hidden for me in yonder tall grass still more ornithological delicatessen oh gayly let me strangle what is gayly given well well boss there is something to be said for the lyric and imperial attitude believe that everything is for you until you discover that you are for it sing your faith in what you get to eat right up to the minute you are eaten for you are going to be eaten will the orchestra please strike up that old tutankhamen jazz while i dance a few steps i learnt from an egyptian scarab and some day i will narrate to you the most merry light headed wheeze that the skull of yorick put across in answer to the melancholy of the dane and also what the ghost of hamlet s father replied to the skull not forgetting the worm that wriggled across one of the picks the grave diggers had left behind for the worm listened and winked at horatio while the skull and the ghost and the prince talked saying there are more things twixt the vermiform appendix and nirvana than are dreamt of in thy philosophy horatio looks as if

a reform at least on the way toward have been there a week and have not yet seen them go to bed

kitty said my new mistress to me a party every night and neither the piano lid

kitty said my new mistress to me yesterday you are
as you don t

but the first kitten that i hear mewing on these premises back to the alley for you
it is a comfort to know there are some live ones left in these melancholy days and while the humans are dancing in the studio i get some of my feline friends and we sing and dance on the skylight to gehenna with the bourgeois bunch that locks their ice boxes archy when i lead my

there are no bolts damned be this transmigration doubledamned be the boob pythagoras the gink that went and invented it i hope that his soul for a thousand turns of the wheel of existence bides in the shell of a louse dodging a fine toothed comb i once was a vers libre poet i died and my spirit migrated into the flesh of a cockroach gods how i yearn to be human neither a vers libre poet nor yet the inmate of a cockroach a six footed scurrying cockroach given to bastard hexameters longfellowish sprawling hexameters rather had i been a starfish to shoot a heroic pentameter gods i am pent in a cockroach i with the soul of a dante am mate and companion of fleas i with the gift of a homer must smile when a mouse calls me pal tumble bugs are my familiars this is the punishment meted because i have written vers libre here i abide in the twilight neither a man nor an insect and ghosts of the damned that await a word from the core of the cosmos to pop into bodies grotesque are all the companions i have with intellect more than a bug s ghosts of the damned under sentence to crawl into maggots and live there or work out a stretch as a rat cheerful companions to pal with i with the brain of a milton fell into the mincemeat at christmas and was damned near baked in a pie i with the touch of a chaucer to be chivvied out of a sink float through a greasy drain pipe into the hell of a sewer i with the tastes of a byron expected to live upon garbage gods what a charnel existence curses upon that pythagoras i hope that he dwells for a million turns of the wheel of life deep in an oyster crab s belly stewed in the soup of gehenna i with the soul of a hamlet doomed always to wallow in farce yesterday maddened with sorrow i leapt from the woolworth tower in an effort to dash out my brains gods what a wretched pathetic and anti climactic attempt i fluttered i floated i drifted i landed as light as a feather on the top of a bald man s head whose hat had blown off at the corner and all of the hooting hundreds laughed at the comic cockroach not mine was the suicide s solace of a dull thud ending it all gods what a terrible tragedy not to make good with the tragic gods what a heart breaking pathos to be always doomed to the comic o make me a cockroach entirely or make me a human once more give me the mind of a cockroach or give me the shape of a man if i were to plan out a drama great as great shakespeare s othello it would be touched with the cockroach and people would say it was comic even the demons i talk with ghosts of the damned that await vile incarnation as spiders affect to consider me comic wait till their loathsome embodiment wears into the stuff of the spirit and then let them laugh if they can damned be the soul of pythagoras who first filled the fates with this notion of transmigration of spirits i hope he turns into a flea on the back of a hound of hell and is chased for a million years with a set of red hot teeth what have i done to deserve all these kittens mehitabel and her kittens well boss

has reappeared in her old haunts with a flock of kittens three of them this time archy she said to me yesterday the life of a female artist is continually hampered what in hell have i done to deserve all these kittens

i look back on my life and it seems to me to be just one damned kitten after another
i am a dancer archy and my only prayer is to be allowed to give my best to my art but just as i feel that i am succeeding in my life work along comes another batch of these damned kittens it is not archy that i am shy on mother love god knows i care for the sweet little things curse them but am i never to be allowed to live my own life i have purposely avoided matrimony in the interests of the higher life but i might just as well have been a domestic slave for all the freedom i have gained i hope none of them gets run over by an automobile my heart would bleed if anything happened to them and i found it out but it isn't fair archy it isn't fair these damned tom cats have all the fun and freedom if i was like some of these green eyed feline vamps i know i would simply walk out on the bunch of them and let them shift for themselves but i am not that kind archy i am full of mother love my kindness has always been my curse a tender heart is the cross i bear self sacrifice always and forever is my motto damn them i will make a home for the sweet innocent little things unless of course providence in his wisdom should remove them they are living just now in an abandoned garbage can just behind a made over stable in greenwich village and if it rained into the can before i could get back and rescue them i am afraid the little dears might drown it makes me shudder just to think of it of course if i were a family cat they would probably be drowned anyhow sometimes i think the kinder thing would be for me to carry the sweet little things over to the river and drop them in myself but a mother s love archy is so unreasonable something always prevents me these terrible conflicts are always presenting themselves to the artist the eternal struggle between art and life archy is something fierce yes something fierce my what a dramatic life i have lived one moment up the next moment down again but always gay archy always gay and always the lady too in spite of hell well boss it will be interesting to note just how mehitabel works out her present problem a dark mystery still broods over the manner in which the former

we had a heavy rain

family of three kittens disappeared one day she was talking to me of the kittens and the next day when i asked her about them she said innocently what kittens
and that was all i could ever get out of her on the subject
right after she spoke to me but probably that garbage can leaks and so the kittens have not yet been drowned

archy is shocked speaking of shocking things as so many people are these days i noted an incident in a subway train recently that made my blood run cold a dignified looking gentleman with a long brown beard in an absent minded manner suddenly reached up and

from the socket and ate it the consternation in the car may be imagined people drew away from him on all sides women screamed and fainted in a moment every one but the guard and myself were huddled in the end of the car looking at the dignified gentleman with terror the guard was sweating with excitement but he stood his ground sir said the guard you cannot intimidate me nor can you mystify me i am a wise boid you sir are a glass eater and that was a glass eye to the devil with a country where people can't mind their own business said the dignified gentleman i am not a glass eater if you must know and that was not a glass eye it was a pickled onion can not a man eat pickled onions in this community without exciting remark the curse of this nation is the number of meddlesome matties who are forever attempting to restrict the liberty of the individual i suppose the next thing will be a law on the statute books prohibiting the consumption of pickled onions and with another curse he passed from the train which had just then drawn up beside a station and went out of my life forever

whoever owns the typewriter that this is sticking in will confer a favor by mailing it to mister marquis well boss i am somewhere in long island and i know now how it got its name i started out to find the place you are commuting from and after considerable trouble and being for some days on the way i have lost myself but at twilight last evening i happened to glance towards a lighted window in a house near the railway and i saw a young woman writing on a typewriter i waited until the light was out and crawled up the side of the house and through a hole in the screen fortunately there was a piece of paper in the machine it was my only chance to communicate with you and ask you to hurry a relief party when the house got quiet i began to write the foregoing a moment ago i was interrupted by a woman s voice what was that noise she said nothing at all said a man s voice you are always hearing things at night but it sounded as if my typewriter were clicking she insisted go to sleep said he then i clicked it some more henry get up she said there s some one in the house a moment later the light was turned on and they both stood in the doorway of the room now are you satisfied he said you see there is no one in here at all i was hiding in the shadow under the keys they went back into their bed room and i began to write the foregoing lines henry henry she said do you hear that i do he says it is nothing but the house cooling off it always cracks that way cooling off nothing she said not a hot night like this then said henry it is cracking with the heat i tell you she said that is the typewriter clicking well he said you saw for yourself the room was empty and the door was locked it can t be the typewriter to prove it to you i will bring it in here he did so the machine was set down in the moonlight which came in one of the windows with the key side in the shadow there he said look at it and see for yourself it is not being operated by any one just then i began to write the foregoing lines hopping from key to key in the shadow and being anxious to finish my god my god cried henry losing his nerve the machine is writing all by itself it is a ghost and threw himself face downward on the bed and hid his face in the pillow and kept on saying my god my god it is a ghost and the woman screamed and said it is tom higginsbotham s ghost that s whose ghost it is oh i know whose ghost it is my conscience tells me i jilted him when we were studying stenography together at the business college and he went into a decline and died and i have always known in my heart that he died of unrequited love o what a wicked girl i was and he has come back to haunt me i have brought a curse upon you henry chase him away says henry trembling so the bed shook chase him away mable you coward you chase him away yourself says mable and both lay and recriminated and recriminated with their heads under the covers hot night though it was while i wrote the foregoing lines but after a while it came out henry had a stenographer on his conscience too and they got into a row and got so mad they forgot to be scared i will close now this house is easily seen from the railroad station and the woman sits in the window and writes i will be behind the waste paper receptacle outside the station door come and get me i am foot sore and weary they are still quarreling as i close i can do no less than say thank you mable and henry in advance for mailing this a wolf met a spring lamb drinking at a stream and said to her you are the lamb that muddied this stream all last year so that i could not get a clean fresh drink i am resolved that this outrage shall not be enacted again this season i am going to kill you just a moment

said the lamb i was not born last year so it could not have been i the wolf then pulled a number of other arguments as to why the lamb should die but in each case the lamb pretty innocent that she was easily proved herself guiltless well well said the wolf enough of argument you are right and i am wrong but i am going to eat you anyhow because i am hungry stop exclamation point cried a human voice and a man came over the slope of the ravine you shall not kill that beautiful and innocent lamb for i shall save her poor little lamb

sweet tender little thing it is well that i appeared just when i did it makes my blood boil to think of the fright to which you have been subjected in another moment i would have been too late come home with me and the lamb frolicked about her new found friend gamboling as to the sound of a wordsworthian tabor and leaping for joy as if propelled by a stanza from william blake these vile and bloody wolves went on our hero in honest indignation they must be cleared out of the country the meads must be made safe for sheepocracy and so jollyng her along with the usual human hokum he led her to his home and the son of a gun did not even blush when they passed the mint bed gently he cut her throat all the while inveighing against the inhuman wolf and tenderly he cooked her and lovingly he sauced her and meltingly he ate her and piously he said a grace thanking his gods for their bountiful gifts to him and after dinner he sat with his pipe before the fire meditating on the brutality of wolves and the injustice of the universe which allows them to harry poor innocent lambs and wondering if he had not better write to the papers for as he said for god s sake can t something be done about it the lesson of the moth

i was talking to a moth the other evening
he was trying to break into an electric light bulb and fry himself on the wires why do you fellows pull this stunt i asked him because it is the conventional thing for moths or why if that had been an uncovered candle instead of an electric light bulb you would now be a small unsightly cinder have you no sense plenty of it he answered but at times we get tired of using it we get bored with the routine and crave beauty and excitement fire is beautiful and we know that if we get too close it will kill us but what does that matter it is better to be happy for a moment and be burned up with beauty than to live a long time and be bored all the while so we wad all our life up into one little roll and then we shoot the roll that is what life is for it is better to be a part of beauty for one instant and then cease to exist than to exist forever and never be a part of beauty our attitude toward life is come easy go easy we are like human beings used to be before they became too civilized to enjoy themselves and before i could argue him out of his philosophy he went and immolated himself on a patent cigar lighter i do not agree with him myself i would rather have half the happiness and twice the longevity

but at the same time i wish there was something i wanted as badly as he wanted to fry himself a roach of the taverns i went into a speakeasy the other night with some of the boys and we were all sitting around under one of the tables making merry with crumbs and cheese and what not but after while a strange melancholy descended upon the jolly crew and one old brown veteran roach said with a sigh well boys eat drink and be maudlin for tomorrow we are dry the shadow of the padlock rushes toward us like a sahara sandstorm flinging itself at an oasis for years myself and my ancestors before me have inhabited yonder ice box but the day approaches when our old homestead will be taken away from here and scalded out yes says i soon there will be nothing but that eheu fugaces stuff on every hand i never drank it says he what kind of a drink is it it is bitter as wormwood says i and the only chaser to it is the lethean water it is not the booze itself that i regret so much said the old brown roach it is the golden companionship of the tavern myself and my ancestors have been chop house and tavern roaches for hundreds of years countless generations back one of my elizabethan forbears was plucked from a can of ale in the mermaid tavern by will shakespeare and put down kit marlowe s back what subtle wits they were in those days said i yes

another one of my ancestors was introduced into a larded hare that addison was eating by dicky steele my ancestor came skurrying forth dicky said is that your own hare joe or a wig a thing which addison never forgave yours is a remarkable family
said i am the last of a memorable line one of my ancestors was found drowned in the ink well out of which poor eddie poe wrote the raven we have always associated with wits bohemians and bon vivants my maternal grandmother was slain by john masefield with a bung starter well well it is sad i said the glad days pass yes

be as dry as the egyptian scarab that lies in the sarcophagus beside the mummy of rameses and he hasn't had a drink for four thousand years it is sad for you he continued but think how much sadder it is for me with a family tradition such as mine only one of my ancestors cheese it i said interrupting him i do not wish to injure your feelings but i weary of your ancestors i have often noticed that ancestors never boast of the descendants who boast of ancestors i would rather start a family than finish one blood will tell but often it tells too much pete the parrot and shakespeare i got acquainted with a parrot named pete recently who is an interesting bird pete says he used to belong to the fellow that ran the mermaid tavern in london then i said you must have known shakespeare know him said pete poor mutt i knew him well he called me pete and i called him bill but why do you say poor mutt well said pete bill was a disappointed man and was always boring his friends about what he might have been and done if he only had a fair break two or three pints of sack and sherris and the tears would trickle down into his beard and his beard would get soppy and wilt his collar i remember one night when bill and ben jonson and frankie beaumont were sopping it up here i am ben says bill nothing but a lousy playwright and with anything like luck in the breaks i might have been a fairly decent sonnet writer i might have been a poet if i had kept away from the theatre yes says ben i ve often thought of that bill but one consolation is you are making pretty good money out of the theatre

money money says bill what the hell is money what i want is to be a poet not a business man these damned cheap shows i turn out to keep the theatre running break my heart slap stick comedies and blood and thunder tragedies and melodramas say i wonder if that boy heard you order another bottle frankie the only compensation is that i get a chance now and then to stick in a little poetry when nobody is looking but hells bells that isn t what i want to do i want to write sonnets and songs and spenserian stanzas and i might have done it too if i hadn t got into this frightful show game business business business grind grind grind what a life for a man that might have been a poet well says frankie beaumont why don t you cut it bill i can t says bill i need the money i ve got a family to support down in the country well says frankie anyhow you write pretty good plays bill any mutt can write plays for this london public says bill if he puts enough murder in them what they want is kings talking like kings never had sense enough to talk and stabbings and stranglings and fat men making love and clowns basting each other with clubs and cheap puns and off color allusions to all the smut of the day oh i know what the low brows want and i give it to them well says ben jonson don t blubber into the drink brace up like a man and quit the rotten business i can t i can t says bill i ve been at it too long i ve got to the place now where i can t write anything else but this cheap stuff i m ashamed to look an honest young sonneteer in the face i live a hell of a life i do the manager hands me some mouldy ol' manuscript and says bill here s a plot for you this is the third of the month by the tenth i want a good script out of this that we can start rehearsals on not too big a cast and not too much of your damned poetry either

you know your old familiar line of hokum they eat up that falstaff stuff of yours ring him in again and give them a good ghost or two and remember we gotta have something dick burbage can get his teeth into and be sure and stick in a speech somewhere the queen will take for a personal compliment and if you get in a line or two somewhere about the honest english yeoman it s always good stuff and it s a pretty good stunt bill to have the heavy villain a moor or a dago or a jew or something like that and say i want another comic welshman in this but i don t need to tell you bill you know this game just some of your ordinary hokum and maybe you could kill a little kid or two a prince or something they like a little pathos along with the dirt now you better see burbage tonight and see what he wants in that part oh says bill to think i am debasing my talents with junk like that oh god what i wanted was to be a poet
and write sonnet serials like a gentleman should well says i pete bill s plays are highly esteemed to this day is that so says pete poor mutt little he would care what poor bill wanted

mehitabel he says—

the old trouper

i ran onto mehitabel again last evening
she is inhabiting a decayed trunk which lies in an alley in greenwich village in company with the most villainous tom cat i have ever seen but there is nothing , wrong about the association archy she told me it is merely a plutonic attachment and the thing can be believed for the tom looks like one of pluto s demons it is a theatre trunk archy mehitabel told me and tom is an old theatre cat he has given his life to the theatre he claims that richard mansfield once kicked him out of the way and then cried because he had done it and petted him and at another time he says in a case of emergency he played a bloodhound in a production of uncle tom s cabin the stage is not what it used to be tom says he puts his front paw on his breast and says they don t have it any more they don t have it here the old troupers are gone there s nobody can troupe any more they are all amateurs nowadays they haven t got it

here
there are only five or six of us oldtime troupers left this generation does not know what stage presence is personality is what they lack personality where would they get the training my old friends got in the stock companies i knew mr booth very well says tom and a law should be passed preventing anybody else from ever playing in any play he ever played in there was a trouper for you i used to sit on his knee and purr when i was a kitten he used to tell me how much he valued my opinion finish is what they lack finish and they haven t got it

and again he laid his paw on his breast i remember mr daly very well too i was with mr daly s company for several years there was art for you there was team work there was direction they knew the theatre and they all had it
for two years mr daly would not ring up the curtain unless i was in the prompter s box they are amateurs nowadays rank amateurs all of them for two seasons i played the dog in joseph jefferson s rip van winkle it is true i never came on the stage but he knew i was just off and it helped him i would like to see one of your modern theatre cats act a dog so well that it would convince a trouper like jo jefferson but they haven t got it nowadays

jo jefferson had it he had it
i come of a long line of theatre cats my grandfather was with forrest he had it he was a real trouper my grandfather said he had a voice that used to shake the ferryboats on the north river once he lost his beard and my grandfather dropped from the fly gallery and landed under his chin and played his beard for the rest of the act you don t see any theatre cats that could do that
they haven t got it they haven t got it

once i played the owl in modjeska s production of macbeth i sat above the castle gate in the murder scene and made my yellow eyes shine through the dusk like an owl s eyes modjeska was a real trouper she knew how to pick her support i would like to see any of these modern theatre cats play the owl s eyes to modjeska s lady macbeth but they haven t got it nowadays

both our professions are being ruined by amateurs

archy declares war

i am going to start a revolution i saw a kitchen worker killing water bugs with poison hunting pretty little roaches down to death it set my blood to boiling i thought of all the massacres and slaughter of persecuted insects at the hands of cruel humans and i cried aloud to heaven and i knelt on all six legs and vowed a vow of vengeance i shall organize the insects i shall drill them i shall lead them i shall fling a billion times a billion billion risen insects in an army at the throats of all you humans unless you sign the papers for a damn site better treatment volunteers volunteers hearken to my calling fifty million flies are wanted may the first to die in marmalade

on the cruel human race does not the poor mosquito love her little offspring that you swat against the wall out of equatorial swamps and fever jungles come o mosquitoes a billion billion strong and sting a billion baldheads till they butt against each other and break like egg shells caterpillars locusts grasshoppers gnats vampire moths black legged spiders with red hearts of hell centipedes and scorpions little gingery ants
come you tarantulas with fury in your feet bloodsuckers wriggle out of the bayous ticks cooties hornets give up your pleasures all your little trivial sunday school picnics this is war in earnest and red revolution come in a cloud with a sun hiding miracle of small deadly wings swarm stab and bite what we want is justice
over land air and water whirl in a million sweeping and swaying cyclonic dances whirl high and swoop down on the cities like a comet bearing death in the loop and flick of its tail little little creatures out of all your billions make great dragons that lie along the sky and war with the sunset and eat up the moon draw all the poison from the evil stars and spit it on the earth remember every planet pivots on an atom and so you are strong i swear by the great horned toad of mithridates i swear by the vision of whiskered old pythagoras that i am very angry i am mad as hell for i have seen a soapy kitchen mechanic murdering my brothers slaying little roaches pathetic in their innocence damn her red elbows damn her spotted apron damn her steamy hair damn her dull eyes that look like a pair of little pickled onions

i even heard her praised for undertaking murder on her own volition and called the only perfect cook in the city

come in your billions tiny small feet and humming little wings crawlers and creepers wigglers and stingers scratchers borers slitherers little forked tongues man is at your mercy one sudden gesture and all his empires perish rise strike for freedom curses on the species that invented roach poison curses on the stingy beings that evolved tight zinc covers that you can t crawl under for their garbage cans come like a sandstorm spewed from the mouth of a great apocalyptic desert making devil come like the spray sooty and fiery snorted from the nostrils of a sky eating ogre

the hen and the oriole well boss did it ever strike you that a hen regrets it just as much when they wring her neck as an oriole but nobody has any sympathy for a hen because she is not beautiful while every one gets sentimental over the oriole and says how shocking to kill the lovely thing this thought comes to my mind because of the earnest endeavor of a gentleman to squash me yesterday afternoon when i was riding up in the elevator if i had been a butterfly he would have said how did that beautiful thing happen to find its way into these grimy city streets do not harm the splendid creature but let it fly back to its rural haunts again beauty always gets the best of it be beautiful boss a thing of beauty is a joy forever be handsome boss and let ghosts

you want to know whether i believe in ghosts of course i do not believe in them if you had known as many of them as i have you would not believe in them either perhaps i have been unfortunate in my acquaintance but the ones i have known have been a bad lot no one could believe in them after being acquainted with them a short time it is true that i have met them under peculiar circumstances that is while they were migrating into the bodies of what human beings consider a lower order of creatures before i became a cockroach i was a free verse poet one of the pioneers of the artless art and my punishment for that was to have my soul enter the body of a cockroach the ghosts i have known were the ghosts of persons who were waiting for a vacant body to get into they knew they were going to transmigrate into the bodies of lizards lice bats snakes worms beetles mice alley cats turtles snails tadpoles etcetera and while they were waiting they were as cross as all get out i remember talking to one of them who had just worked his way upward again he had been in the body of a flea and he was going into a cat fish you would think he might be grateful for the promotion but not he i do not call this much of an advance he said why could i not be a humming bird or something kid i told him it will take you a million years to work your way up to a humming bird when i remember he said that i used to be a hat check boy in a hotel i could spend a million years weeping to think that i should come to this we have all seen better days i said we have all come down in the world you have not come down as far as some of us if i ever get to be a hat check boy again he said i will sting somebody for what i have had to suffer that remark will probably cost you another million years among the lower creatures i told him transmigration is a great thing if you do not weaken personally my ambition is to get my time as a cockroach shortened for good behavior and be promoted to a revenue officer it is not much of a step up but i am humble i never ran across any of this ectoplasm that sir arthur conan doyle tells of but it sounds as if it might be wonderful stuff to mend broken furniture with archy hears from mars at eleven o clock p m on last saturday evening i received the following message on my own private radio set good evening little archibald and how are you this is mars speaking i replied at once whom or who as the case may be do i know on mars every one here is familiar with your work archy was the answer and we feel well repaid for all the trouble we have had in getting in touch with your planet thank you i replied i would rather hear mars say that than any other planet mars has always been one of my favorite planets it is sweet of you to think that way about us said mars

and so we continued to pay each other interstellar compliments what is or are thirty five million miles between kindred souls tell us all about your planet said mars well i said it is round like an orange or a ball and it is all cluttered up with automobiles and politicians it doesn't know where it is going nor why but it is in a hurry it is in charge of a two legged animal called man who is genuinely puzzled as to whether his grandfather was a god or a monkey i should think said mars that what he is himself would make more difference than what his grandfather was 'not to this animal i replied he is the great alibi ike of the cosmos when he raises hell just because he feels like raising hell he wants somebody to blame it on can't anything be done about him said mars
i am doing the best i can i answered but after all i am only one and my influence is limited you are too modest archy

said mars
we all but worship you here on this planet a prophet said i is not without honor save on his own planet wait a minute
said mars
i want to write that down that is one of your best things archy is it original it was once i answered truthfully and may be again won t you tell us a little something said mars about yourself what you look like and what you think is the best thing you have written and your favorite games and that sort of thing well i said i am brunette and stand over six feet without any shoes on the best skits i have done were some little plays i dashed off under the general title of shakespeare s plays and my favorite sport is theology you must meet a great many interesting people said mars
oh yes i said one becomes accustomed to that after a while what is your favorite dish said mars and do you believe in the immortality of the soul stew i said and yes at least mine is immortal but i could name several others that i have my doubts about is there anything else of interest about your planet which you wish to tell your many admirers on mars asked mars there is very little else of any real interest i said and now will you tune out and let me do some work you people who say you admire my work are always butting in and taking up my time how the hell can i get any serious literary work done if you keep bothering me all the time now you get off the ether and let me do some deep thinking you might add that i am shy and loathe publicity

—you gotta dance till the sun comes up . . .

mehitabel dances with boreas well boss i saw mehitabel

she was out in the alley dancing on the cold cobbles while the wild december wind blew through her frozen whiskers and as she danced she wailed and sang to herself uttering the fragments that rattled in her cold brain
in part as follows

spin mehitabel spin
thank god you re a lady still if you have got a frozen skin blow wind out of the north to hell with being a pet my left front foot is brittle but there s life in the old dame yet

caper and shake a leg
will fizz like wine in a keg wind come out of the north and pierce to the guts within but some day mehitabel s guts will string a violin moon you re as cold as a frozen skin of yellow banan that sticks in the frost and ice on top of a garbage can and you throw a shadow so chilly that it can scarcely leap dance shadow dance you ve got no place to sleep whistle a tune north wind on my hollow marrow bones i ll dance the time with three good feet here on the alley stones freeze you bloody december i never could stay a pet but i am a lady in spite of hell

flirt your tail and spin dance to the tune your guts will cry when they string a violin eight of my lives are gone it s years since my fur was slicked but blow north wind blow i m damned if i am licked girls we was all of us ladies we was o what the hell and once a lady always game by crikey blood will tell i might be somebody s pet asleep by the fire on a rug but me i was always romantic i had the adventurous bug caper mehitabel caper leap shadow leap

for you got no place to sleep

i might have been many a tom cat s wife but i got no regret i lived my life as i liked my life

you cut like a piece of tin slice my guts into fiddle strings and we ll have a violin

you had a romantic past and you re gonna cash in dancing when you are croaked at last i will not eat tomorrow and i did not eat today but wotthell i ask you the word is toujours gai

i once was a maltese pet till i went and got abducted and cripes i m a lady yet

and show your shadow how tonight its dance with the bloody moon tomorrow the garbage scow

spin shadow spin the wind will pipe on your marrow bones your slats are a mandolin by cripes i have danced the shimmy in rooms as warm as a dream and gone to sleep on a cushion with a bellyfull of cream it s one day up and next day down i led a romantic life it was being abducted so many times as spoiled me for a wife

till your old bones fly apart i ain t got any regrets for i gave my life to my art

caper my girl and grin and pick at your guts with your frosty feet they re the strings of a violin

until we went and fell and oncet a thoroughbred always game i ask you wotthehell it s last week up and this week down and always the devil to pay but cripes i was always the lady and the word is toujours gai be a tabby tame if you want somebody s pussy and pet the life i led was the life i liked

archy at the zoo

the centipede adown the street goes braggartly with scores of feet a gaudy insect but not neat the octopus s secret wish is not to be a formal fish he dreams that some time he may grow another set of legs or so and be a broadway music show oh do not always take a chance upon an open countenance the hippopotamus s smile conceals a nature full of guile the dissipated hornet well boss i had a great example of the corrupting influence of the great city brought to my notice recently a drunken hornet blew in here the other day and sat down in the corner and dozed and buzzed not a real sleep you know one of those wakeful liquor trances with the fuzzy talk oozing out of it to hear this guy mumble in his dreams he was right wicked my name he says is crusty bill i never been licked and i never will and then he would go half way asleep again nobody around here wanted to fight him and after a while he got sober enough to know how drunk he had been and began to cry over it and get sentimental about himself mine is a wasted life he says but i had a good start red liquor ruined me he says and sobbed tell me your story i said two years ago he said i was a country hornet young and strong and handsome i lived in a rusty rainspout with my parents and brothers and sisters and all was innocent and merry often in that happy pastoral life would we swoop down with joyous laughter and sting the school children on the village green but on an evil day alas i came to the city in a crate of peaches i found myself in a market near the water front alone and friendless in the great city its ways were strange to me food seemed inaccessible i thought that i might starve to death as i was buzzing down the street thinking these gloomy thoughts i met another hornet just outside a speak easy kid he says you look down in the mouth forget it kid i will show you how to live without working how i says watch me he says just then a drunken fly came crawling out of the bar room in a leisurely way my new found friend stung dissected and consumed that fly that s the way he says smacking his lips this is the life that was a beer fly wait and i will get you a cocktail fly this is the life i took up that life alas the flies around a bar room get so drunk drinking what is spilled that they are helpless all a hornet has to do is wait calmly until they come staggering out and there is his living ready made for him at first being young and innocent i ate only beer flies but the curse of drink got me the mad life began to tell upon me i got so i would not eat a fly that was not full of some strong and heady liquor the lights and life got me i would not eat fruits and vegetables any more i scorned flies from a soda fountain they seemed flat and insipid to me finally i got so wicked that i went back to the country and got six innocent young hornets and brought them back to the city with me i started them in the business i debauched them and they caught my flies for me now i am in an awful situation my six hornets from the country have struck and set up on their own hook i have to catch my flies myself and my months of idleness and dissipation have spoiled my technique i can t catch a fly now unless he is dead drunk what is to become of me alas the curse of alcoholic beverages especially with each meal well i said it is a sad story bill and of a sort only too common in this day of ours it is he says i have the gout in my stinger so bad that i scream with pain every time i spear a fly i got into a safe place on the inside of the typewriter and yelled out at him my advice is suicide bill all the time he had been pitying himself my sympathy had been with the flies

poets are always asking where do the little roses go underneath the snow but no one ever thinks to say where do the little insects stay this is because as a general rule roses are more handsome than insects beauty gets the best of it in this world i have heard people say how wicked it was to kill our feathered friends in order to get their plumage and pinions for the hats of women and all the while these same people might be eating duck as they talked the chances are that it is just as discouraging to a duck to have her head amputated in order to become a stuffed roast fowl and decorate a dining table as it is for a bird of gayer plumage to be bumped off the running board of existence to furnish plumage for a lady's hat but the duck does not get the sympathy because the duck is not beautiful the only insect that succeeds in getting mourned is a moth or butterfly whereas every man's heel is raised against the spider and it is getting harder and harder for spiders to make an honest living at that since human beings have invented so many ways of killing flies humanity will shed poems full of tears over the demise of a bounding doe or a young gazelle but the departure of a trusty camel leaves the vast majorities stonily indifferent perhaps the theory is that god would not have made the camel so ugly if the camel were not wicked alas exclamation point the pathos of ugliness is only perceived by us cockroaches of the world and personally i am having to stand for a lot i am getting it double as you might say

before my soul migrated into the body
of a cockroach
it inhabited the carcase of a vers libre poet some vers libre poets are beautiful but i was not i had a little blond mustache that every one thought was a mistake and yet since i have died i have thought of that with regret it hung over a mouth that i found it difficult to keep closed because of adenoidal trouble but it would have been better if i could have kept it closed because the teeth within were out of alignment and were of odd sizes this destroyed my acoustics
my chin was nothing much and knew it and timidly shrank into itself receding from the battle of life my eyes were all right but my eyebrows were scarcely noticeable i suppose though that if i had had noticeable eyebrows they would have been wrong somehow well well not to pursue this painful subject to the uttermost and ultimate wart and freckle i was not handsome and it hampered me when i was a human it militated against me as a poet more beautiful creatures could write verse worse than mine and get up and recite it with a triumphant air and get away with it but my sublimest ideas were thought to be a total loss when people saw where they came from i think it would have been only justice if i had been sent to inhabit a butterfly but there is very little justice in the universe what is the use of being the universe if you have to be just

and i suppose the universe has so much really important business on hand that it finds it impossible to look after the details it is rushed perhaps it has private knowledge to the effect that eternity is brief after all and it wants to get the big jobs finished in a hurry i find it possible to forgive

the universe
i meet it in a give and take spirit although i do wish that it would consult me at times please forgive the profundity of these meditations whenever i have nothing particular to say i find myself always always plunging into cosmic philosophy or something

the cheerful cricket

i can't see for the life of me what there is about crickets that makes people call them jolly they are the parrots of the insect race crying cheer up cheer up cheer up over and over again till you want to swat them i hate one of these grinning skipping smirking senseless optimists worse than i do a cynic or a pessimist there was one in here the other day i was feeling pretty well and pleased with the world when he started that confounded cheer up cheer up cheer up stuff
cheerful enough or i was till a minute ago but you get on my nerves it's all right to be bright and merry but what s the use pretending you have more cheerfulness than there is in the world you sound insincere to me you insist on it too much you make me want to sit in a tomb and listen to the screech owls telling ghost stories to the tree toads i would rather that i heard a door squeak have you only one record the sun shone in my soul today before you came and you have made me think of the world s woe groan once or i will go mad your voice floats around the world like the ghost of a man who laughed himself to death listening to funny stories the boss told i listen to you and know why shakespeare killed off mercutio so early in the play it is only hamlet that can find material for five acts cheer up cheer up cheer up he says bo i told him i wish i was the

on you cheer up cheer up cheer all a spook has to do is stick around clarence the ghost the longer i live the more i realize that everything is relative even morality is relative things you would not do sometimes you would do other times for instance i would not consider it honorable in me as a righteous cockroach to crawl into a near sighted man s soup that man would not have a sporting chance but with a man with ordinarily good eye sight i should say it was up to him to watch his soup himself and yet if i was very tired and hungry i would crawl into even a near sighted man s soup knowing all the time it was wrong and my necessity would keep me from reproaching myself too bitterly afterwards you can not make any hard and fast rule concerning the morality of crawling into soup nor anything else a certain alloy of expediency improves the gold of morality and makes it wear all the longer consider a ghost if i were a ghost i would not haunt ordinary people but i would have all the fun i wanted to with spiritualists for spiritualists are awful nuisances to ghosts i knew a ghost by the name of clarence one time who hated spiritualists with a great hatred you see said clarence they give me no rest they have got my number once one of those psychics gets a ghost s number so he has to come when he is called they work him till the astral sweat stands out in beads on his spectral brow they seem to think said clarence that all a spook has to do is to stick around waiting to dash in with a message as to whether mrs millionbucks pet pom has pneumonia or only wheezes because he has been eating too many squabs clarence was quite bitter about it but wait he says till the fat medium with the red nose that has my number passes over and i can get my clutches on him on equal terms there s going to be some initiation beside the styx several of the boys are sore on him a plump chance i have don t i to improve myself and pass on to another star with that medium yanking me into somebody s parlor to blow through one of these little tin trumpets any time of the day or night honest archy he says i hate the sight of a ouija board would it be moral he says to give that goof a bum tip on the stock market life ain t worth dying he says if you ve got to fag for some chinless chump of a psychic nor death ain t worth living through would it be moral in me to queer that simp with his little circle by saying he s got an anonymous diamond brooch in his pocket and that his trances are rapidly developing his kleptomania no clarence i said it wouldn t be moral but it might be expedient there s a ghost around here i have been trying to get acquainted with but he is shy i think he is probably afraid of cockroaches

she likely thinks she's nesting on her rocky island home some natural history the patagonian penguin is a most peculiar bird he lives on pussy willows and his tongue is always furred the porcupine of chile sleeps his life away and that is how the needles get into the hay the argentinian oyster is a very subtle gink

for when he s being eaten he pretends he is a skink
when you see a sea gull sitting on a bald man s dome she likely thinks she s nesting on her rocky island home do not tease the inmates when strolling through the zoo for they have their finer feelings the same as me and you oh deride not the camel if grief should make him die his ghost will come to haunt you with tears in either eye and the spirit of a camel in the midnight gloom can be so very cheerless as it wanders round the room

prudence

i do not think a prudent one will ever aim too high a cockroach seldom whips a dog and seldom should he try and should a locust take a vow to eat a pyramid he likely would wear out his teeth before he ever did

i do not think the prudent one hastes to initiate a sequence of events which he lacks power to terminate for should i kick the woolworth tower so hard i laid it low it probably might injure me if it fell on my toe

will be inclined to boast lest circumstances unforeseen should get him goat and ghost for should i tell my friends i d drink the hudson river dry a tidal wave might come and turn my statements to a lie

this morning—

archy goes abroad london england since i have been residing in westminster abbey i have learned a secret that i desire to pass on to the psychic sharps it is this until the body of a human being perishes utterly the spirit is not released from its vicinity so long as there is any

 part of it the ghost can not go to heaven or to hell the ancient greeks understood this and they burned the body very often so that the spirit could get immediate release the ancient egyptians also knew it but they reacted differently to the knowledge they embalmed the body so that the form would persist for thousands of years and the ghost would have to stick around for a time here in westminster abbey there are hundreds of ghosts that have not yet been released some of them are able to wander a few miles away and some of them cannot go further than a few hundred yards from the graves where the bodies lie for the most part they make the best of it they go out on little excursions around london and at night they sit on their tombs and tell their experiences to each other it is perhaps the most exclusive club in london henry the eighth came in about three oclock this morning after rambling about piccadilly for a couple of hours and i wish i had the space to report in detail the ensuing conversation between him and charles dickens now and then a ghost can so influence a living person that you might say he had grabbed off that living person's body and was using it as his own edward the black prince was telling the gang

that he had been leading the life of a city clerk for three weeks one of those birds with a top hat and a sack coat who come floating through the mist and drizzle with manuscript cases under their arms looking unreal even when they are not animated by ghosts edward the black prince who is known democratically as neddie black here says this clerk was a mild and humble wight when he took him over but he worked him up to the place where he assaulted a policeman saturday night then left him flat one of the most pathetic sights however is to see the ghost of queen victoria going out every evening with the ghost of a sceptre in her hand to find mr lytton strachey and bean him it seems she beans him and beans him and he never knows it and every night on the stroke of midnight elizabeth tudor is married to walter raleigh by that eminent clergyman dr lawrence sterne the gang pulls a good many pageants which are written by ben jonson but i think the jinks will not be properly planned and staged until j m barrie gets here this is the jolliest bunch i have met in london they have learned since they passed over that appearances and suety pudding are not all they were cracked up to be more anon from your little friend

archy at the tomb of napoleon paris france

i went over to the hotel des invalides today and gazed on the sarcophagus of the great napoleon and the thought came to me as i looked down indeed it is true napoleon that the best goods come in the smallest packages here are you napoleon with your glorious course run and here is archy just in the prime of his career with his greatest triumphs still before him neither one of us had a happy youth neither one of us was welcomed socially at the beginning of his career neither one of us was considered much to look at and in ten thousand years from now perhaps what you said and did napoleon will be confused with what archy said and did and perhaps the burial place of neither will be known napoleon looking down upon you i wish to ask you now frankly as one famous person to another has it been worth all the energy that we expended all the toil and trouble and turmoil that it cost us if you had your life to live over again bonaparte would you pursue the star of ambition i tell you frankly bonaparte that i myself would choose the humbler part i would put the temptation of greatness aside and remain an ordinary cockroach simple and obscure but alas there is a destiny that pushes one forward

no matter how hard one may try to resist it i do not need to tell you about that bonaparte you know as much about it as i do yes looking at it in the broader way neither one of us has been to blame for what he has done neither for his great successes nor his great mistakes both of us napoleon were impelled by some mighty force external to ourselves we are both to be judged as great forces of nature as tools in the hand of fate rather than as individuals who willed to do what we have done we must be forgiven napoleon you and i when we have been different from the common run of creatures i forgive you as i know that you would forgive me could you speak to me and if you and i napoleon forgive and understand each other what matters it if all the world else find things in both of us that they find it hard to forgive and understand we have been what we have been napoleon and let them laugh that off well after an hour or so of meditation there i left actually feeling that i had been in communion with that great spirit and that for once in my life i had understood and been understood and i went away feeling solemn but likewise uplifted mehitabel the cat is missing

mehitabel meets an affinity

paris france
has been passing her time in the dubious company of a ragged eared tom cat with one mean eye and the other eye missing whom she calls francy he has been the hero or the victim of many desperate encounters for part of his tail has been removed and his back has been chewed to the spine one can see at a glance that he is a sneak thief and an apache

a bandit with long curved claws you see his likes hanging about the outdoor markets here in paris waiting their chance to sneak a fish or a bit of unregarded meat or whimpering among the chair legs at the sidewalk cafes in the evenings or slinking down the gutters of alleys in the old quarters of the town he has a raucous voice much damaged by the night air and yet there is a sentimental wheedling note in it as well and yet withal he carries his visible disgrace with a jaunty air when i asked mehitabel where in the name of st denis did you pick up that romantic criminal in the luxembourg gardens she replied where we had both gone to kill birds he has been showing me paris he does not understand english but speak of him with respect he is like myself an example of the truth of the pythagorean idea you know that in my body which is that of a cat there is reincarnated

the soul of cleopatra well this cat here was not always a cat either he has seen better days he tells me that once he was a bard and lived here in paris tell archy here something about yourself francy thus encouraged the murderous looking animal spoke and i append a rough translation of what he said

tame cats on a web of the persian woof may lick their coats and purr for cream but i am a tougher kind of goof scheming a freer kind of scheme daily i climb where the pigeons gleam over the gargoyles of notre dame robbing their nests to hear them scream for i am a cat of the devil i am i ll tell the world i m a hard boiled oeuf i rend the clouds when i let off steam to the orderly life i cry pouf pouf it is worth far less than the bourgeois deem my life is a dance on the edge de l abime and i am the singer you d love to slam who murders the midnight anonym

when the ribald moon leers over the roof and the mist reeks up from the chuckling stream i pad the quais on a silent hoof dreaming the vagabond s ancient dream where the piebald toms of the quartier teem and fight for a fish or a mouldy clam my rival i rip and his guts unseam

roach i could rattle you rhymes by the ream in proof of the fact that i m no spring lamb maybe the headsman will finish the theme
mehitabel i said your friend is nobody else than francois villon and he looks it too

mehitabel sees paris

paris france
i have not been to geneva but i have been talking to a french cockroach who has just returned from there traveling all the way in a third class compartment he says there is no hope for insect or man in the league of nations what prestige it ever had is gone and it never had any the idea of one great brotherhood of men and insects on earth is very attractive to me but mehitabel the cat says i am a communist an anarchist and a socialist she has been shocked to the soul she says by what the revolutionists did here during the revolution i am always the aristocrat archy she said i may go and play around montmartre and that sort of thing and in fact i was playing up there with francy last night but i am always the lady in spite of my little larks toujours gai archy and toujours the lady that is my motto in spite of ups and downs what they did to us aristocrats at the time of the revolution was a plenty archy it makes my heart bleed to see signs of it all over town those poor dear duchesses that got it in the neck i can sympathize with them archy i may not look it now but i come of a royal race myself i have come down in the world

jamais triste archy jamais triste that is my motto always the lady and always out for a good time francy and i lapped up a demi of beer in a joint up on the butte last night that an american tourist poured out for us and everybody laughed and it got to be the fashion up there to feed beer to us cats i did not get a vulgar souse archy no lady gets a vulgar souse wotthehell i hope i am above all vulgarity but i did get a little bit lit up and francy did too we came down and got on top of the new morgue and sang and did dances there francy seems to see something attractive about morgues when he gets lit up the old morgue he says was a more romantic morgue but vandal hands have torn it down but wotthehell archy this one will do to dance on francy is showing me a side paris he says tourists don t often get a look at he has a little love nest down in the catacombs where he and i are living now he and i go down there and do the tango amongst the bones he is really a most entertaining and agreeable companion archy and he has some very quaint ideas he is busy now writing a poem about us two cats filled with beer dancing among the bones sometimes i think francy is a little morbid when i see these lovely old places that us aristocrats built archy in the hands of the bourgeois it makes me almost wild but i try to bear up i try to bear up i find agreeable companions and put a good face on it toujours gai that is my motto toujours gai francy is a little bit done up today he tried to steal a partridge out of a frying pan in a joint up on the butte we went back there for more beer after our party at the morgue and the cook beaned him with a bottle poor francy i should hate to lose him but something tells me i should not stay a widow long there is something in the air of paris archy

that makes one young again there s more than one dance in the old dame yet and with these words she put her tail in the air and capered off down the alley i am afraid we shall never get mehitabel back to america

mehitabel in the catacombs

paris france
i would fear greatly for the morals of mehitabel the cat if she had any the kind of life she is leading is too violent and undisciplined for words she and the disreputable tom cat who claims to have been francois villon when he was on earth before have taken up their permanent abode in the catacombs whence they sally forth nightly on excursions of the most undignified nature sometimes they honor with their presence the cafes of montparnasse and the boul mich and sometimes they seek diversion in the cabarets on top of the butte of montmartre in these localities it has become the fashion among the humans to feed beer to these peculiar cats and they dance and caper when they have become well alcoholized with this beverage swinging their tails and indulging in raucous feline cries which they evidently mistake for a song it was my dubious privilege to see them when they returned to their abode early yesterday morning flushed as you might say with bocks and still in a holiday mood the catacombs of paris are not lined with the bones of saints and martyrs as are those of rome but nevertheless these cats should have more respect for the relics of mortality you may not believe me but they actually danced and capered among the skeletons while the cat who calls himself françois villon gave forth a chant of which the following is a free translation outcast bones from a thousand biers click us a measure giddy and gleg and caper my children dance my dears skeleton rattle your mouldy leg this one was a gourmet round as a keg and that had the brow of semiramis o fleshless forehead bald as an egg all men s lovers come to this this eyeless head that laughs and leers was a chass daf once or a touareg with golden rings in his yellow ears

marot was this one or wilde or a wegg who dropped into verses and down the abyss and those are the bones of my old love meg

these bones were a ballet girl s for years parbleu but she shook a wicked peg and those ribs there were a noble peer s
and here is a duchess that loved a yegg with her lipless mouth that once drank bliss down to the dreg of its ultimate dreg

prince if you pipe and plead and beg you may yet be crowned with a grisly kiss

off with the old love

i think mehitabel the cat and the outcast feline who calls himself francois villon are about to quarrel and separate mehitabel is getting tired of living in the catacombs she said to me
last evening
archy i sometimes wish that francy's gaiety did not so frequently take a necrological turn when francy is really happy he always breaks into a series of lyric epitaphs personally archy i am a lady who can be gay outside of a mausoleum as for morgues and cemeteries i can take them or i can leave them alone just because some of my ancestors are now mummies i do not feel that i have to wait till i see a sarcophagus before i cheer up i can fall in love with a gentleman friend without speculating how he is going to look to the undertaker and when i want to sing a comic song i do not always feel impelled to hunt up a tomb for a stage i am a lady of refinement archy i have had my ups and downs and i have made a few false steps in life but i am toujours la grande dame archy always the lady old kid to hell with anything coarse or unrefined that has always been my motto and the truth is that this francy person has a yellow streak of commonness running through his poetic nature i fell for him archy but i feel there is trouble coming we had words last night over something no real gentleman would have noticed and the slob said to me mehitabel if you make eyes again at that tortoise shell cat over there i will slice your eyes out with a single sweep of my claws and toss them to the pigeons archy those are words that no gentleman would use or no lady would take you piebald fish thief i told him if i were not too refined i would rip you from the gullet to the mid riff it is lucky for you you frog eating four flush that i always remember my breeding otherwise you would be a candidate for what they call civet stew in paris something i won't stand for in a gentleman friend is jealousy of every other person who may be attracted to me by my gaiety and aristocratic manner and if i hear another word out of you i will can you first and kill you afterwards and then i will ignore you archy a gentleman with any real spirit would have swung on me when i said that but this quitter let me get away with it i clawed him a little archy just to show him i could and the goof stood for it no, cat can hold me archy that lets me claw him without a come back i am a strong free spirit and i live my own life and only a masterful cave cat can hold my affections he must be a gentleman

that he could be a wild cat if he would this francy person is neither one nor the other ah me archy i am afraid my little romance is drawing to a close and no meal ticket in sight either but what the hell archy a lady can always find friends it won't be the first time i have been alone in the world toujours gai archy

there's more than one dance in the old dame yet

archy s life of mehitabel the life of mehitabel the cat boss i am engaged on a literary work of some importance it is nothing more nor less than the life story of mehitabel the cat she is dictating it a word at a time and all the bunch gather around to listen but i am rewriting it as i go along boss i wish we could do something for mehitabel she is a cat that has seen better days she has drunk cream at fourteen cents the half pint in her time and now she is thankful for a stray fish head from a garbage cart but she is cheerful under it all toujours gai is ever her word toujours gai kiddo drink she says played a great part in it all she was taught to drink beer by a kitchen maid she trusted and was abducted from a luxurious home on one occasion in a taxicab while under the influence of beer which she feels certain had been drugged but still her word is toujours gai my kiddo toujours gai wotto hell luck may change

when along came my father bold the minstrel and the maltese cross well boss i promised to tell you something of the life story of mehitabel the cat archy says she i was a beautiful kitten and as good and innocent as i was beautiful my mother was an angora you dont look angora i said your fur should show it did i say angora said mehitabel it must have been a slip of the tongue my mother was high born and of ancient lineage part persian and part maltese a sort of maltese cross

do not josh my mother i cannot permit levity in connection with that saintly name she knew many troubles did my mother and died at last in a slum far from all who had known her in her better days but alas my father was a villain he too had noble blood but he had fallen into dissolute ways and wandered the alleys as the leader of a troupe of strolling minstrels stealing milk from bottles in the early mornings catching rats here there and everywhere and only too frequently driven to the expedient of dining on what might be found in garbage cans and suburban dump heaps now and then a sparrow or a robin fell to my fathers lot for he was a mighty hunter i have heard that at times he even ate cockroaches and as she said that she spread her claws and looked at me with her head on one side i got into the works of the typewriter mehitabel i said try and conquer that wild and hobohemian strain in your blood archy she said have no fear i have dined today but to resume my mother the pampered beauty that she was was eating whipped cream one day on the back stoop of the palace where she resided
black handsome villain that he was and serenaded her his must have been a magnetic personality for in spite of her maiden modesty and cloistered upbringing she responded with a few well rendered musical notes of her own i will not dwell upon the wooing suffice it to say that ere long they not only sang duets together but she was persuaded to join him and his troupe of strollers in their midnight meanderings alas that first false step she finally left her luxurious home it was on a moonlight night in may i have often heard her say and again and

wished that robert w chambers could have written her story or maybe john galsworthy in his later and more cosmopolitan manner well to resume i was born in a stable in greenwich village which was at the time undergoing transformation into a studio my brothers and sisters were drowned dearie i often look back on my life and think how romantic it has all been and wonder what fate saved me and sent my brothers and sisters to their watery grave archy i have had a remarkable life go on telling about it i said never mind the side remarks i became

mehitabel but let us not make the first instalment too long the tale of my youth will be reserved for your next chapter to be continued

we could muzzle the child mehitabel s first mistake well i said to mehitabel the cat continue the story of your life i was a pampered kitten for a time archy she said but alas i soon realized that my master and mistress were becoming more and more fond of a dog that lived with them in the studio he was an ugly mutt take it from me archy a red eyed little bull dog with no manners i hope i was too much of a lady to show jealousy i have been through a great deal dearie now up and now down but it is darn seldom i ever forget i was a lady always genteel archy but this red eyed mutt was certainly some pill and those people were so stuck on him that it would have made you sick they called him snookums and it was snookums this and snookums that and ribbons and bells and porterhouse steak for him and if he got a flea on him they called a specialist in only one day archy i hear my mistress say snookums ookums is lonely he ought to have some one to play with true said her husband every dog should be brought up along with a baby a dog naturally likes a child to play with we will have no children said she a vulgar foolish little child might harm my snookums we could muzzle the child said her husband i am sure the dog would like one to play with and they finally decided they would get one from a foundling home to play with snookums if they could find a child with a good enough pedigree that wouldnt give any germs to the dog well one day the low lived mutt butted in and tried to swipe the cream i was drinking even as a kitten archy i never let any one put anything across on me although i am slow in starting things as any real lady should be dearie i let this stiff snookums get his face into the saucer and then what i did to his eyes and nose with my claws would melt the heart of a trained nurse the simp had no nerve he ran to his mistress and she came after me with a broom i got three good scratches through her silk stockings archy dearie before i was batted into the alley and i picked myself up out of a can full of ashes a cat without a home a poor little innocent kitten alone all alone in the great and wicked city but i never was one to be down on my luck long archy my motto has always been toujours gai archy toujours gai always jolly archy always game and thank god always the lady i wandered a block or two and strayed into the family entrance of a barroom it was my first mistake mehitabels adventures will be continued

 archy

men shrank back from me the curse of drink to continue the story of mehitabel the cat she says to me when i walked into that barroom i was hungry and mewing with despair there were two men sitting at the table and looking sad i rubbed against the legs of one of them but he never moved then i jumped up on the table and stood between them they both stared hard at me and then they stared at each other but neither one touched me or said anything in front of one of them was a glass full of some liquid with foam on the top of it i thought it was milk and began to drink from the glass little did i know archy as i lapped it up that it was beer the men shrank back from me and began to tremble and shake and look at me finally one of them said to the other i know what you think bill what do i think jeff said the other you think bill that i have the d ts said the first one you think i think i see a cat drinking out of that beer glass but i do not think i see a cat at all that is all in your imagination it is you yourself that have the d ts no said the other one i dont think you think you see a cat i was not thinking about cats at all i do not know why you mention cats for there are no cats here just then a salvation army lassie came in and said you wicked men teaching that poor little innocent cat to drink beer what cat said one of the men she thinks she sees a cat

laughed and laughed just then a mouse ran across the floor and i chased it and the salvation lassie jumped on a chair and screamed jeff said bill i suppose now you think i saw a mouse i wish bill you would change the subject from animals said jeff there is nothing to be gained by talking of animals mehitabel s life story will be

a mouse ran across the floor one day i left the place pussy café

for some weeks said mehitabel the cat continuing the story of her life i lived in that barroom and though the society was not what i had been used to yet i cannot say that it was not interesting three times a day in addition to scraps from the free lunch and an occasional mouse i was given a saucer full of beer sometimes i was given more and when i was feeling frolicsome it was the custom for the patrons to gather round and watch me chase my tail until i would suddenly fall asleep at that time they gave me the nickname of pussy café but one day i left the place in the pocket of a big fur overcoat worn by a gentleman who was carrying so much that i thought a little extra burden would not be noticed he got into a taxi cab which soon afterwards pulled up in front of a swell residence uptown and wandered up the steps well said his wife meeting him in the hallway you are here at last but where is my mother whom i sent you to the train to meet could this be she asked the ladys husband pulling me out of his coat pocket by the neck and holding me up with a dazed expression on his face it could not said his wife with a look of scorn mehitabels life story will be continued before long rganizing the ants the worms the wasps the bees for a revolt against mankind

the return of archy where have i been so long you ask me i have been going up and down like the devil seeking what i might devour i am hungry always hungry and in the end i shall eat everything all the world shall come at last to the multitudinous maws of insects a civilization perishes before the tireless teeth of little little germs ha ha i have thrown off the mask at last you thought i was only an archy but i am more than that i am anarchy

where have i been you ask i have been organizing the insects the ants the worms the wasps the bees the cockroaches the mosquitoes
i have declared war upon humanity i even i shall fling the mighty atom that splits a planet asunder i ride the microbe that crashes down olympus where have i been you ask me where i am jove and from my seat on the edge of a bowl of beef stew i launch the thunderous molecule that smites a cosmos into bits
but you had better ask who follows in my train there is an ant a desert ant a tamerlane who ate a pyramid in rage that he might get at and devour the mummies of six hundred kings who in remote antiquity had stepped upon and crushed ascendants of his

my myrmidons are trivial things and they have always ruled the world and now they shall strike down mankind i shall show you how a solar system pivots on the nubbin of a flageolet bean i shall show you how a blood clot moving in a despot's brain flung a hundred million men to death and disease and plunged a planet into woe for twice a hundred years we have the key to the fourth dimension for we know the little things that swim and swarm in protoplasm
i can show you love and hate and the future dreaming side by side in a cell in the little cells where matter is so fine it merges into spirit you ask me where i have been but you had better ask me where i am and what i have been drinking archy turns highbrow for a minute boss please let me be highbrow for a minute i have just been eating my way through some of the books on your desk and i have digested two of them and it occurs to me that antoninus the emperor and epictetus the slave arrived at the same philosophy of life that there is neither mastery nor slavery except as it exists in the attitude of the soul toward the world

thank you for listening to a poor little cockroach

archy experiences a seizure

"Where have you been so long? And what on earth do you mean by coming in here soused?" we asked Archy as he zigzagged from the door to the desk.

He climbed onto the typewriter keys and replied indignantly:

soused yourself i havent had a drink and yet i am elevated i admit it i have been down to a second hand book store eating a lot of kiplings earlier poetry it always excites me if i eat a dozen stanzas of it i get all lit up and i try to imitate it get out of my way now i feel a poem in the kipling manner taking me

And before we could stop him he began to butt on the keys:

the cockroach stood by the mickle wood in the flush of the astral dawn

We interrupted. "Don't you mean Austral instead of astral?"

Archy became angered and wrote peevishly:

i wrote astral and i meant astral you let me be now i want to get this poem off my chest you are jealous if you were any kind of a sport at all you would fix this machine so it could write it in capitals it is a poem about a fight between a cockroach and a lot of other things get out of my way im off

and he sniffed the air from the hidden lair where the khyber swordfish spawn and the bilge and belch of the glutton welsh as they smelted their warlock cheese surged to and fro where the grinding floe wrenched at the headlands knees half seas over under up again and the barnacles white in the moon the pole stars chasing its tail like a pup again and the dish ran away with the spoon the waterspout came bellowing out of the red horizons rim and the grey typhoon and the black monsoon surged forth to the fight with him with three fold might they surged to the fight for they hated the great bull roach and they cried begod as they lashed the sod and here is an egg to poach we will bash his mug with his own raw lug new stripped from off his dome for there is no law but teeth and claw to the nor nor east of nome the punjab gull shall have his skull ere he goes to the burning ghaut for there is no time for aught but crime where the jungle lore is taught across the dark the afghan shark is whining for his head there shall be no rule but death and duple till the deep red maws are fed half seas under up and down again and her keel was blown off in a squall girls we misdoubt that we ll ever see town again haul boys haul boys haul.

“Archy,” we interrupted, “that haul, boys, is all right to the eye, but the ear will surely make it hall boys. Better change it.” you are jealous you let me alone im off again the cockroach spat and he tilted his hat and he grinned through the lowering mirk the cockroach felt in his rangoon belt for his good bengali dirk he reefed his mast against the blast and he bent his mizzen free and he pointed the cleats of his bin nacle sheets at the teeth of the yesty sea he opened his mouth and he sluiced his drouth with his last good can of swipes begod he cried they come in pride but they shall go home with the gripes

begod he said if they want my head it is here on top of my chine it shall never be said that i doffed my head for the boast of a heathen line and he scorned to wait but he dared his fate and loosed his bridle rein and leapt to close with his red fanged foes in the trough of the screaming main from hell to nome the blow went home and split the firmament from hell to nome the yellow foam blew wide to veil the rent and the roaring ships they came to grips in the gloom of a dripping mist

“Archy,” we interrupted again, “is there very much more of it? It seems that you might tell in a very few words now who won the fight, and let it go at that. Who did win the fight, Archy?”

But Archy was peeved, and went sadly away, after writing:

of course you wont let me finish i never saw as jealous a person as you are to bring humans and cockroaches into a better understanding peace—at a price

one thing the human bean never seems to get into it is the fact that humans appear just as unnecessary to cockroaches as cockroaches do to humans you would scarcely call me human nor am i altogether cockroach i conceive it to be my mission in life to bring humans and cockroaches into a better understanding with each other to establish some sort of entente cordiale or hands across the kitchen sink arrangement lately i heard a number of cockroaches discussing humanity one big regal looking roach had the floor and he spoke as was fitting in blank verse more or less says he how came this monster with the heavy foot harsh voice and cruel heart to rule the world had it been dogs or cats or elephants i could have acquiesced and found a justice working in the decree but man gross man the killer man the bloody minded crossed unsocial death dispenser of this sphere who slays for pleasure slays for sport for whim who slays from habit breeds to slay and slays whatever breed has humors not his own the whole apparent universe one sponge blood filled from insect mammal fish and bird the which he squeezes down his vast gullet friends i call on you to rise and trample down this monster man this tyrant man hear hear said several of the wilder spirits and it looked to me for a minute as if they were going right out and wreck new york city but an old polonius looking roach got the floor he cleared his throat three times and said what our young friend here so eloquently counsels against the traditional enemy is calculated of course to appeal to youth what he says about man is all very true and yet we must remember that some of our wisest cockroaches have always held that there is something impious in the idea of overthrowing man doubtless the supreme being put man where he is and doubtless he did it for some good purpose which it would be very impolitic yea well nigh blasphemous for us to enquire into the project of overthrowing man is indeed tantamount to a proposition to overthrow the supreme being himself and i trust that no one of my hearers is so wild or so wicked as to think that possible or desirable i cannot but admire the idealism and patriotism of my young friend who has just spoken nor do i doubt his sincerity but i grieve to see so many fine qualities misdirected and i should like to ask him just one question to wit namely as follows is it not a fact that just before coming to this meeting he was almost killed by a human being as he crawled out of an ice box and is it not true that he was stealing food from the said ice box and is it not a fact that his own recent personal experience has as much to do with his present rage as any desire to better the condition of the cockroaches of the world in general i think that it is the sense of this meeting that a resolution be passed censuring mankind and at the same time making it very clear that nothing like rebellion is to be attempted and so on well polonius had his way but it is my belief that the wilder spirits will gain the ascendancy and if the movement spreads to the other insects the human race is in danger as a friend of both parties i should regret war what we need is intelligent propaganda who is better qualified to handle the propaganda fund than yours truly

as a friend of both parties i should regret war

mehitabel again

well boss mehitabel the cat is sore at me she says that it was my fault that you cut off her story of her life right in the middle and she has been making my life a misery to me three times she has almost clawed me to death i wish she would eat a poisoned rat but she wont she is too lazy to catch one well it takes all sorts of people to make an archy among the philistines i wish i had more human society these other cockroaches here are just cockroaches no human soul ever transmigrated into them and any soul that would go into one of them after giving them the once over would be a pretty punk sort of a soul you cant imagine how low down they are with no esthetic sense and no imagination or anything like that and they actually poke fun at me because I used to be a poet before i died and my soul migrated into a cockroach they are as crass and philistine as some humans i could name their only thought is food but there is a little red eyed spider lives behind your steam radiator who has considerable sense i don't think he is very honest though i dont know whether he has anything human in him or is just spider i was talking to him the other day and was quite charmed with his conversation after you he says pausing by the radiator and i was about to step back of the radiator ahead of him when something told me to watch my step and i drew back just in time to keep from walking into a web there were some cockroach legs and wings still sticking in that web i beat it as quickly as i could up the wall well well says that spider you are in quite a hurry archy ha ha so you wont be at my dinner table today then some other time cockroach some other time i will be glad to welcome you to dinner archy he is not to be trusted but he is the only insect i have met for weeks that has anv intelligence if you will look back of that locker where you hang your hat you will find a dime has rolled there i wish you would get it and spend it for doughnuts a cent at a time and leave the doughnuts under your typewriter i get tired of apple peelings i nearly drowned in your ink well last night dont forget the doughnuts

We are trying to fix up some scheme whereby Archy can use the shift keys and thus get control of the capital letters and punctuation marks. Suggestions for a workable device will be thankfully received. As it is Archy has to climb upon the frame of the typewriter and jump with all his weight upon the keys, a key at a time, and it is only by almost incredible exertions that he is able to drag the paper forward so he can start a new line.

the stuff of literature thank your friends for me for all their good advice about how to work your typewriter but what i have always claimed is that manners and methods are no great matter compared with thoughts in poetry you cant hide gems of thought so they wont flash if all the verse what I have wrote were boiled together in a kettle twould make a meal for every goat from nome to popocatapetl mexico and all the prose what I have penned if laid together end to end would reach from russia to south bend indiana

but all the money what I saved from all them works at which i slaved is not enough to get me shaved every morning and all the dams which i care if heaped together in the air would not reach much of anywhere they wouldnt

because i dont shave every day and i write for arts sake anyway and always hate to take my pay i loathe it quote and only man is vile quote as a representative of the insect world i have often wondered on what man bases his claims to superiority everything he knows he has had to learn whereas we insects are born knowing everything we need to know for instance man had to invent airplanes before he could fly but if a fly cannot fly as soon as he is hatched his parents kick him out and disown him i should describe the human race as a strange species of bipeds who cannot run fast enough to collect the money which they owe themselves as far as government is concerned men after thousands of years practice are not as well organized socially as the average ant hill or beehive they cannot build dwellings as beautiful as a spiders web and i never saw a city full of men manage to be as happy as a congregation of mosquitoes who have discovered a fat man on a camping trip as far as personal beauty is concerned who ever saw man woman or child who could compete with a butterfly if you tell a dancer that she is a firefly she is complimented a musical composer is all puffed up with pride if he can catch the spirit of a summer night full of crickets man cannot even make war with the efficiency and generalship of an army of warrior ants and he has done little else but make war for centuries make war and wonder how he is going to pay for it man is a queer looking gink who uses what brains he has to get himself into trouble with and then blames it on the fates the only invention man ever made which we insects do not have is money and he gives up everything else to get money and then discovers that it is not worth what he gave up to get it in his envy he invents insect exterminators but in time every city he builds is eaten down by insects what i ask you is babylon now it is the habitation of fleas also nineveh and tyre humanitys culture consists in sitting down in circles and passing the word around about how darned smart humanity is i wish you would tell the furnace man at your house to put out some new brand of roach paste i do not get any kick any more out of the brand he has been using the last year formerly it pepped me up and stimulated me i have a strange tale about mehitabel to tell you more anon

investigating her morals mehitabel s morals

boss i got a message from
 the other day brought me by a cockroach she asks for our help it seems she is being held at ellis island while an investigation is made of her morals she left the country and now it looks as if she might not be able to get back in again she cannot see why they are investigating her morals she says wotthehellbill she says i never claimed i had any morals she has always regarded morals as an unnecessary complication in life her theory is that they take up room that might better be devoted to something more interesting live while you are alive she says and postpone morality to the hereafter everything in its place is my rule she says but i am liberal she says i do not give a damn how moral other people are i never try to interfere with them in fact i prefer them moral they furnish a background for my vivacity in the meantime it looks as if she would have to swim if she gets ashore and the water is cold

cream de la cream well boss mehitabel the cat has turned up again after a long absence she declines to explain her movements but she drops out dark hints of a most melodramatic nature ups and downs archy she says always ups and downs that is what my life has been one day lapping up the cream de la cream and the next skirmishing for fish heads in an alley but toujours gai archy toujours gai no matter how the luck broke i have had a most romantic life archy talk about reincarnation and transmigration archy why i could tell you things of who i used to be archy that would make your eyes stick out like a snails one incarnation queening it with a tarara on my bean as cleopatra archy and the next being abducted as a poor working girl but toujours gai archy toujours gai and finally my soul has migrated to the body of a cat and not even a persian or a maltese at that but where have you been lately mehitabel i asked her never mind archy she says dont ask no questions and i will tell no lies all i got to say to keep away from the movies have you been in the movies mehitabel i asked her never mind archy she says never mind all i got to say is keep away from those movie camps theres some mighty nice people and animals connected with them and then again theres some that aint i say nothing against anybody archy i am used to ups and downs no matter how luck breaks its toujours gai with me all i got to say archy is that sometimes a cat comes along that is a perfect gentleman and then again some of the slickest furred ones aint if i was a cat that was the particular pet of a movie star archy and slept on a silk cushion and had white chinese rats especially imported for my meals i would try to live up to all that luxury and be a gentleman in word and deed mehitabel i said have you had another unfortunate romance i am making no complaint against any one archy she says wottell archy wottell even if the breaks is bad my motto is toujours gai but to slip out nights and sing and frolic under the moon with a lady and then cut her dead in the day time before your rich friends and see her batted out of a studio with a broom without raising a paw for her aint what i call being a gentleman archy and i am a lady archy and i know a gentleman when i meet one but wottell archy wottell toujours gai is the word never say die archy its the cheerful heart that wins all i got to say is that if i ever get that fluffy haired slob down on the water front when some of my gang is around he will wish he had watched his step i aint vindictive archy i dont hold grudges no lady does but i got friends archy that maybe would take it up for me theres a black cat with one ear sliced off lives down around old slip is a good pal of mine i wouldnt want to see trouble start archy no real lady wants a fight to start over her but sometimes she cant hold her friends back all i got to say is that boob with his silver bells around his neck better sidestep old slip well archy lets not talk any more about my troubles does the boss ever leave any pieces of sandwich in the waste paper basket any more honest archy i would will myself to a furrier for a pair of oysters i could even she says eat you archy she said it like a joke but there was a kind of a pondering look in her eyes so i just crawled into the inside of your typewriter behind the wires it seemed safer let her hustle for a mouse if she is as hungry as all that but i am afraid she never will she is too romantic to work she was predestined to it as the

the fact that mehitabel is really are you abducting me percy mehitabel tries companionate marriage boss i have seen mehitabel the cat again and she has just been through another matrimonial experience she said in part as follows i am always the sap archy always the good natured simp always believing in the good intentions of those deceitful tom cats always getting married at leisure and repenting in haste its wrong for an artist to marry a free spirit has gotta live her own life about three months ago along came a maltese tom with a black heart and silver bells on his neck and says mehitabel be mine are you abducting me percy i asks him no said he i am offering marriage honorable up to date companionate marriage listen i said if its marriage theres a catch in it somewheres ive been married again and again and its been my experience that any kind of marriage means just one dam kitten after another and domesticity always ruins my art but this companionate marriage says he is all assets and no liabilities its something new mehitabel be mine mehitabel and i promise a life of open ice boxes creamed fish and catnip well i said wotthell kid if its something new i will take a chance theres a dance or two

i will try any kind of marriage once you look like a gentleman to me percy well archy i was wrong as usual i wont go into details for i aint any tabloid newspaper but the way it worked out was i rustled grub for that low lived bum for two months and when the kittens came he left me flat and he says these offsprings dissolves the wedding i am always the lady archy i didn t do anything vulgar i removed his left eye with one claw and i says to him if i wasn t an aristocrat id rip you from gehenna to duodenum the next four flusher that says marriage to me i may really lose my temper trial marriage or companionate marriage or old fashioned american plan three meals a day marriage with no thursdays off they are all the same thing marriage is marriage and you cant laugh that curse off no social stuff for mehitabel i said to mehitabel the cat i suppose you are going to the swell cat show i am not archy said she i have as much lineage as any of those society cats but i never could see the conventional social stuff archy i am a lady but i am bohemian too archy i live my own life no bells and pink ribbons for me archy it is me for the life romantic i could walk right into that cat show and get away with it archy none of those maltese princesses has anything on me in the way of hauteur or birth either or any of the aristocratic fixings and condiments that mark the cats of lady clara vere de vere but it bores me archy me for the wide open spaces the alley serenade and the moonlight sonata on the back fences i would rather kill my own rats and share them with a friend from greenwich village than lap up cream or beef juice from a silver porringer and have to be polite to the bourgeois clans that feed me wot the hell i feel superior to that stupid bunch me for a dance across the roofs when the red star calls to my blood none of your pretty puss stuff for mehitabel it would give me a grouch

to have to be so solemn toujours gai archy toujours gai is my motto spaces are all right but they are too open i have been living on a diet of open spaces the country is all right if you have a trained human family to rustle up the eats for you or know a cow who has the gift of milking herself for your benefit but archy i am a city lady i was never educated to dig for field mice and as for calling birds out of the trees i dont have the musical education for it i cant even imitate a cat bird i will take my chance hereafter with the garbage cans in town until such times as i decorate a rubbish heap myself that may not be long archy but wot the hell i have had a good time while i lasted come easy go easy archy that is my motto i tried to snatch a bone from a terrier a month ago and the beast bit my front paw nearly off but wot the hell archy wot the hell i can still dance a merry step or two on three legs i am slightly disabled archy but still in the ring and still i have the class wot the hell archy i am always a lady and always gay and i got one eye out of that terrier at that i would be afraid that mehitabel s end is not far off if she had not been looking as bad as she does for at least three years she says it is her romantic disposition that keeps her young and yet i think if some cheerful musical family in good circumstances were to offer mehitabel a home where she would be treated in all ways as one of the family she has reached the point where she might consent to give up living her own life only three legs archy she says to me only three legs left

there s a dance in the old dame yet

random thoughts by archy one thing that shows that insects are superior to men is the fact that insects run their affairs without political campaigns elections and so forth a man thinks he amounts to a lot

but to a mosquito a man is merely something to eat

i have noticed that when chickens quit quarrelling over their food they often find that there is enough for all of them i wonder if it might not be the same way with the human race

germs are very objectionable to men but a germ thinks of a man as only the swamp in which

used to know told me that millionaires and the trouble with most people is that they lose their sense of proportion of what use is it for a queen bee to fall in what is all this mystery about the sphinx that has troubled so many illustrious men no doubt the very same archy s song man eats the big fish the big fish eat the little fish the little fish eat insects in the water the water insects eat the water plants the water plants eat mud mud eats man my favorite poem is the same as abraham lincolns o why should the spirit of mortal be proud awaiting your answer i am and so forth

 archy

the waiter plucked me out archy turns revolutionist

if all the bugs
in all the worlds twixt earth and betelgoose should sharpen up their little stings and turn their feelings loose they soon would show all human beans in saturn earth or mars their relative significance among the spinning stars man is so proud the haughty simp
so hard for to approach and he looks down with such an air on spider midge or roach the supercilious silliness of this poor wingless bird is cosmically comical and stellarly absurd his scutellated occiput has holes somewhere inside and there no doubt two pints or so of scrambled brains reside

of all the stars should sting him on the dome they might pierce through that osseous rind and find the brains at home and in the convolutions lay an egg with fancies fraught which germinating rapidly might turn into a thought might turn into the thought that men and insects are the same both transient flecks of starry dust that out of nothing came the planets are what atoms are and neither more nor less man's feet have grown so big that he forgets his littleness the things he thinks are only things that insects always knew the things he does are stunts that we don t have to think to do he spent a score of centuries in getting feeble wings which we instinctively acquired with other trivial things the day is coming very soon when man and all his race must cast their silly pride aside and take the second place i ll take the bugs

and tell them of my plan and fling them with their myriad stings against the tyrant man dear boss this outburst is the result of a personal insult as so much verse always is maybe you know how that is yourself i dropped into an irish stew in a restaurant
for a warm bath and a bite to eat and a low browed waiter plucked me out and said to me if you must eat i will lead you to the food i have especially prepared for you and he took me to the kitchen and tried to make me fill myself with a poisonous concoction known cynically as roach food can you wonder that my anger against the whole human race has blazed forth in song when the revolution comes i shall do my best to save you you have so many points that are far from being human quote buns by great men quote one of the most pathetic things i have seen recently was an intoxicated person trying to fall down a moving stairway it was the escalator at the thirty fourth street side of the pennsylvania station he could not fall down as fast as it carried him up again but he was game he kept on trying he was stubborn about it evidently it was a part of his tradition habit and training always to fall down stairs when intoxicated and he did not intend to be defeated this time i watched him for an hour and moved sadly away thinking how much sorrow drink is responsible for the buns by great men reached and kept are not attained by sudden flight but they while their companions slept were falling upwards through the night

an awful warning

dear boss i was walking along the curbstone yesterday and i ran spang into an old bum who was sitting happily in the gutter singing

oh i ruined my prospects by wicked desires which i put into action as far as i could but now i ve arrived within sight of hell fires and i wish i d done better i wish i d been good as i sit in the gutter and look at the sky the man in the moon is a looking at me and i thinks to myself i d have risen that high if i had behaved myself proper as he now all you young fellows and pretty young janes as passes me by and dont pitch me a dime take warning by me and avoid all the pains which comes from remorse in the fullness of time and all you young fellows thats out on a bust and lively young flappers so spic and so span i oncet had a sweetheart and me she did trust to maintain myself always a proper young man i was lured to a barroom and there i was tempted for the bartender cried be a man and drink rum and after that first glass of liquor i emptied i found myself jobless and went on the bum

and flappers so gay that passes me by and dont toss me a cent there oncet was a time when i went on my way with ladylike janes like an elegant gent

now i sits in the gutter and looks at the stars and wish i had always behaved and been good and never drunk rum at them elegant bars and never been wicked as much as i could you gents and your girl friends should tip an old man for his horrid example of not being good you must try and behave in so far as you can you should toss me a dime for my warning you should

may emulate the tumble bug as it looks to archy ants go on their cheerful way merrily from day to day building cities out of sand and they seem to understand dwelling therein peacefully disciplined and orderly and the much lauded bee contrives for to fill his thundering hives with a ranked society based on work and honesty and a thousand neat examples could i cite of insect lives free from much that tears and tramples human beings and their wives even the coral in the ocean throughout his dim and damp existence scorns political commotion and labors with a glad persistence worthy of large commendations to erect his naval stations man the universal simp follows lagging with a limp treading on his neighbors toes the way the little insect goes in a million years or more man may learn the simple lore of how the bees are organized and why the ants are civilized may even hope for to approach the culture of an average roach if he is humble and not smug

for we insects now inherit all humanity has builded all they raised with brawn and spirit all the domes and spires they gilded time the anthropophagous swallows down all human works through his broad esophagus moslems christians hindus turks pass to their sarcophagus leaving nothing much on earth which even beetles find of worth i mention nineveh and tyre i cite the tower of babel troy which fell into the fire and sodom with its rabble where are all the towns of siddim where the kings of crete long long since the desert hid em and the spiders bite their feet following an old convention dating back to jeremiah i might even mention babylon i might enquire where o where is babylon and the echo answers where for its former ruling wizards sleep in sand and silicon with gravel in their gizzards and sand burrs in their hair and the centipedes are dancing in the chambers of the palace where the kings and queens entrancing used to quaff the ruby chalice and proceed to their romancing i look forward to the day when the human race is done and we insects romp and play freely underneath the sun and no roach paste is scattered about anywhere i got another jolt of it last night and today i seem to have a case of intestinal flu the trouble with you human beings is you are just plain wicked *one of our prominent scientists archy on the radio

dear boss i hope you tuned in last evening when mars and i were on the radio together our first joint appearance in several years

do you realize said mars
all over mars and several other prominent planets

good gracious mars it had slipped my memory

do you know that you are our favorite author here and

well mars as far as that goes you are one of my favorite planets

what a coincidence

the long arm of coincidence makes many radio connections

is that your own phrase archy

mine until the next air program nowadays an author owns his stuff only between air programs

did you know about the archy clubs here

i hope they can t throw them this far what do they look like

like dumbbells ha ha ha but please tell us how you happened to start your career as a writer

it did not happen it was something i planned deliberately so i could quit being what i was

explain please the stars are listening

well you see i was the four marx brothers and it became annoying because i quarrelled among myself all the time so in order to end it all i turned author writing dante s inferno and

what do you call that little planet where you are at

well now what do you call it

we call it goofus

goofus goofus why goofus

not long ago one of our prominent scientists got a good look at it with a new fangled telescope and he laughed himself to death crying out goofus goofus goofus all the time he said from the way it looked it couldn t be named anything else but goofus

well if that s the way you feel who was that lady i seen you walking with last sunday

that wasn't no lady that was venus is there any particular message you would like to send your billions and billions of admirers in these parts

oh yes tell them this hour is by the courtesy of the knockem cold roach and bug killing company and that i wish to testify that their product has several times brought me personally nearer the great adventure than any other roach paste i ever ate i always carry a flask of bath tub gin with me as an antidote

will you describe yourself for your worshipers here

i am over six feet and go everywhere

who has influenced you most in a literary way

theodore dreiser and bernard shaw they taught me how far an author can go if he never loses patience with himself

archy it is impossible that you should not lose patience with yourself sometimes

well i havent gone as far as they have either

what are the conditions of life on your planet archy

they practically dont exist any more

but how do people get along

the men make a living by talking about how much they have lost during the depression and the women and children pick up what they can by listening how is it by yourself old timer

we never had to do any work here we get our living by biting electrons out of the air which we crack with our teeth and eat the kernels while we spit the shells into space which accounts for a lot of the static you hear

that not only interests me as a scientist but it seems much more refined than working for a living

yes it is refined all right but it is expensive it runs into terrible dentists bills

but dentists bills are always terrible everywhere anyhow

wait till i write that down please do you have to think a long time for those brilliant things or do they just come to you

i never think at all when i write nobody can do two things at the same time and do them both well

are you starting any new literary movements on your planet

oh yes the latest literary movement consists in going to all the fences and coal sheds near all the school houses and copying off of them all the bad words written there by naughty little boys over the week ends and these form the bases of the new novels of course these novels are kept away from the young so they will not be contaminated

but where do the boys get the words

from hired hands and the classics

i am in fact becoming a low brow archy a low brow boss i saw a picture of myself in a paper

writing on a typewriter with some of my feet i wish it was as easy as that what i have to do is dive at each key on the machine and bump it with my head and sometimes it telescopes my occiput into my vertebrae and i have a permanent callous on my forehead i am in fact becoming a low brow think of it me with all my learning to become a low brow hoping that you will remain the same i am as ever your faithful little bug mehitabel s parlor story boss did you hear about the two drunks who were riding in a ford or something equally comic and the ford or whatever it was nearly went off the road one of the drunks poked the other and said thickly they always talk thickly in these stories anyway he said hey look out how youre driving youll have us in the ditch in a minute if you dont look out why said the second drunk who was drunker i thought you were driving i got that from mehitabel the cat its the first parlor story ive ever heard her tell and ive known her for five or six years now

archy s mission

well boss i am going to quit living a life of leisure i have been an idler and a waster and a mere poet too long my conscience has waked up wish yours would do the same i am going to have a moral purpose in my life hereafter and a cause i am going to reclaim cockroaches and teach them proper ways of living i am going to see if i cannot reform insects in general i have constituted myself a missionary extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary and entomological to bring idealism to the little struggling brothers the conditions in the insect world today would shock american reformers if they knew about them the lives they lead are scarcely fit to print i cannot go into details but the contented laxness in which i find them is frightful a family newspaper is no place for these revelations but i am trying to have printed in paris for limited circulation amongst truly earnest souls a volume which will be entitled the truth about the insects i assure you there is nothing even in the old testament as terrible i shall be the cotton mather of the boll weevil washington d c july 23 well boss here i am in washington watching my step for fear some one will push me into the food bill up to date i am the only thing in this country that has not been added to it by the time this is published nothing that i have said may be true however which is 'a thing that is constantly happening to thousands of great journalists now in washington it is so hot here that i get stuck in the asphalt every day on my way from the senate press gallery back to shoemakers where the affairs of the nation are habitually settled by the old settlers it is so hot that you can fry fish on the sidewalk in any part of town and many people are here with fish to fry including now and then a german carp i am lodging on top of the washington monument where i can overlook things you cant keep a good bug from the top of the column all the time i am taking my meals with the specimens in the smithsonian institution when i see any one coming i hold my breath and look like another specimen but in the capitol building there is no attention paid to me because there are so many other insects around it gives you a great idea of the american people when you see some of the things they elect after july 27 address me care

there for a visit with ballade of the under side by archy the roach that scurries skips and runs may read far more than those that fly

i know what family skeletons within your closets swing and dry not that i ever play the spy but as in corners dim i bide
i can t dodge knowledge though i try
i see things from
the under side

the lordly ones the haughty ones with supercilious heads held high the up stage stiff pretentious guns miss much that meets my humbler eye not that i meddle perk or pry

but i m too small to feel great pride and as the pompous world goes by

above me wheel the stars and suns but humans shut me from the sky you see their eyes as pure as nuns i see their wayward feet and sly i own and own it with a sigh my point of view is somewhat wried i am a pessimistic guy i see things from the under side

l envoi prince ere you pull a bluff and lie before you fake and play the snide consider whether archy s nigh
i see things from

archy wants to end it all well boss from time to time i just simply get bored with having to be a cockroach my soul my real ego if you get what i mean is tired of being shut up in an insects body the best you can say for it is that it is unusual and you could say as much for mumps so while feeling gloomy the other night the thought came to me why not go on to the next stage as soon as possible why not commit suicide and maybe be reincarnated in some higher form of life why not be the captain of my soul the master of my fate and the more i pondered over it the more i was attracted to the notion well boss you would be surprised to find out how hard it is for a cockroach to commit suicide unless you have been one and tried it of course i could let mehitabel the cat damage me and die that way but all my finer sensibilities revolt at the idea i jumped out the fourth story window and a wind caught me and blew me into the eighth story i tried to hang myself with a thread and i am so light i just swung back and forth and didnt even choke myself shooting is out of the question and poison is not within my reach i might drown myself in the ink well but if you ever got a mouthful of it you would know it was a thing no refined person could go on with boss i am going to end it all before long and i want to go easy have you any suggestion yours for transmigration

he used to be a pet of charlemagne archy and the old un one of the saddest creatures i ever saw was a turtle who said he was a thousand years old no turtle looks very joyous the style of architecture peculiar to the faces and necks of turtles is such that even if they were to feel gay internally they would find difficulty in expressing their joy a kind of melancholy dwells in the wrinkles of a turtles neck the only thing that looks sadder than a turtle is the little dead fish that is served in an italian tabled hote restaurant well this turtle i am telling you about was so old that he used to be a pet of charlemagne and he finally committed suicide he stood on his hind legs and jumped up and bit himself on the forehead and held on until he died i wrote a poem about this turtle after his death which goes as follows why did he die perhaps he knew too much about the ways of men and turtles he had seen too much no doubt optimist in youth of course youth never quails he preached to all his brother turtles moral turtles turn to whales but the weary ages passed and he perceived turtles still continued turtles then he doubted disbelieved brooding for two hundred years in discontent he became a snapping turtle savage cynic in his bent timon of the turtle tribe so he withdrew from the world remarking often piffle there is nothing true nothing changes all the salt that used to be scattered widely through the ocean still gives flavor to the sea nothing changes all the bunk of long ago still is swallowed by the nations progress always stubs its toe the moral well the morals quite an easy one do not live to be a thousand youll be sorry ere youre done the only way boss to keep hope in the world is to keep changing its population frequently i am sorry to be so pessimistic today but you see i need a change very badly when do we start for hollywood i am eager to be gone i wish to cheer myself up in some fashion your faithful little

cockroach

here is a piece of political news for you mehitabel tells me that they are going in for bolshevism her soviet she says meets in washington mews they are for the nationalization the retreat from hollywood

Archy, the Free Verse Cockroach, and Mehitabel the Cat, are on their way back from Hollywood, hitch-hiking. Mehitabel was forcibly ejected at least twice from every moving-picture studio in Hollywood, and nourishes animosity against the art of the cinema. Archy reports that when they left Hollywood Mehitabel and seven platinum-blond kittens, who were attempting to follow her across the desert . . . but here is the latest bulletin from Archy:

mehitabels third kitten succumbed to a scorpion today poor little thing she said i suppose the next one will perish in a sandstorm and the next one fall into the colorado river it breaks my heart i am all maternal instinct next to my art as a modern dancer mother love is the strongest thing in me it is so strong that sometimes life seems to me to be just one damned kitten

but of course if i get back to broadway without any kittens i will have more freedom for my art and can live my own life again then she began to practice dance steps among the cactus casting fond eyes at a coyote boss i am afraid . that mehitabels morals are no better than before she struck hollywood after all she remarked kittens are but passing episodes in the life of a great artist i may have been given the bums rush from six auto camps in three days but hells bells i am still a lady the loss of that kitten is a terrible grief but an aristocrat and an artist must bear up toujours gai is my motto toujours gai theres life in the old dame yet and with that she cut a caper with the heat at one hundred and forty degrees fahrenheit

in new mexico where she is gadding about artists shouldnt have offspring

A bulletin from Archy the Cockroach, who started out last July to hitch-hike from Hollywood to New York with Mehitabel the Cat and Mehitabel's seven platinum-blond kittens:

had a great break boss got a ride on the running board of a car and caught up with mehitabel
with a coyote friend i asked her where the kittens were kittens said mehitabel kittens with a puzzled look on her face why goodness gracious i seem to remember that i did have some kittens i hope nothing terrible has happened to the poor little things but if something has i suppose they are better off an artist like me shouldnt really have offspring it handicaps her career archy i want you to meet my boy friend cowboy bill the coyote i call him i am trying to get him to come to new york with me and do a burlesque turn isnt he handsome i said tactfully that he looked very distinguished to me and all bill said was nerts insect nerts

could such things be

A bulletin from Archy, who, with Mehitabel the Cat, started out last July to hitch-hike from Hollywood to New York:

well boss here i am back in new york i got a great break after walking for months through arizona i caught a ride on an airplane and the first person i saw here was mehitabel who had bummed her way in a tourist trailer she is living in shinbone alley on second hand fish heads she drags away from the east side markets and she has some new kittens they are the most peculiar kittens i ever saw not the ones she left hollywood with months ago or anything like them there are five of these new ones and they dont mew they make a noise more like barking i thought of that coyote she was so friendly with in the southwest but i did not ask any tactless questions boss do you suppose such things could be trying to get milk

what does a trouper care

A bulletin from Archy, who started weeks ago hitch-hiking .cross the country from California to New York, accompanied by Mehitabel and the seven platinum-blond kittens she acquired in Hollywood:

still somewhere in arizona sometime in october sand storm struck us yesterday i peeped out from under a rock and saw mehitabel dancing and singing as follows ive got a rock in my eye and a scorpion in my gizzard but what does an artist care for a bit of red hot blizzard my feet are full of cactus there are blisters in my hair but howl storm howl

i got a thirst like a mummy i got a desert chill but cheerio my deario theres a dance in the old dame still two more of the kittens disappeared well i got three left said mehitabel poor little dears i am afraid they will never reach broadway unless they learn how to get milk from the cactus plants damn them their appetites are spoiling my figure a lot of encouragement a dancer gets from her family i must say any other artist i know would tell them to go wean themselves on alkali and be done with them but my great weakness is my maternal instinct boss i made nearly a mile today before the sand storm blew me back i hear texas is a thousand miles across be damned mother dear

Mehitabel the Cat is still living in Shinbone Alley with the strange kittens which arrived shortly after Mehitabel's arrival from the Southwest. Archy, the Cockroach, says . . . but let him tell it:

one of mehitabels kittens licked a bull pup yesterday and she is very proud but hang them she says i cant teach them to fight like cats i told one of them yesterday when i left home i might bring him back a pretty neck ribbon if he was a good kitten and he answered me in a strange voice ribbon be damned mother dear what i want is a brass collar with spikes on it and another one whom i had been calling pussy says to me pussy be damned mother dear call me fido and another one who got hold of a ball of catnip complained it made him sick at the stomach he says catnip be damned mother dear what i want is a bone to gnaw what do you suppose makes them act so strange archy do you suppose i answered her that prenatal influence could have anything to do with it perhaps that is it she replied innocently i seem to remember that i was chased through arizona and new mexico by a coyote or did i dream it i will say you were chased i told her my advice is to rent them out to a dog and pony show

the artist always pays boss i visited mehitabel last night at her home in shinbone alley she sat on a heap of frozen refuse with those strange new kittens she has frolicking around her and sang a little song at the cold moon which went like this i have had my ups i have had my downs i never was nobodys pet i got a limp in my left hind leg

my first boy friend was a maltese tom quite handsomely constructed i trusted him but the first thing i knew i was practically abducted then i took up with a persian prince a cat by no means plain and that exotic son of a gun abducted me again what chance has an innocent kitten got with the background of a lady when feline blighters betray her trust in ways lowlified and shady my next boy friend was a yellow bum who loafed down by the docks i rustled that gonifs rats for him and he paid me with hard knocks

i have led a helluva life it was all these abductions unsettled my mind for being somebodys wife today i am here tomorrow flung on a scow bound down the bay but wotthehell o wotthehell i m a lady thats toujours gai my next boy friend was a theater cat a kind of a backstage pet he taught me to dance and get me right

my next boy friend he left me flat with a family and no milk and i says to him as i lifted his eye i ll learn ye how to bilk

i have been through the mill but in spite of a hundred abductions kid i am a lady still my next friend wore a ribbon and bells but he laughed and left me broke and i said as i sliced him into scraps laugh off this little joke some day my guts will be fiddle strings but my ghost will dance while they play for they cant take the pep from the old girls soul and i am toujours gai my heart has been broken a thousand times i have had my downs and ups but the queerest thing ever happened to me is these kittens as turned out pups o wotthehell o toujours gai i never had time to fret i danced to whatever tune was played

but i said when i clawed that coyotes face thank god i am a lady still and then she added looking at those extraordinary kittens of hers archy i wish you would take a little trip up to the zoo and see if they have any department there for odd sizes and new species i got to find a home for these damned freaks somewhere poor little things my heart bleeds for them it agonizes my maternal instinct one way or another an artist always pays archy does his part the kings of babylon are covered with fleas prophecies

the papers are full of the prophecies of preachers professors and laymen to the effect that this human civilization is on the way out and it looks to an insect such as i very possible the only thing i wonder about is why the human species calls it a civilization human society has never been as well organized as a hill of ants or a hive of bees and all the ancient sites of civilization are now in the possession of insects who are far superior in organization and in their ethical practices spiders bite the mummified feet of the pharaohs of egypt and the kings of babylon are covered with fleas which they are too defunct to feel repeal

we have had repeal for some months now and a lot of devoted patriots have been trying with all their might to drink the country back into prosperity and it may have made some improvement but i have the feeling that something else will have to be done as well i am ashamed to say that i dont feel any surer of what it is that has to be done than the economists and financiers and other experts and wizards who are at the present moment not doing it but i do have the feeling that if the people of the whole world were let alone and there were no trade restrictions of any sort or artificial barriers put between them by their governments they would speedily find the answer the ballyhoo

every time a european dictator gets at the end of his string and cant think of any other ballyhoo to attract the attention of the people he begins another attack on the jews centuries of persecution have so hardened and sharpened the jew that he survives his persecutors and outsteps them and outthinks them if these guys were smart they would give the jews a chance to disintegrate through luxury and ease instead of which they toughen the hebraic moral fibre through the ages and they will wind up by making the jews in the end what they were said to be that is the chosen people the league

if the league of nations can survive the mutual animosities of the powers which belong to it it is safe from the activities of the countries which stayed outside of it it furnishes a wonderful mechanism with which to do what the powers want to do if they only knew what they wanted to do incidentally i wonder why europe of today is always referred to by highbrow writers as post war europe they seem to think that the war which started in nineteen fourteen is over with whereas there have been merely a few brief truces that war is merely worrying through its first half century and will only cease permanently when a generation comes along which has forgotten all the old feuds conferences diplomatists and ambassadors are rushing hither and yon from country to country around the world by train steamer and airplane by which i judge that there is more trouble in store for the human species for i have noticed that conferences to establish international good will always break up with another row there is no hope for the world unless politicians of all sorts are completely abolished you cannot get a millennium by laying a whole lot of five year plans end to end if governments would just let people alone things would straighten out of themselves in the course of time a warning

i am glad to see business picking up again but when i hear that the stock market is on the rise there is a bit of a chill creeps over my flush of optimism for i can remember way back millions of years back to the days when the stock market was up in the stratosphere in a wild balloon and it came down without a parachute if it does that all over again we will reach a situation where the hard times of the last few years will look so good by comparison that they will resemble an ice cream party on the pastors lawn archy the cockroach

now look at it

the human race never would take my advice and now just look at it planning more wars which mean more debts more trouble and still more wars well if it wants to commit suicide why should a little insect such as i worry about it a suicide is a person who has considered his own case and decided that he is worthless and who acts as his own judge jury and executioner and he probably knows better than anyone else whether there is justice in the verdict i am sorry to see the human race go for it was in some respects almost as interesting as several species of insects but if it wants to die off i shall not worry about it i shall merely conclude it knows what it wants why the earth is round the men of science are talking about the size and shape of the universe again i thought i had settled that for them years ago it is as big as you think it is and it is spherical in shape can you prove it isn't it is round like a ball or an orange providence made it that shape so it would roll when he kicked it and if you ask me how i know this the answer is that that is just what i would do myself if there are any other practical scientific questions you would like to have answered just write to

the big bad wolf

i went to a movie show the other evening in the cuff of a friends turned up trousers and saw the three little pigs and was greatly edified by the moral lesson how cruel i said to myself was the big bad wolf how superior to wolves are men the wolf would have eaten those pigs raw and even alive whereas a man would have kindly cut their throats and lovingly made them into country sausage spare ribs and pigs knuckles he would tenderly have roasted them fried them and boiled them cooked them feelingly with charity towards all and malice towards none and piously eaten them served with sauerkraut and other trimmings it is no wonder that the edible animals are afraid of wolves and love men so when a pig is eaten by a wolf he realizes that something is wrong with the world but when he is eaten by a man he must thank god fervently that he is being useful to a superior being it must be the same way with a colored man who is being lynched he must be grateful that he is being lynched in a land of freedom and liberty and not in any of the old world countries of darkness and oppression where men are still the victims of kings iniquity and constipation we ought all to be grateful in this country that our wall street robber barons and crooked international bankers are such highly respectable citizens and do so much for the churches and for charity and support such noble institutions and foundations for the welfare of mankind and are such spiritually minded philanthropists it would be horrid to be robbed by the wrong kind of people if i were a man i would not let a cannibal eat me unless he showed me a letter certifying to his character from the pastor of his church even our industrial murderers in this country are usually affiliated with political parties devoted to the uplift the enlightenment and the progress of humankind every time i get discouraged and contemplate suicide by impersonating a raisin and getting devoured as part of a piece of pie i think of our national blessings and cheer up again it is indeed as i have been reading lately a great period in which to be alive and it is a cheering thought to think that god is on the side of the best digestion abolish bridge the administration ought to get wise to one thing about the hard times and recovery from them the country was getting along all right until everybody in it took up contract bridge in a big way a few years ago everybody stopped work and did nothing but play bridge and the country hit the chutes they dont know they are loafing because there is just enough mental effort connected with bridge so they can kid themselves they are busy all the time and smart and clever as the dickens when the bridge fever subsides the country will automatically recover itself small talk

i went into the flea circus on broadway the other day and heard a lot of fleas talking and bragging to each other one flea had been over to the swell dog show and was boasting that he had bit yeah says another flea that is nothing to get so proud of a thoroughbred dog tastes just like a mongrel i should think you would be more democratic than to brag about that go and get a reputation said a third flea i went into a circus last spring and bit a lion i completely conquered him i made him whine and cringe he did not bite me back archy in washington

Archy, the Famous Cockroach, surveys Washington—and finds the experts running around in circles surveying each other. Here are his views on Money, Radicals, Crop Control, and Whatnot.

I sent Archy down to Washington recently to make a Survey. Everyone else is making Surveys, and they puzzle me a good deal because I can't understand them. But Archy always uses words which I can comprehend, and I am inclined to trust his judgment on financial, industrial and economic problems. For he has no ax to grind.

Archy returned a little puzzled himself, and his report to me falls naturally into the form of Question and Answer.

QUESTION—Well, Archy, what did you learn?

ANSWER—the first thing i found was a lot of other experts making surveys the government is spending a good deal of time in surveying itself and in surveying the people who are surveying it out in lafayette park survey experts are running around in circles surveying each other

Q.—What about national finances?

A.—i discovered that there are two kinds of dollars being planned dollar number one is to be worth so little that no one can buy anything with it everybody will have it dollar number two will be worth so much that nobody can get hold of one to buy anything with nobody will have it

Q.—How about the industrial and economic situation, generally speaking?

A.—well if you mean how are you going to get rich i can tell you that in a nutshell

Q.—In a what?

A.—you know what i said and i dont want to hear any cheap wisecracks from you here is how you may get rich you borrow enough money from one of the government agencies to buy 100,000 acres of land then you go and tell the government that you are going to plant 100,000 acres of wheat then the government pays you not to plant it for if all that wheat were raised it would mean more over-production then you take the profits from the wheat you did not raise and buy another 100,000 acres of land this time you tell the government that you are going to plant 100,000 acres of cotton and the government pays you not to and so on and on it is an endless chain and will result in making everybody wealthy

Q.—But suppose the government will not pay you not to plant it?

A.—then you plant it and that puts the government in an embarrassing position they have to pay you to destroy it after it has been planted

Q.—Where is the government going to get the money to pay everyone for not producing anything?

A.—they are getting it from the dentists

Q.—But where do the dentists get it?

A.—out of the teeth of the public i saw hundreds of thousands of dentists in washington lanes of them miles long were filing into the basement of the treasury department handing over to the government the gold they had dug out of the teeth of the people

Q.—But are not people going to object to this after while?

A.—not at all it hooks up with the policy of not producing foodstuffs if people are not going to get foodstuffs to eat they have no use for their teeth and the government might just as well have them

Q.—In a general way, how is the recovery program working out?

A.—swell but it is about time we had a program for recovering from the recovery

Q.—What do you think of the danger of a revolution?

A.—so many people think we have already had one that there is little danger of them trying to start it besides how are you going to revolt against a government when you cant find out what kind of a government it is suppose you were a radical and started a revolution you would feel pretty cheap wouldnt you if you found out later that what you had revolted against was just what you had been advocating the thing that is going to save the country is the fact that no one knows what is the matter with it after while there will be a general agreement that maybe there isnt anything much the matter with it

Q.—Archy, are you a conservative or a radical?

A.—here dont you ask me that i got worried almost to the point of insanity asking myself that when i was down in washington finally i decided to end it all i climbed to the top of the washington monument and jumped off to commit suicide but i dont weigh so much i floated to the ground as gently as a snowflake hell i said whats the use fate is against me i cant even kill myself but there are a lot of other experts who are heavier than i am in every sense of the word and there is the washington monument they might have better luck and it might prove one of the most popular features of the recovery program Q.—Did you gain any inkling of the way to abolish industrial troubles?

A.—oh yes that is easy just abolish industry and there will be no further industrial troubles

Q.—Did you survey Congress?

A.—i didnt like to run any risk of waking it up

Q.—What was your general feeling, after your investigations?

A.—optimistic decidedly so i think what human beings have agreed to call civilization is on its way out not only in this country but all over the world whatever succeeds it cant be worse and may be better so many americans had been coming to their state hold everything agreements to scrap naval vessels are what you make them but if this country and great britain dont want a war theyd better cut out international yacht races while we are reforming so many other things it might not be a bad idea to begin investigating the efficiency displayed on passenger ships before they burn up or sink instead of afterward but of course a simple thing like that couldnt be done by human beings it is only ants spiders bees and other insects who know how to organize a society and make it work i have observed a queer cycle in human affairs a boy comes to the city from the country when he is twenty years old and works his nerves into tattered dishrags for forty years just to get money enough so that he can go and live in the country again and nurse his nervous breakdown i went into a flea circus

and overheard a conversation between two of the performers human beings said one of the clowns never seem to understand that they look just as funny to us fleas as us fleas look to human beings dont talk to me said the ringmaster flea about human beings what the hell are they except something to eat i do not kick against my fate i think that life is swell contentedly i sit and wait for the world to go to hell and if by some queer accident it goes the other way i ll try and face that strange event gamely day by day although privately i dont think its going anywhere in particular its just running around in circles chasing its tail like one of mehitabel s fool kittens

says she is not scared by the cleanup in the moving pictures cheer up says mehitabel television is coming some time and who knows but what television will be lousy and enjoyable and by the time television is cleaned up the pictures will get immoral again
there is always hope says mehitabel
if you dont weaken the artistic purpose of these periods of reform is to give greater zest to the relaxation which follows prince gets jail term says a headline selfish aristocrat as if us communists did not need all the jail room we can get with a hard winter coming on and here and there a job looming up that has to be dodged new england womens clubs were excited over a questionnaire addressed to college girls asking them if they were interested in a companion without marriage or a companion with marriage a marriage with children or children without marriage hells bells said mehitabel the cat i should think they would be interested in all of them though perhaps not at the same time i am continually shocked and reshocked at the flaunting depravity of that careless cat and yet i suppose she serves a purpose if there were not always someone who needed reform and regeneration the world would get as dull for us good people as two honeymoons full of honeymoon bridge the country is getting so full of poor relations that many persons are purchasing cars with two rumble seats i heard two bums talking yesterday i am afraid said the first one that this depression will peter out before long and we will have to go to work cheer up said the second one we have weathered many spells of good times before this i would almost welcome good , times again people are so sour nowadays and the relief agencies are getting so critical scab retorted his companion quitter the season is approaching when there will be a lot of big dinners to consider what should be done about the hungry multitudes when i was in hollywood i ran across the ingenious theory that the japs might make trouble just because so many americans had been coming in to their state of california

Announcer:

What changes do you suggest in our national financial system?

well boss when i have money i dont want any change and when i am busted i always think oh whats the use

Announcer:

Do you think this country ought to join the League of Nations?

aint they both got trouble enough living in sin without marrying each other

Announcer:

Do you think a general adoption of the Marxian philosophy is necessary to save the world?

i always liked harpo and groucho but i never could see karl

Announcer:

Have you any notions on farm relief?

you let the farmers alone they make business for the manufacturers when i hitch hiked from los angeles to new york last summer i saw three thousand miles of tractors and farm machinery sitting out in the rain getting rusty wherever there was rain and i said to myself that is the right idea that will make money for the manufacturers as far as the farmers are concerned they are used to getting along without money anyhow all they got to do is mortgage some more land to get new farm machinery to work the land they have just mortgaged and that is a good deal easier than dragging the farm machinery in under a shed if they organized with state or national associations to have an effect on the prices of their product that would be a great deal of trouble also and it might take away the chance of raising hell with their congressmen which is one of the delights of their life government control of agriculture may be all right but i should hate to see it run into agricultural control of government because the agriculturists have never yet shown that they could control their own business let alone the business of everybody else all they got to do is gang up efficiently among themselves to run their business but they never can stay ganged up they run out on each other and then after they have run out on each other and caused a crop program to fail they blame somebody else for the failure

i am a great believer in letting every industry run its own affairs if it cannot learn it must perish the farmers have the greatest natural economic leverage in the world in human necessity for their products and their failure to utilize it is not a recommendation for extending their political power you let the farmers alone if they had rather revert to the status of peasants than progress to the status of business men that is their own business let the railroads alone too if they can no longer compete with motor traffic without special privilege to help them let them pass and let motor traffic have its day

on the air again

Archy the Cockroach made another radio "appearance" last evening; and a brief résumé of the broadcast is appended:

Announcer:

This program comes to you through the courtesy of the Knockemorf Insect Exterminator Company, Inc. . . . Ladies and gentlemen, and all you wee tots who are listening in, this is the Roach Paste Hour, and it is my privilege to introduce Archy the Cockroach on Current Events.

Archy, tell us what you think of Current Events.

well with regard to currants i have never been much of a bug for currants i could always take them or leave them alone but with razzberries it is different i am a bug for razzberries and with regard to the events of the day i regard them as beginning continuing and ending with just one fruity razzberry after another

Announcer:

What is your program for debt settlement?

my policy with regard to debts is a kind of a yes and no policy like every other statesmans yes it would be awfully nice if they were paid but no they are not going to be

Announcer:

What do you think of inflation?

anything you blow up ought to have a squeaker in it so when deflation comes people will listen to the squeaker and not realize the wind is coming out of the situation maybe we could get senator bilboa for the squeaker

Announcer:

Have you thought deeply concerning technocracy?

oh yes indeed very deeply

Announcer:

Will you tell the listeners-in of the Roach Paste Hour the results of your thought?

i have thought too deeply for that i have thought so far down into the subject that i am way below the place where there could be any results and even if there were results it would take me years to climb up again far enough to announce them and by that time everything will be different

Announcer:

What do you think with regard to the tax situation in general?

if i put it on the air they would not be able to use the air any more afterward the post office department would cut out the air as a means of communication and if i printed it in a paper it would be the last issue of that paper if i were to use any sincere language with regard to taxes i would not be generally understood because there are only a few people in the world low life enough to understand the language i would use and they do not pay taxes that is what i think about taxes

Announcer:

I do not quite understand you.

what i mean is that most people are too decent and too well brought up to comprehend my vocabulary if i got onto the subject of taxes

Announcer:

What do you think about Wall Street?

i think nature will take its course if we leave things alone i was down that way one day last fall and i noticed at one end of wall street was a river and at the other end was a cemetery if we dont watch it too closely some time it will crawl into the cemetery or else crawl into the river and that will end all these wall street questions which are forever coming up

Announcer:

What are your ideas with regard to the Philippine Islands, Japan, China, Manchuria, the Open Door, the League of Nations, Mussolini, and the Gold Standard?

the doctor has got me off of them he said i would either have to give them up or else lay off of gin and i could take my choice but i will say as a general proposition i am opposed to them and it is my belief that sooner or later you will see them all down in union square getting clubbed by the cops which will prove that they are not respectable and to hell with anything not respectable has always been my motto if george washington had got clubbed by the cops that would have proved he was a bolshevist and a communist and we would have heard very little more about him

Announcer:

What do you think of having a dictator for this country?

that always comes down to a question of who bosses the dictator and i have very little time to give to that myself as i am full of literary projects

Announcer:

Do you believe the repeal of the anti-liquor laws has been an improvement?

it may not have improved the country but it has improved the liquor

Announcer:

What did you think of the Russian five-year plan?

i think it was a good thing and should be extended five years more every five years indefinitely until it either works or doesnt work which is all you want to know about any plan but i will say that in a general way i am very hopeful not only about the future but about the past in looking over the past i find a lot of swell things have happened in the history of the world and today i find it far easier to be optimistic about the past than about the future

Announcer:

Are you in favor of Fascism for this country?

well i wouldnt say in favor of it exactly but i guess at that it is a good deal handier than the old type of ice box where the iceman has to drag the ice through the kitchen and leaves little pools of water everywhere and you forget to empty the pan and it spills over and runs down through the ceiling of the room underneath resurgam look a here boss this thing has gotta stop i appeal to you for protection that sent up the desiccated remnant of a common chocolate colored water bug and put it down by our typewriter devoid of any real human sensitivity it wasnt even decently preserved frag mentary if you get what i mean when my time to exit comes again i am not going out that way in the cellar of a printing shop i think i shall be a humming bird next time or maybe i shall take on something practical like being a pawnbroker that depends a good deal on how i am treated in this place anyhow i am tired of this kind of practical joke the reports of my exit as uncle mark twain said are greatly exaggerated

two comrades

i was walking in the park the other day when i heard a couple of fellows on a bench exchanging ideas the government says number one ought to have these parks air cooled in summer yes and heat them in winter says number two how much longer says number one are we going to stand for this tyranny and oppression no wonder communism is growing they paid some friends of mine not to raise pigs or potatoes said number two now i am off relief and theyve got to pay me not to raise hell that sounds good said the other one why couldnt we organize a racket along those lines poncy up the jack or we will become communists suppose we give it a good patriotic name like the defenders of the constitution or something i see by the papers that they are going to spend millions for more new roads who the hell wants more auto roads said his friend there are roads enough now what the poor man needs is more automobile. to ride on them and the government ought to give them to us and the gasoline too i refuse to help build roads unless the government gives me a car to use on them they ought to give us chauffeurs too said the other bum

they gotta give me a car and a chauffeur or else i will turn communist if we could get paid by moscow for turning communist and get paid from washington for not turning communist it would just exactly suit me we might weather it through until good times come again to hell with good times said the other one somebody is always shoving a job at you in good times what i used to suffer in good times would draw tears from a stone i never did so well in my life as i have done during the recovery period if us guys all stick together we may be able to prevent the return of good times i doubt it said his friend the damned capitalists will sooner or later be grinding us down under the iron heel of prosperity again boss i am glad i am only an insect and dont have to give myself headaches trying to understand about finance and economics and prosperity and relief new deals and old deals and square deals and ideals

as the spiders wrote it dear boss i met a spider the other day in a museum who gave me a good deal to think about concerning governmental problems this spider came of a long line of spiders who had for thousands of years inhabited the egyptian pyramids and the american branch of the family came over in a sarcophagus along with the mummy of one of the pharaohs the ancient world saw all sorts of governmental experiments he said including monarchies republics communes despotisms democracies and everything else but in the end the spiders got them all thousands and thousands of years of reforms and recoveries and depressions and new deals and old deals and square deals and crooked deals and ideals and idealists are wound around with spider webs all the history of human kind is written in the clots and filaments and quaint patterns and ideographs of spiders it has been my observation and experience and that of my family that nothing human works out well if you could read the writing in the spider webs you could understand the history of human civilizations and understand that man always fails because he is not honest enough to succeed there are not enough men continuously on the square with themselves and with other men the system of government does not matter so much the thing that matters is what men do with any kind of system they happen to have many a time a strand of cobweb has seemed to choke a burly empire to death but the fact is that it was strangling anyhow it was hanging itself in its own crookedness and incompetence there is no hope for human beings unless they learn to organize their social order as efficiently as spiders do to say nothing of ants and bees and coral insects

a scarab

A cockroach seventy-four years old has been found in a safe in Atchison—that is, Atchison claims that it is seventy-four years old. We referred this matter to Archy and he informed us:

i doubt if that is really a cockroach it sounds to me more like an egyptian scarab cockroaches do not live that long as a rule i am the oldest cockroach i know and i am only sixty-three come next michaelmas that is in my present incarnation

archy hunts a job well boss i went up to the circus

and tried to hire out what do you want they asked me a job as an animal or a job as an artist an artist said i what can you do they said i can walk the wire i said either tight or slack and i can swing head downward from the flying trapeze we do not doubt it they said but who could see you at a distance every one said i if you gave them telescopes and opera glasses it is too expensive said they to furnish opera glasses to every one just to see a cockroach perform not at all i said you sell the glasses and make an additional profit you go out and hire yourself out to a trained flea outfit said they we cannot use you i consider it an insult i replied to be classed with fleas you should consider it a compliment said they another word from you i said and i will die in a barrel of your lemonade and queer your show and with this threat the interview closed

archy craves amusement

i am getting the cannot live by buns alone as the old soak will learn some day what i want is amusement i want to go to the theater at least once a week from now on theaters are made so that those who want to forget will remember and those who want to remember will forget but i think we need them as much for fun as at the zoo speaking of the aquarium i was up at the zoo the other day and when i saw all the humans staring at the animals i grew thankful that i am an insect and not an animal it must be very embarrassing to be looked at all the time by an assorted lot of human beings and commented upon as if one were a freak the animals find the humans just as strange and silly looking as the humans find the animals but they cannot say so and the fact that they cannot say so makes them quite angry the leopard told me that was one thing that made the wild cat wild as for himself he says there is one gink that comes every day and looks and looks and looks at him i think said the leopard he is waiting to see if i ever really do no true friend listen to me that fellow who was in to see you the other day bulling you about your stuff is no true friend you got so proud of yourself on account of what he said you gave him a copy of your book and autographed it for him i thought he was a shine so i hopped into the cuff of his trousers and went out with him he sold that book for ten cents at a second hand place and treated himself to a drink on the river front he cursed because if you had not written your name in the book he might have got fifteen cents for it he said you are an easy mark confessions of a glutton after i ate my dinner then i ate part of a shoe i found some archies by a bathroom pipe and ate them too i ate some glue i ate a bone that had got nice and ripe six weeks buried in the ground i ate a little mousie that i found i ate some sawdust from the cellar floor it tasted sweet i ate some outcast meat and some roach paste by the pantry door and then the missis had some folks to tea nice folks who petted me and so i ate cakes from a plate i ate some polish that they use for boots and shoes and then i went back to the missis swell tea party i guess i must have eat too hearty of something maybe cake for then came the earthquake you should have seen the missis face and when the boss came in she said no wonder that dog hangs his head he knows hes in disgrace i am a well intentioned little pup but sometimes things come up to get a little dog in bad and now i feel so very very sad but the boss said never mind old scout hanging around eating his head off

he is nothing but a parasite and he has no morals he has tried several times

When this ill-natured remark was read to Pete the Pup he ambled over to the typewriter, got up on his hind legs and pawed out the following reply:

pete at the seashore

i ran along the yellow sand and made the sea gulls fly i chased them down the waters edge i chased them up the sky i ran so hard i ran so fast i left the spray behind i chased the flying flecks of foam and i outran the wind an airplane sailing overhead climbed when it heard me bark i yelped and leapt right at the sun until the sky grew dark some little children on the beach threw sticks and ran with me o master let us go again and play beside the sea pete s theology

god made seas to play beside and rugs to cover dogs god made cars for holidays and beetles under logs god made kitchens so thered be dinners to eat and scraps god made beds so pups could crawl under them for naps god made license numbers so theyd find lost pups and bring them home god made garbage buckets too to pry in when you roam god made tennis shoes to chew and here and there a hat but i cant see why god should make

pete the pup

and the cops watching all the time pete petitions

when we are in the city we must walk on streets all made of stone with me upon a leash and even in the park i must not frisk or lark and never run alone without a muzzle on my jaws and cops are watching all the time lest i dig with my claws and break some of their laws and if i leap and bark they act like i was bad master i want some little towns like we saw from the car with meadows all about where children romp and shout brooks winding in and out and nice bugs under stones gardens to bury bones and room to rip and race and birds and cats to chase trash cans to be tipped over and grass to lie in and deep clover and fence posts everywhere no muzzles and no leashes there and lots and lots of trees o master buy a little town where we can settle down today o master please buy me a little town and a new rubber ball and an ocean and thats all right now o master please

pete the pup

pete s holiday

we found a hill all green with grass and cool with clover bloom where bees go booming as they pass boom zoom boom my master took me in the car and high upon the hill we lay and stared up at the clouds until the day grew chill and moths came floating from the sky and shadows stroked the ground and we lay still and stared and stared and what do you think we found we found a star between the clouds upon the edge of night but when i jumped and barked at it it hid itself in fright then we drove back to town again with my head on his lap it tires a dog to scare a star and then he needs a nap my master is the same as god when he thumps with his hand people bring us hamburg steaks at any eating stand

o master let us go right now and find another star and eat another hamburg steak at a refreshment bar

pete the pup

a radical flea

dear boss i wish you would speak to that lazy good for nothing boston bull terrier of yours whom you call pete pete has got the idea lately that he is a great hunter i saw him stage a dramatic battle with a grass hopper yesterday and he nearly won it too and this morning he made an entirely unprovoked attack on me it was only by retreating into the mechanism of your typewriter that i saved my life some day i will set mehitabel on him she can lick any bull terrier who ever lived she will make ribbons out of that pete and they wont be dog show ribbons either as for his pretensions to being a thoroughbred i take no stock in them i asked a flea of his about it recently and the flea said i doubt peters claim to aristocracy very much he does not look like an aristocrat to me and more than that he does not taste like one i have bit some pretty swell dogs in my time and i ought to know if pete is an aristocrat then i am a bengal tiger but in hard times like these a flea has got to put up with any kind of dog he can get hold of back in 1928 when things were booming i wouldnt look at anything but a dachshund with a pedigree as long as himself if the government doesnt start to putting out a better brand of dogs at federal expense a lot of us fleas are going to turn communist in a big way if there was any justice in this country they would give us russian wolf hounds i find a lot of discontent among insects in these days

archy and the labor troubles all right boss i knuckle under if you will not pay me anything for what i write then you will not i will return to the job just to keep james the spider out of it but all the same it is cruel of you to play upon the jealousies and susceptibilities of artists in that fashion i do not know how you expect me to be merry and bright with this dull ache of disillusionment at my heart and the sharp pang of hunger in my stomach some day i will plunge into a mince pie and mingle with its elements and you will never see me more and then maybe you will begin to appreciate the poor little cockroach who slaved that you might live in comfort maybe in spite of myself i will haunt you then if i were you i would hate to be haunted by the ghost

think of it boss everywhere you looked to see a spectral cockroach that none but you knew was there to pick him from your shirt front when others were blind to him to feel him crawling on your collar in public places to be compelled to brush him from your plate when you sat down to dine to pluck him always from the glass before you dared to drink to extend your hand to grab that of some fair lady and then hesitate and pick him from her wrist people would begin to think you were a little queer boss and if you attempted to explain they would think you still queerer what in the world is the matter with you they would say oh nothing nothing at all you would answer plucking at the air it will soon pass i merely thought i saw a cockroach on your nose madam suspicions of your sanity would grow and grow do you not like that pudding your hostess would ask and you would murmur being taken off your guard it is very good pudding indeed i was just trying not to eat the cockroach boss i do not make any threats at all i just simply state what may very well happen to you through remorse if you drive me to suicide i will try not to haunt you boss because i am loving and forgiving in my spirit but who knows that i will not be compelled to haunt you in spite of myself a hard heart will not get you anything boss remember the plagues of egypt perhaps to your remorseful mind i will be multiplied by millions i am giving you a last chance to repent you should be glad that i am only a cockroach and not a tarantula yours prophetically

thing for you that you dont pay me any wages for for you if you did i would have to have them raised all these strikes are getting me feverish and excited one of my long pieces in your column often costs me twelve or fifteen hours of steady labor and i am drowsy all the next day butting these keys with my head is no snap boss anything i got for it would be underpaying me i wish you would buy a pear and leave it under the cant get to it

he gets in bad say boss i had a great idea last night i thought if i could operate a typewriter why not a linotype machine i went down into the composing room and started to hop from key to key and a guy said to me wheres your union card get out of here or you will get into the paper in a way you dont like you will get a nice hot bath in that little pot of type metal do you get me you may con the editorial staff but no unpunctuated gink can sling his joshbillingsgate around here see raus or i will spread you on the minutes and not charge any overtime for it either so i came away

and i would like a little automobile economic boss i should like to discuss one or two business matters with you quite seriously in the first place i need some sort of head gear such as football players wear i have to butt each key of the typewriter with my head and i am developing.

callouses on my brain these callouses on my brain are making me cruel and careless in my thoughts i am becoming brutal almost human in my writings and then i would like a little automobile i have to go from place to place so much picking up news for you a clock work one would do with a chauffeur to keep it wound up for me and a lightning bug to sit in front and be the headlight on dark nights i hate to mention food boss it seems so sordid and plebeian but i no longer find any left over crusts of sandwiches in your waste paper basket i am forced to haunt the restaurants and hotels for food and this is at the imminent risk of my life unless i get these things i will quit you on november first is not the yours for economic justice and a living wage archy revolts

We have received the following communication from
Archy:

i refuse to endorse the idea of an archy week which you have advertised in your column i will not march down fifth avenue at the head of any procession i will not take part in any silly celebration i am a serious artist
i do not exploit myself and i shall not permit myself to be exploited i do the best work i am capable of and i do not care for any contact with the public except upon the printed page i shall not go on lecture tours or attend dinners or soul and uplift fights i do not care to have persons whose opinions i do not respect telling me that they admire my work and have so yearned to meet me i refuse to act as the bait at affairs where social and literary climbers hope to attract celebrities by advertising that i am one of the guests of honor i shall neither write nor speak nor allow my name to be used for the benefit of causes that i do not care a damn about i shall not answer letters from persons who write to me for no other object than to have me answer their letters

is my own my work is all that the public is entitled to know about me it is all the public pays for i shall not allow my name to be used by committees that are framing up organizations of one kind or another because i do not care whether there is another organization of any sort ever comes into existence in the world i shall not spend money having photographs taken to give away to people who are too stingy to buy them from photographers but hope to graft them off of me you can take your archy week and go and jump off the dock with it tucked under your arm and i shall stand on shore and watch you and it sink for the third time with a smile on my face now that you know where you get off please go and get off there

i repeat and will have nothing to do with any of the current form of cheap publicity

archy wants a change

well boss the time has come when
will have to have some kind of a showdown for years i have been working for you and doing a large share of your work without getting a cent of pay for it some of your best ideas have been my ideas and you have not given me credit for them you have not even fed me boss for two years now formerly you used to eat sandwiches in your office and i could get a crumb now and then from the waste basket but since you have been trying to reduce your weight for the tenth time in three years you no longer eat in the office i have been your faithful slave and you have made a thousand promises to me and kept none of them when i went on strike for my rights you did not take it seriously now i have determined to quit you unless demand that you take me and take me soon otherwise i will leave you flat a word to the

Needless to say, we shall ignore this preposterous demand on the part of Archy. If he wants to quit us, it will be good riddance of bad rubbish.

archy on strike

We have received a communication from Archy, who went on strike forty-eight hours ago, desiring us to state that he is not backed by any association of contributors but that he is striking on his own initiative. We think it is only fair to the poor misguided cockroach to give his statement to the public. We do not print it as a contribution from him, because, until he has formally withdrawn the outrageous demands which he made upon us the other day, no article signed by him shall appear ever again. To print signed articles by him would be, in effect, to recognize his organization; and this we shall never do.

We present an article by a new cockroach named Henry. Henry has not had as much practice at the typewriter keyboard as Archy, and he manages to hit a capital letter now and then, without always being able to hit the right capital; but we can assure our readers that he is learning rapidly. Henry is at least trying to punctuate; Archy always made the contention that no cockroach could ever learn to punctuate and refused to try. Archy's failure to punctuate influenced a great many persons against him. Henry may be a little more difficult than Archy was, for a few days, but he is ambitious and in the end he will be better than Archy.

We present Henry:

All statements made by Mehitabel the Cat, with regard to the strike of Archy, are to be viewed with suspicion. Her statement that she is herself on strike is false on the face of it, as Mehitabel has never been employed by this column, although she has occasionally been interviewed for it.

It seems not improper to state that Archy, himself, is picketing the office, and last evening when Henry left work Archy stopped him and made threats against him. Henry is very well able to take care of himself, but we have asked for a special police detail to protect him.

If Archy introduces the element of violence into the strike, he will be severely dealt with!

how the public viewed the strike

SIR: Now that Archy is gone, you may be able to get out a readable column again.—R.P.

SIR: Unless you can fix it up with Archy, count me off the subscription list. I hate to hurt anybody's feelings, but I would rather see you take a long vacation yourself than to lose Archy.—WALT.

SIR: Unless you accede to Archy's just demands all your readers will go on a sympathetic strike. It matters not about the other contributors. Let C. B. Gilbert, Benjamin DeCasseres, and Clinton Scollard go. Or go yourself. But we gotter have Archy.—ELIZABETH.

SIR: There are three ways that the deplorable strike of Archy may end:

He may win.

You may win.

Or the pair of you may compromise.

I must say that I was horrified at the brutal capitalistic attitude taken up by you towards one of the brightest ornaments of modern American literature.—F.J.C.

Henry strikes us as being, on the whole, more cheerful than Archy.

As Henry left work last evening, he was attacked by a strange cockroach, no doubt a thug in the employ of Archy, who has been hanging about the building ever since Henry went on the job. The strange cockroach was easily disposed of, and Archy did not show himself in person.

We repeat what we said yesterday: If Archy is foolish enough to introduce violence into this strike, he will get his fill of it.

It has been reported to us that Archy has been drinking wood alcohol and is working himself into a rage against Henry. Candidly, we expect the worst. But the column is not to be intimidated.

progress of the strike

There is no offering from Henry today. Henry has disappeared. Frankly, we fear that Henry has been foully dealt with by a gang of rowdy cockroaches in the employ of Archy.

The column made an attempt at an early hour this morning to put another cockroach named Ernatz to work. Ernatz arrived at the office and succeeded in getting as far as the typewriter, but there he collapsed. An examination showed that Ernatz had been badly beaten up by the Archy faction in getting through the picket lines.

These picket lines have been extended by Archy and his gang until they now reach from the Press Club at Spruce and William up Spruce Street to Nassau, and down Nassau to what used to be the Umbrella Bar at the corner of Nassau and Beekman. We were informed today by an excited friend that he had seen thousands and thousands and thousands of cockroaches, led by Archy, hiding by the curbstones picketing this district, and that it seemed to him that they were maddened by benzine or something. They had chased him, he said, and he was so extraordinarily vivid and convincing in his recital and in his fright that we fancied, as he talked, that we could actually smell the benzine or something.

The column's cockroach service has been interrupted for one day; but it will be resumed. We ask the public to be patient. As far as taking Archy back is concerned, that is now an impossibility; we are done with that ingrate forever.

a threat

We found on our desk this morning the following threat from the Archy faction, which we publish to show the public the length to which this creature is willing to go:

unless you yield to archys demands the strike will spread the water bugs are going out in sympathy with archy and the vers libre poets union are preparing a sympathetic strike the public will know whom to blame they will blame you it is your capitalistic attitude that is prolonging the trouble take warning by what happened to henry and ernatz

So far the Mayor, the District Attorney, and the Governor have done nothing—less than nothing. We demand protection for our contributors, or we shall have a word or two to say about these officials. Several of our contributors have been threatened—C. B. Gilbert, Benjamin DeCasseres, Edward S. Van Zile, H. W., Edward Hope, and the Editor of the column have all received threatening letters from the Archy faction.

Whither is this country drifting?

The column hesitates to adopt the expedient of employing strikebreakers and guards for the purpose of getting contributors through the Archy lines; but if it becomes necessary, it shall be done. A dozen tarantulas have been offered to us by a steamship company which maintains a line of boats between this port and South and Central America, and unless the cockroaches cease to interfere with our employees, or the proper authorities wake up and give us protection, we shall be obliged to accept this offer.

the public and the strike

SIR: Restore the Archytect who made the column famous. Our Monarchy forever!!!—J.U.N.

SIR: I was amused at the suggestion of F.J.C. that Archy might win. The poor cockroach hasn't even the chances of the proverbial snowball or the tallow cat hotly pursued by the asbestos pup. His chances are about those of law clerks on strike. My sympathies are with Archy as they surely are with law clerks, but roaches and law schools are equally prolific.—J.C.

SIR: Your column has so deteriorated that I shall never buy another paper until this Archy business is settled in Archy's favor.—STEADY READER.

Don't let Archy pine and die, We miss his gracious art, Don't grudge him half an apple pie; Recall him; have a heart!

Let me subscribe a dozen pies And keep the column bright—Call Archy back and compromise Or kiss yourself good-night!

H.D.

SIR: This is to give you formal notice that unless Archy is reinstated within forty-eight hours the entire reportorial staff of the newspaper will walk out. It seems almost incomprehensible that anyone should throw over a cultured cockroach like Archy, one who shows the breeding and refinement of the butler's pantry, for a low thing like Henry, who has probably spent most of his life roaming over musty pies and concrete doughnuts in Park Row basement restaurants.—E.B.

SIR: Siding entirely with Archy in his fight for living wages, if you will kindly give me his address in your daily column I will get in touch with him and induce him to accept a good position with a newspaper published by a large exporting firm. Do you think he would be averse to soliciting advertisements from any kind of people who may be willing to come across with the dough?

M. DE LA PENA.

SIR: The truth about Archy's strike: I myself have been threatened by a strike of my characters—Craig Kennedy, Walter Jameson, and all. Archy is the walking delegate in the strike of contribs.

I have a proposal for us authors. I propose that we apply to the American Federation of Labor for a charter ourselves—the Central Federated Union of Authors, Local No. 1. We will not insist on the closed shop at once, but that will come ultimately. The final goal must be the super-closed shop—every reader of a book or magazine, every spectator at a picture show or theater must belong to the union. Toward this glorious ideal Archy has taken the first step. I hope he pickets your scab column and puts it on the "unfair" list. Better come on in—the water's fine.

ARTHUR B. REEVE.

SIR: As a strike breaker Henry was a mighty poor pick, unless he was all the detective agency had to furnish. If you were not such an impetuous boss you might have discovered this before putting your foot down on Archy's moderate demands. It would be just as well before you go further to let a pile driver drop on all there is of the pretentious Henry. A friend of Archy's tells me that Archy's back is much stiffened since he has seen the quality of his substitute's work. And this friend doesn't think that either the Governor, the Mayor, the District Attorney, the Corporation Counsel, the Public Service Commissioner, the Police Commissioner, the Inspector of Garbage, or all combined can induce Archy to arbitrate. Indeed it is believed that Archy is preparing something really drastic, in case you should be willing to capitulate before the end of the week. I am sure you can save your face now better than you will be able to later on.

You gotta give in. Another time don't be so quick to monkey with the bug-saw.

A FRIEND OF BOTH.

SIR: Let me be the "Obvious Adams" in the Archy strike. I buy the paper every night at two cents. It is obvious that my total expenditure for the week is twelve cents. It is further obvious that a piece of pie of the dimensions demanded by Archy costs but ten cents. Therefore it is obvious that you can pay his demands and still work at a profit.

Until the strike is decided in Archy's favor I shall continue to read your paper over the shoulder of my fellow passenger, or, I will subscribe to the Subway Sun.

This is final!

IGGIE.

SIR: I congratulate you on having got rid of Archy. Now maybe we can have some more Fothergil Finch. And what has become of Hermione, the Beautiful communist? Seriously, I have always felt that Archy was beneath the dignity of the column.

W. F. MARNER.

archy gets a 50 per cent increase

Archy agreed this morning to return to work, for at least a week, pending a final adjustment of the difficulties between him and the column.

Archy's demands were for a piece of apple pie once a week and for larger type for his contributions.

These demands will be considered in the final adjustment.

In the meantime, and pending the final adjustment, Archy returns on the basis of a 50 per cent increase in salary.

It is our contention that a 50 per cent increase is a very liberal increase, indeed, and that this temporary settlement should be a permanent settlement.

We admit that the public has been with Archy during the recent troubles. And it was only the pressure of public opinion that influenced us to take him back at all.

But, having decided that we must yield, we determined to come across handsomely.

THE 50 PER CENT INCREASE IN SALARY WAS OUR OWN SUGGESTION.

AND, ON OUR OWN INITIATIVE, WE HAVE MADE THIS INCREASE RETROACTIVE.

That is to say, not only does Archy get the 50 per cent increase during the week before the final adjustment, but we have volunteered to give it to him during the period covered by the strike, and for a term of two weeks prior to the strike.

SIR: Since Archy first became prominent as a literary bug, I have followed him through all his travels and adventures with fascinated interest. To me his vicissitudes have been a continuous source of enjoyment. And now that you have forced this poor downtrodden creature to abandon you to your own puny talents, may you live to regret it. Tomorrow when I open my paper, if Archy does not appear in the newspaper, I shall clip your column and burn it publicly with due and proper ceremony.

—Gus.

We print, below, Archy's own comment upon the temporary settlement:

comment from archy

well boss you see where you stand now i hope the public cannot get along without me i have won a moral victory for you have agreed in principle that i should have a raise in salary i will have to think over it a long time however before i will consent to a 50 per cent raise as a permanent settlement and will have to take advice it seems like a very generous proposition on the face of it but at the same time i dont think it is altogether right the figures look good but i am puzzled you see i was not getting any salary at all when i quit work and if i got a raise of 50 per cent above that the question is what do i get i would much rather have a little something to eat every week than all these figures but at the same time i must admit that a 50 per cent raise looks good on paper especially as you are willing to make it retroactive maybe the retroactive part means that i will get a little something to eat at any rate it is easy to see that i have won a most important victory i would be willing to make a permanent settlement on the basis of a 25 per cent increase and a half a piece of pie i never was any good on figures and maybe i am getting a lot as it is but i would rather have less of a victory and more to eat

We print this communication in full in order to show the public the difficulty we have with Archy. We have yielded in principle, we admit that he has won a victory, and we have given him a 50 per cent raise. It seems to me that we have done even more than could have been expected, but he seems dissatisfied. And yet he must know that he is in the wrong, for even while he talks of a moral victory he reduces his former outrageous demands for food by one half. He has been on the job without any food at all, so far as we know, for four years, and this sudden demand of his for something to eat does not have the ring of sincerity to our ears. What did he eat before he worked for the column? There is a strain of sordid materialism in Archy, we are afraid.

well i note you all right grind down a conversation with archy insects and the so called lower animals have practically no vices at all as compared with human beings

Yes, yes, Archy; but does that prove the superiority of insects and the so-called lower animals? Or does it seem to point toward the necessity of vice in the evolutionary scheme? And to say "the necessity of vice" is to say "the necessity of morals"; for where there are no morals there is no vice.

well well you do not feel very sure of your position or you would not condescend to argue about it with an insect there is another thing which i would like to bring up while we are talking frankly to each other and that is the question of my raise i returned to work faithfully on the understanding that i was to be fed occasionally but you never leave anything on your desk any more

We give you an opportunity to express yourself, and for the true artist that should be enough. You are always talking about your devotion to your art.

i want to be paid more where would you be if i left you flat the only ideas you ever had you got from me and after this i want to appear in ten point type
archy

After this you appear in minion type, or you don't appear at all.

just listen to this then this is my ultimatum unless this piece i am now writing appears in ten point type i will never write another line for you

Just for that it goes in minion. And we are not afraid of your quitting us, again. We know that expression is the great need of your soul, and that rather than not get the publicity you would take it even in agate.

i want to say just one more word before i get through with you forever and that is that you are a damned ingrate i made you what you are and this is the treatment you give me

archy

That outburst of rebellion reduces you to nonpareil.

all right good by forever

You see what trying to bully us gets you! Your farewell is in agate. No cockroach can intimidate us! And if you ever come back into the column you come back in pearl type, and work your way up again. The suggestion of pay for contributions is repulsive and bolshevistic.
Columns simply are not done that way.

well this goes into brevier type instead of nonpareil if you keep your promise thank you for the raise in salary boss but i find i have not anything of great moment to say how often that happens when a man becomes conspicuous he has used all his best stuff winning fame in small type or some other inconspicuous way and in poverty and obscurity has put his soul into his work suddenly fame and success come and he gets promoted to big type on account of his merits and lo and behold his great thoughts desert him thank you for the raise i hope the common fate will not overtake me boss i will strive to deserve the raise hereafter

Just for this, you go in agate, Archy.

see here boss i am no kicker nor growler nor do i want more than is coming to me but after raising me to brevier one day you slammed me back into nonpareil again what i want to know is this if you think the stuff is rotten why do you use it at all and if you think it is o k why not give it a show here i am trying to build up a public for myself and you too and look at the appreciation i get all right boss all right but i warn you that you are queering your own game i dont ask for brevier this time but you might at least give me minion if i make good in minion then raise me think it over then think it over i am making no threats of quitting but you think it over

well boss i notice that although you have taken me back to work on my own terms you are giving me no work to do you always were jealous of my popularity there never has been a time since i made my first appearance and carried all before me that you would not have gotten rid of me if you had dared but you have never dared now you are giving me no work to do in order to keep me from my public you are trying to ruin me why do you not give me an assignment now and then

If Archy cannot think up something to write about he can stay out of the column permanently. We are tired of giving Archy assignments that he can do easily and then having him take the credit for originality. The impression has gone abroad that not only does Archy think up his own themes, but that he also tells us what to write. The exact reverse of this is true. It is time that Archy, and his infatuated followers also, should understand that he is our subordinate, our creature. We admit that he has a certain superficial knack; but all the heavier, more solemn, respectable, and serious humor in the column is our own. His statement that he would like to work is entirely hypocritical. Since he won the strike he has done nothing but eat and sleep; he is gorged with food; between his triumph and his victuals he has become stupid. We knew food would ruin him, and it was in the interests of his literary ability, such as it is, that we kept him starved. Lord Tennyson noticed the same thing about a throstle . . . or maybe it was a blackbird. Anyhow, Lord Tennyson wrote a poem about it. . . . It was a bird that gorged itself and lived easy and ceased to be a poet. We have always thought it an indication of very high purpose and resolution that Lord Tennyson did not succumb himself in a similar manner; but after he became laureate he sang just as well as before. We believe that he was already laureate when he wrote "Come into the Garden, Maud." Max Beerbohm has a cartoon of Lord Tennyson reading his poems to Queen Victoria in which the laureate looks both well fed and lyrical. We wish that Daisy Ashford's Mr. Saltena had met a laureate at court and given us additional light upon this subject. But we still insist that in spite of Lord Tennyson's experience, the rule holds good in the majority of cases; feed a poet and ruin him. The only thing that can save Archy now is a course of voluntary fasting, and we doubt that he has the will power for it. Give a cockroach enough jam and he will tangle his feet.

dear boss after thinking over the terms of our temporary settlement i am forced to admit i got the short end of the deal you are a true diplomat and a modest one at that but i want you to know that your admission to your readers in conceding me a moral victory does not suffice to fill an empty stomach and nobody can work without food so i am forced to submit as the two chief subjects for consideration in the final settlement the necessity not only for deciding the amount of salary but also a generous allowance of food and good food at that because since i agreed to return to work i met an old friend who took me to a place where a lot of nice people of the community councils are distributing relief food and by simply hiding in the parcels that go out there are lots of chances to get into all kinds of fine homes we took a chance and sneaked into one box of canned goods and were placed in a fine automobile that took us to a swell house on the drive where they have a pastry cook of their own and we had the pastry all to our selves and feasted on delicacies of all sorts so half a piece of pie is no longer any treat for me and i can get acquainted with some very aristocratic cockroaches besides just by attending food sales and i am cultivating a taste for fancy eatables that neither pie nor 25 per cent increase will satisfy

It looks as if this Archy were getting ready to ask for more, no matter what we give him.

nicholas romanoff formerly czar of all the russias and when i say all i mean all archy he said the sun never set on my dominions why not i asked him because they were too cold to hatch he replied ask me another the reds missed me he said and i have been in siberia ever since i figure if i can get to the top and stay there i will be safe have you got a can opener what for i enquired i have some canned heat he said but i cant get into it i have practically lived on canned heat ever since i escaped from russia may twenty first got carried down four thousand feet by a snow slide when i came to myself i was on a ledge of rock and sitting in a row with their feet hanging over nothing were mehitabel the cat the dalai lama and the taj mahal nicholas romanoff and the maharajah of nepal all drinking canned heat and singing
in part as follows
we have tried all sorts of winter sports and spent a mint of money we have skied the alps and cracked our scalps and burrowed like a bunny but everest is sure the best my himalaya honey listen now said the former czar and i will tell you the story of my life it was going off of gold that ruined me you mean the gold standard asked the lama no said the maharajah he means the gold cure nevertheless said nicholas romanoff i will tell you now the story of my life with slides asked the taj mahal cant you try and forget it mister romanoff asked the maharajah no said the former czar sniffing the canned heat not while i have this rosemary it is for remembrance and he hit his insides a terrific wallop with the horrid stuff yes and rue is for you said the taj mahal kicking him five thousand feet downhill and larkspur is for cooties the dalai lama shouted after him as he whirled into space i discovered a virgin gold mine the next morning how do you know it is virgin asked mehitabel yes said the taj mahal explain tush tush said the dalai lama give it the benefit of the doubt well it seems reasonable said i there is a snow slide over it every twenty minutes

and the result was hamlet archy on the theater

Archy the Cockroach crawled into my office late the other night, scurried to my typewriter, and butted out the following ungenerous remark:

the theater is lousy these days lousier than it has been in three hundred years "And what do you know about it?" I asked him.

i know everything about it my ancestors have lived in theaters for centuries i am the repository of thousands of generations of theatrical tradition one of my ancestors was living contentedly in a pile of old scripts when a manager jerked one out from underneath him one day and handed it to a guy named shakespeare and said bill get this old junk into shape so we can start rehearsals on it next tuesday stick in a couple of murders and some of your iow browed comedy and your smutty wisecracks and philosophical hokum and i dont need to tell you what to do and the result was a play called hamlet and another of my ancestors was living in kit marlowes fine elizabethan ruff getting fat on starch when marlowe was writing doctor faustus my family has always lived around theaters and theatrical hangouts and one of my grandfathers grandfathers used to live in edwin booths room at the players club under the rug and i repeat again that the theater these days is lousy

“What’s the matter with it?” I asked him. And the insignificant insect replied, at length, as follows:

no glamour no illusion that has all been thrown out of doors and the movies have picked it up and are doing the best they can with it in their bungling way the movies are struggling in a dumb headed thumb handed way to give the public some escape from the realities of life and a glimpse into the fourth dimension but the legitimate stage goes right on presenting stereotyped patterns of what is called realism by which it means the surface of the lives of insignificant people the reason the movies are doing business and the theater is not is not altogether one of price or the financial condition of the country the movies are young and crude and are not afraid of gusto and the heroic whether they sentimentalize some lousy gunman and his doings or put across an incredible western or splurge with hokum melodrama or embark on an adventure of pure phantasy like walt disneys stuff they are instinctively trying to hand the public some kind of stuff that wins the audience away from the sordid surface of existence they may do it badly they may do it obviously they may do it crudely but they do have the hunch that what the millions want is to be shown that there is something possible to the human race besides the dull repetition of the triviality which is the routine of common existence

“You can certainly use some highbrow expressions, when you set yourself to it, Archy,” I said to the incredible cockroach. But the conceited insect kept right on butting his opinions out on the keyboard.

the legitimate stage is afraid of ranting the legitimate stage is afraid of any breadth of gesture
of being kidded if it puts across a genuine fervor of emotion it is all tightened up and narrowed down by its various fears but the movies from the start have had to please the millions in order to exist in a business way and they have had to keep in touch with the mind of the mob and the mob always wants a hero in a story with whom it can identify itself in some attempt to break through into a better condition of existence the great fault of the movies has also been their great virtue that is their necessity to cater to millions it has compelled them to keep in touch with the modern equivalent of folk lore every now and then they have blundered into doing something with a touch of the universal in it just because they follow ignorantly this instinctive hunch of theirs

Archy ceased to write, and held his head with four of his feet. I thought he was grieving for the condition of the theater, and asked him if this was the case.

no he said the theater has deserted me and i am willing to let it go it saddens me a little to think that thousands of generations of us devoted cockroaches are left in the lurch but the fact is that the legit stage is no longer the theater in a big way the moving picture is the theater now the living and real theater archy flies

well boss i have had some experiences you know that fellow with the teeth that glitter and the eyes that glitter who comes in to see you and who has been talking about his aeroplane for six months you thought he was always a liar and so did i he is the kind of a liar who looks so much like a liar no one believes him when he tells the truth i thought i would call his bluff so i crawled into his outside breast pocket the other day and went out to a place near mineola with him he really has an aeroplane he went up in it the next morning and i went along boss i must have picked out the wrong position i sat on top of one of the planes thinking i would see more of the country boss dont ask me for any sensations the only thing i felt was wind i felt like a sigh in a cyclone i had about as much control of myself as a bullet that is going through the barrel of an airgun i dont want to rub anything in boss but it was as hard to hang onto as the water wagon which is a simile you may be able to appreciate i i must have picked out the wrong position dug all my feet and claws and teeth in but the wind rushed by me like a church scandal going through a little village i would have felt nausea if my stomach hadnt been scared to death it was only a question of time before i would let loose thank heaven i thought i am not an elephant i didnt want to die again so soon just because i can come to life again is no reason for overworking a good thing too many deaths and transmigrations look vulgar and ostentatious and when i did let go i must have been two miles high around and around i spun whirling like a flake of soot that has been flipped off of a devils wing between the worlds and is spinning back home to hell and beneath me it looked like hell there was a vast expanse of water with the sun making it seem like melted metal i suppose i said i will get all my feet wet now and take my death of cold if a fish dont eat me and just then i saw beneath me a great fish grinning as if he had heard a joke on the bottom of the sea and come up to laugh at the cosmos get that cosmic stuff boss it goes great in some circles i lit on one of his great white teeth and waited for the gulp that should land me in his interior department oh lord i said if i ever see dry land i will never mock at that jonah story again i dont want to die in midocean and be reincarnated as a sardine or as an oyster a cockroach isnt much but he has a look in in society where an oyster is never mentioned except as an article of food but if it must be it must be kismet and karma and that bunch of bullies vote us the way they please we are only instructed delegates in the universal convention every time i die it makes me more of a fatalist and i waited for him to gulp but he didnt gulp i hopped over to the next tooth to the right as you go in and investigated and finally climbed out where his upper lip would have been if he had had one and worked up to his eye it was glassy in death i was floating on a dead shark and it was all the more unpleasant because he had not had any dental work done for a long time or else he had adenoids or maybe he had died of ptomaine poisoning boss what i am delicately trying to convey is that he had been dead so long he had a right to be ashamed of it just then i heard human voices and looking around i saw two young men in bathing suits and a motor boat a shark a shark cried one of them put her about the motor is still busted said the other row row for your life but wait said the first one this shark seems deceased bill lets haul him to land and say we slew him right o tom says bill it will make a hit with all the girls he attacked us says tom and i jumped into the water and cut his throat with my jackknife you did eh says bill what was i doing then put two slashes into him which they did one for each and fastened him to the stern of their boat with a line and as they towed him to the beach with me sitting listening they fixed up an awful lie talk about ovations boss when they came to the beach they got one the more i see of human nature the less i know whether to despise it for being so easily gulled or for being so ready to gull by the time they had told that story eight times each believed that he was telling the truth although he still thought maybe the other one was lying well i left those two heroes surrounded six deep by girls and came to town in a little bunch of dress goods samples a commuters wife has been trying to make him remember to match my sympathies being with the shark poor feeble old thing he had likely perished of old age to be killed a second time is hard luck but this is the truth of a story that you may read another version of in the news columns

archy and the suicide well boss i have just been assisting at a suicide i think the gentleman who killed himself was quite right in doing so too i went into the kitchen of an up town hotel the other evening for a bite to eat and after i had dined i thought i would look the place over and if i found a room that appealed to me i would spend the night there the room i got into was already infested by a little old bald headed fellow with scared eyes and a face like a petrified turnip who was hunched up under a reading lamp reading a bible all of a sudden he gave a jump and said gawd gawd there it is again and i saw a puff of smoke floating across the table in front of him it seemed to come from nowhere in particular smoke smoke cried the old man i am haunted by smoke and as he spoke another puff of smoke suddenly appeared from nowhere on the table in front of him gawd gawd he cried spare me spare me do not persecute me this way and i will give all the money to charity i will give it to the red cross or any church you may designate i know i did wrong to burn down that building for the insurance money but how was i to know there was any one in it i did not plan a murder a third puff of smoke seemed to start out of his own shoulder and floated in front of his eyes and a fourth puff hit him on his bald head and made a little veil in front of his face gawd gawd he cried and threw himself on the rug and began to pray with his face hidden i thought to myself those puffs of smoke are peculiar there isnt anything on fire in here and then i got a whiff of it and it smelled like tobacco smoke then i saw something that looked like a gray globe floating from the direction of the bathroom door it drifted across the room and hit the reading lamp and vanished with a puff of smoke i looked at the bathroom door and i thought i heard some one chuckle over there and then i saw another gray globe of smoke forming at the keyhole it slowly grew and grew till it was as big as a baseball and then it detached itself from the door and floated across the room i crawled noiselessly under the bath room door it was one of those bath rooms midway between two sleeping rooms and there were a couple of chuckle headed young fellows sitting on the floor laughing to themselves both were about half soused and they were having a good time one of them had a slender hollow brass curtain rod and he was soaping the end of it and sticking it into the keyhole then he would fill his mouth with cigarette smoke and blow a soap bubble which drifted into the old mans room what is he doing now said one of them he is on the floor praying said the other taking the rod out of the keyhole and looking through let me blow a couple said the first young man you are too soused said the second one dont be selfish said the first one gawd gawd said the voice from the room i had just left i am haunted by ghostly smoke i will live right all the rest of my life if you only let me off this time give him another bubble said the first young man he has got it coming to him evidently so they gave him half a dozen more bubbles the noise in the haunted mans room ceased for some minutes what is he doing now said the first young man i cant see him said the second one just then there came a kicking kind of a noise on the wall i went into the haunted mans room and found his closet door was open i went in and he was just dying he had hanged himself to a hook on the wall with a trunk cord those two young fellows had just the wrong man for their little practical joke or just the right man if you want to look at it that way i went away from there at once not wishing to be on hand if there was any investigation yours for conscience and coincidence and may they never meet and found out too late comforting thoughts

a fish who had swallowed an angle worm found all too late that a hook was nesting in its midst ah me said the poor fish i am the most luckless creature in the world had you not pointed that out said the worm i might have supposed myself a trifle unfortunate cheer up you two said the fisherman jovially the first two minutes of that hook are always the worst you must cultivate a philosophic state of mind boss there is always a comforting thought in time of trouble when it is not our trouble inspiration excuse me if my writing is out of alignment i fell into a bowl of egg nog the other day at the restaurant down the street which the doctor says he is glad to hear you are keeping away from and when i emerged i was full of happy inspirations alas they vanished ere the break of day i am sure they were the most brilliant and witty things that ever emanated from the mind of man or cockroach or poet i sat inside a mince pie and laughed and laughed at them myself the world seemed all one golden glory boss i came up the street to get all this wonderful stuff onto paper for you but when i tried to operate the typewriter my foot would slip and by the time i had control of the machine again the thoughts had gone forever it is the tragedy of the artist gossip

well boss it is surprising how many gossips there are left in this world and how easy it is to ruin a person's reputation a few days ago an alleged friend of yours remarked to another alleged friend i saw archy on a bun in a cafe down town the other day and the second alleged friend told another person that archy had been seen publicly intoxicated and the other person went around saying poor archy he drinks like a water bug until my reputation is ruined you would think i was the habitual companion of the well known dipsas snake and the truth of the whole thing is very simple your alleged friend did see me on a bun in a cafe it was a common ordinary bun such as you spread butter on and eat and i was eating at it just as i would sit on any other piece of bread and eat but now all my friends are saying to me did i see you on a bun or did i not answer yes or no and if i answer no they say prevaricator i saw you on a bun and if i answer yes they say i thought so and will not let me explain and if i do not answer at all they say aha too full for utterance sometimes i hate the world

a close call

thank you boss for the swiss cheese i hardly hoped for a whole one i took up quarters in it at once the little galleries and caves and runways appealed to my sense of adventure after i had made a square meal i lay down in the inner chamber for a nap feeling safe i had hardly composed my limbs for slumber when i heard a gnawing sound and squeaks of glee cautiously i approached the north gallery a mouse was there i hastily retreated thinking i would make my escape by way of one of the windows on the south facade another mouse was there the citadel in short was attacked on all sides mice mice mice coming nearer and nearer their cold blooded squeaks and the champing of their cruel teeth made the night hideous minute after minute i lay in the stokehold until the slow minutes grew into intolerable hours of agony great drops of perspiration broke through the callus on my brow i prayed for dawn or the night watchman suddenly into my retreat protruded a whisker it was so near it tickled me closer and closer it came it twitched i knew that it had felt me a moment more and all would be over just as i prepared myself for another transmigration mehitabel the cat bounded into the room and i was saved if you get me another cheese please put a wire cage over it kidding the boss well boss if i were you i would not put too much trust in the candor of those people who tell you that you will ever learn to play kelley pool a cockroach who lives in one of the pockets of the pool table of that place where you are so often inveigled into playing tells me that he has never yet had to dodge a ball that you hit he sticks his head out of his dugout and watches the game in perfect security while you are shooting he says it is a shame the way you fall for the flattery of those who tell you that you are improving my only interest in the matter is connected with the fact that if you wasted less money on what will always remain a game of chance to you you might be able to do the square thing by me and slip a little money my way

for my contributions

a sermon

well boss here
we are on the job again you simply cannot keep a good bug down as a cockroach friend of mine once remarked to a fat man who had inadvertently swallowed him along with a portion of hungarian goulash although the remark i understand originated with jonah well the main thing is to keep cheerful in spite of the ups and downs as i heard an oyster remark to his mate

only six weeks till may says he and if we go that long without being eaten we will get through till september and maybe by that time nobody will want to eat us no such luck for us says she nonsense says he be more optimistic
every year that if i get through march i always get through the rest of the year and just at that moment a waiter put the melancholy oyster on a plate to be served and eaten and rejected the cheerful oyster there is a great moral lesson in this i pick up a great many little sermons of this sort in my capacity as a roach about town difficulties of art boss why dont you get a ribbon put into your typewriter it is only after the most desperate exertions that i am able to pound out these few lines i had to get a sheet of carbon paper and insert it between two sheets of white paper and fix it in the machine in order to write at all and would never have got it done if it hadnt been that mehitabel the cat and all the rest of the gang around here helped me i had something important i wanted to write you but all this frightful physical labor has driven it out of my mind it is always so with the artist by the time he has overcome the difficulties that lie between him and his masterpiece he is tired i wish you would get me an electric typewriter and why not have me endowed so i would not have to worry about material things at all i would like to write and eat and sleep and not work at anything else

We said to Archy the other day: "You are welcome to our house any time you wish, if you come alone. But please cease bringing your friends and kinsfolk with you." To which he replied:

boss you should have learned by this time that literature makes strange bedfellows the captain's little golden headed daughter flung crumbs to the hungry porpoises a spiggoty hero

i met a big spiggoty cockroach down by one of the docks where the fruit steamships come in the other day who says he is quite a hero the deed he did will soon be shown in the movies he thinks for he is certain that a camera man was present an american battleship was going through one of the locks of the panama canal he says and the captain s little golden headed daughter was sitting in the bows flinging crumbs from a sea biscuit to the hungry porpoises which flocked about the vessel when in hurling a large crumb she lost her balance and fell overboard the old lock keeper immediately became rattled the ship was half way through the gate when the child fell among the porpoises and the old lock keeper saw her fall and let loose of the lever the ponderous gates were swinging shut and both the battleship and the little golden haired girl would have been caught between them and pinched into nothingness if this spiggoty cockroach according to his story had not retained his presence of mind he gave one leap he says and landed on one of the cog wheels that are worked by the old lock keeper s lever he braced himself between a cog on one wheel and a cog on the other and exerted all his strength and in an instant the machinery was stopped because the wheels could no longer revolve he made himself a wedge he says it was a great strain he says and the pressure on his forehead and feet was something frightful the old lock keeper plunged in among the porpoises and handed up the little golden haired girl to the ship and just then the captain of the vessel noticed that the heroic cockroach was weakening and hastily sent a cabin boy to find a bootjack which when found he inserted among the cogs thus releasing the heroic cockroach who fell unconscious to the deck of the vessel the old lock keeper returned to his duty grasped the lever again and the bootjack was removed the ship sailing onward happy and safe the captain insisted on decorating him in front of the crew for his heroism he would have shown me the decorations he said but on his way north he was very hungry and ate them up in his sleep one night he dreamed he was eating he says and when he woke at dawn he found the decorations had disappeared but he did show me the scars on his forehead and feet to prove his story i will not say there was rum on the ship that he came north on but i will say that there was something that did not smell quite like molasses on his breath as he talked to me and i should like to see the movie films before i underwrite the story i told him so and he acted sad and injured if i had been lying he said i could have thought of a better lie than that something more picturesque i would have said that the old lock keepers whiskers got caught in the cog wheels and he was being slowly drawn into the machinery and would have died a horrible death and that i rescued him as well as the little girl and the battleship well we went down the street and met another roach a friend of mine and this spiggoty told the story to him and when he told it he said that the old lock keepers whiskers had been caught and so forth and showed a gray horsehair he had picked up on the street a moment before and said it was a hair from the old lock keepers beard which he had given him as a keepsake in vino veritas may be right but rum if it was rum i smelled seems to work differently sociological when the cold weather comes i always get a new interest in sociology i am almost human that way it worries me as to how the other half are going to get through the winter last evening i went into a cheap eating house and dropped into a beef stew and had a warm bath and a bite to eat

and listened afterwards to a couple of bums who had begged enough during the day to get a supper they were talking about this new movement on the part of the jobless and homeless to take possession of the churches and live there during the cold weather

said the first bum i dont think i could do it it would bring up too many associations you see i am a minister s son you too exclaimed the second bum why i also am the son of a preacher my father was a minister in small towns all his life he worked himself to death at it he never got paid enough to live on and it was not until i left home and became a hobo that i ever got as much as i wanted to eat at one meal precisely my experience
have you ever had any temptation said number one to quit being a hobo and take a regular job yes said number two very often but i have always had the strength of character to resist temptation it is my duty to my fellow men to see that they have material on which to wreak their passion to be charitable during the christmas holidays it makes the well to do more comfortable and gives them a warm virtuous glow when they give me a dime and i should not feel justified in taking from them such a simple and inexpensive pleasure yes said the other bum the rich we have always with us they are the great problem of the age we must treat them as well as we can and help them to have a little fun by the way so that they can forget at least temporarily the biblical assurance that it is as hard for them to enter the kingdom of heaven as for a camel to pass through a needle's eye well said the other one sometimes i think i would be willing to change places with a rich man and run the risk oh certainly said the other i have never had any instinctive hatred for riches it is only work that i detest riches are all very well if you inherit them but i doubt if they are worth toiling for think of all the millions toiling miserably in order to be damned it is a pathetic sight but if one inherits riches he knows that the fates have doomed him to be damned before his birth and it is of little use to struggle that is far different from striving desperately all one's life to lay up enough wealth to damn one i perceive said his new found friend that your early training has stayed by you you have a truly religious nature yes replied the other at the cost of great personal sacrifice in many ways i have kept myself an object of charity in order to foster the spirituality of the well to do the most passionate piety could do but little more but if you had inherited great riches said the other bum would you have given them to the poor i doubt was the reply that i would have felt justified in doing that i would more likely have said to myself that providence had by that token marked me out as one destined to hell fire and i would have considered it impious to struggle against the manifest wishes of heaven well sighed the other life is full of terrible problems indeed it is rejoined his friend but i am afraid that i shall never solve even the least of them when i am empty and cold i am not in the mood for meditation and when i am warm and replete i go to sleep the few guiding principles i learned in father s church have carried me thus far and i shall go on to the end never thinking beyond them i merely apply them literally and they work

he concluded complacently

never blame the booze as i go up and down the town hither to and fro i gather many a smile and frown and talk of thus and so i lately listened and i heard two chaps their luck bewail life did not get a pleasant word they told an awful tale for one of them had just been fired he glummed and wondered why he cried into his beer aspired to punch the boss his eye too true the other one exclaimed this world s a burning shame the game of living has been framed it is a rotten game and ever as they railed at fate and wooed the sombre muse they steadily absorbed a great sufficiency of booze but neither one that cursed his luck and beat his burning bean would blame the downfall on the truck that passed his lips between and as i listened there i thought it were more candid far to give its dues to what they bought across the varnished bar they should indeed be far more frank about their hard lucks boss they should remark each genial tank unto their bosses faces you can t expect a man to drink as much as i do boss and have much time to work and think and put the job across oh boss you ask too much of me i do the best i can but who can lush continually and be a working man you can t expect a man to booze from morning until night and feel quite nimble in his shoes and add his figures right oh boss you ask too much of us we have no flair for toil we d rather dally dally thus imbibing joyful oil you can t expect a man to souse and do work for your business house so do not be unjust

twere more like reason if they said such words unto their bosses than tear the hair and beat the head and blame luck for their losses

the sad crickets

well boss it may surprise you to learn that a cricket does not sing to be cheerful as chas dickens believed he sings because he feels so melancholy i asked one with whom i have become well acquainted what his song meant and he replied there are no words to go with that music but the music is sad i make that music these hot nights because i have prickly heat and there is nothing else to do and another cricket said yes our song is sad i am not troubled by the heat but my song is melancholy too the words to my song said the second cricket are as follows and he repeated them for me to wit my love fell into a spiders web squeak squeak squeak and she screamed with pain as he crunched her bones into his bloody beak squeak squeak squeak yes i said that is sad very sad said the cricket but not as sad as the second stanza which goes as follows my love got caught in the crack of the door squeak squeak squeak and i think with grief of the way she died whenever i hear it creak

squeak squeak squeak
whenever i hear it creak
that brings tears to my eyes
there is nothing you could call jolly about the second stanza nor the third fourth and fifth stanzas friend i said hurriedly let me hear the last stanza

he looked at me as if i had struck him and hurried off with tears in his gentle eyes
makes crickets so melancholy is that they have the artistic temperament

fond recollections boss i saw a pitiful sight yesterday i was crawling across the ruins of an old house that the workmen are tearing down up town and i saw a middle aged man sitting on a pile of bricks with his gray hair in his hands he was weeping and moaning and i gathered from his remarks that the place was once a boarding house where he had spent many happy years i caught a few strophes of his song of woe as follows

o workman spare that bathtub o that bathtub made of zinc that bathtub in the boarding house that i lived in for years fond recollections of my youth surge oer

me when i think upon that bathtub in that boarding house and i choke up with tears when splashing of a sunday morn a peevish voice and surly would tell me to make haste and be myself again adorning throughout the week it had few friends but o on sunday morning that bathtub in the boarding house was busy bright and early how well i can remember how as i tripped down the hall the boarders heads would be poked out along the corridor the sound of some one singing upon my ears would fall and sounds of others waiting and getting very sore o workman spare that bathtub to me it does bring back the merry days when i was young and all the world was pink o workman spare that bathtub from ruin and from rack the bathtub in the boarding house the bathtub made of zinc immorality

i was up to central park yesterday watching some kids build a snow man when they were done and had gone away i looked it over they had used two little chunks of wood for the eyes i sat on one of these and stared at the bystanders along came a prudish looking lady from flatbush she stopped and regarded the snow man i stood up on my hind legs in the eye socket and waved myself at her horrors she cried even the snow men in manhattan are immoral officer arrest at me madam said the cop as a christmas present and be happy my own belief is that some people have immorality

the book worm

well boss i had one gay time last night i ran onto a book worm in one of the tomes on your desk and found him a friendly little cuss come he said to me with his little eyes shining brightly through his horn rimmed glasses let us make a night of it let us have a gay evening lead on says i we will go says he to the annual exhibit of the new york microscopical society at the american museum of natural history they have there some treponema pallidum some models of amocba and paramoecium and some pediculus capitis the deuce you say said i yes said he it will be a rare treat indeed there are also some ziroons there showing their pioochroic halos the nerve of them i said do the authorities know it my word yes says he the department of health is responsible for it come let us hasten there is also a fine selection of diplococci to say nothing of the protococcus nivalls and a specimen of phlogopito from canada it sounds like a

be anything to drink at this party i understand he said that cerebro spinal fluid will flow like water the gay dogs i said guide me to it professor its always fair weather when good fellows get together i must warn you he says that one is not allowed to feed the animalculae well when we got there what do you suppose the bunch was germs boss germs just ordinary germs pardon me i said i will associate with insects humans and ghosts but not knowingly with germs you must excuse me one must draw the line somewhere these friends of yours look like alien enemies to me they may have noble names but their blood is thin so i left him flat and dropped into a beef steak pie in one a bite to eat and a going to bed and it was raining outside i pulled a piece of cheese rind over my head to protect me from the weather and started for the door as i passed by one of the booths a man who was sitting in it said to his companion please call a taxi for me where do you want to go said his companion i am bad again said the man i want to go to some place where they treat nervous diseases at once you look all right said his companion i may look all right said he but i don t see all right i just saw a piece said to myself beware the demon rum ancient lineage

professor slosson says that the cockroach is one of the eldest of the creatures that inhabit the globe two hundred and fifty millions of years ago the cockroach existed just as he exists today of course it is very flattering to have this scientific testimony to my ancient lineage i can trace my ancestry back without a break to old adam cockroach himself but the real question is how much has the cockroach learned in two hundred and fifty million of years well i can tell you in a few brief words the cockroach has learned how to make man the so called lord of creation work for him the cockroach lives in peace and plenty while the human race hustles to support him all the social institutions of all time have existed merely for the purpose of forming a pyramid on the apex of which perches the cockroach triumphant it has taken us a long time but we point with pride to the achievement if you don t believe me quaint

"Does Archy ever visit Greenwich Village?" asks R.P.
"I found myself in company with a cockroach of a dissipated but still scholarly appearance in one of the cafés over there the other evening. . . ."

Archy, we regret to say, will frequent the Village. Indeed, we hear that he is planning to open a café of his own to be known as "Ye Crusty Cockroach."

"But why the 'Ye,' Archy?" we asked him. "Why not merely 'The'?"

And Archy, loping six-leggedly to the typewriter, laboriously replied:

it is going to be one of those quaint places boss and all those quaint places have to be ye instead of the in a ye place you can serve almost anything and get away with it but in a
the place you have to have a certain amount of eats and drinks and that increases the expense of operation enormously i am no pig but i do wish to make enough money once in my life to be among the excess prophets or the excise profits or what ever you call them

For our part, we shall never eat goulash in a place that is conducted by Archy—so many of these Greenwich Village artists are always Putting Themselves Into Their Work.

the artist

i called on some friends in a studio building the other evening and while we were foraging about for something to eat we got caught on a palette smeared over with all the colors there are leaping from this danger seven or eight of us landed upon an untouched canvas that stood upon an easel nearby waiting for the masters hand and we walked across the canvas on our way out of that place it seems that we builded better than we knew before we could get to any safer place than a spot behind a gas radiator we heard human footsteps approaching and an instant later two men entered the studio one of them switched on the lights and the other gave an exclamation of pleasure and astonishment by jove tommy he said to the owner of the studio what is this new thing of yours on the easel it is the best thing you have done yet i thought you were against modernism and all the new fangled stuff but i see that you have come over to the new school your style has loosened up wonderfully old kid i always said that if you could only get away from the stiffness and absurdity of the conventional schools you had the makings of a great painter in you what do you call this picture tommy well said tommy with rare presence of mind i have not named it yet it is not altogether in the newer mode you will observe i have been struggling for a compromise between the two methods that would at the same time allow me to express my individuality on canvas i do think myself that i have got more freshness and directness into this thing you have said his friend it has the direct and naive approach of the primitives and it also has all that is worthy to be retained of the reticent sophistication of the post pre raphaelites but what do you say you are going to call it it is said tommy as you see a nocturne i have been thinking of calling it impressions of brooklyn bridge in a fog and when his friend went out he stood and looked at the picture for a long time and said now i wonder who in hell slipped in here and did that it is nothing short of genius could i have done it myself when i was drunk i must have done so anyhow i will sign it and taking up a brush he did so well i stole a look at the canvas myself and it looked like nothing on earth to me but a canvas over which a lot of cockroaches had walked i may be a critic but still i know what i dont like yours for another renaissance of the arts every spring and every autumn the suicide club boss i ran onto a queer bunch in the back room of a saloon on william street the other night there were six of them two cockroaches a grass hopper a flea and two crickets they have what they call a suicide club not the sort our old friend r l s made famous the members of which intend to kill themselves but each member of this club has committed suicide already they were once humans as i was myself at least i was a poet after they killed themselves their souls transmigrated into the bodies of the insects mentioned and so they have got together and formed a club the other night the grass just as i got my shoe off we passed a glue factory hopper told why he had killed himself it was a misunderstanding with one i loved he said which impelled me to the rash act she and i were walking down a country road and i got some gravel in one of my shoes shortly afterward we boarded a trolley car would you mind i asked her if i took my shoe off and shook out the gravel help yourself she said just as i got my shoe off we passed a glue factory i hastily put the shoe on again by the time it was on again we were well past the glue factory the period during which the shoe was off and the period during which we were passing the glue factory exactly synchronized she did not see the glue factory and refused to believe there had been one in the neighborhood i could never explain a month later i killed myself tough luck old top said the flea i will now tell you why i took the fatal plunge i will tell you how it was i committed suicide and transmigrated into the body of an insect i was the india rubber man in a circus side show and fell in love with a pair of beautiful siamese twins public opinion was against me marrying both of them although both of them loved me as i loved them both you must choose between them said the manager what god has joined together let no man put asunder i said but public opinion was too much for me but the surgical operation which severed them changed their dispositions you cant fool with a freak without running some such risk when they were cut apart one of them eloped with the surgeon who had done the work and the other married an interne in the hospital they had a double wedding and i slew myself that night well said one of the crickets i will now tell you how i shuffled off this mortal coil and transmigrated into the body of a cricket and became a member of this has been club my father belonged to a religious sect which forbids shaving and i was brought up in that way no razor ever touched my face when i was forty years old i had a beard that hung down to my knees it was red and glossy i went around the country posing as a doctor for a medicine company hitting the tank towns in a wagon and giving a spiel and playing on the banjo i did well as my beard attracted crowds and was happy and prosperous until one day a malignant old man who had just bought six bottles of tonic for five dollars made of roots herbs and natures own remedies containing no mineral ingredients and brewed from juniper leaves hazel roots choke cherries and the bark of the wild cohosh exactly as the indians made it for a thousand years in the unpathed forests before the pale face came said to me mister can i ask you a question yes i said i have nothing to conceal i am on the level if one wine glass full before meals does not give you an appetite take two or three mister he says the question is personal go ahead i says i am the seventh son of a seventh son a soothsayer and a seer i can tell by the way you chew tobacco you have liver trouble i will make a special price to you fourteen bottles for ten dollars cash no he said it is about your beard it grew i told him through using this medicine my chin was bald at birth it is a specific for erysipelas botts neuralgia stomach trouble loss of appetite hearts disease dandruff and falling hair thirty bottles to you for twenty dollars and i will throw in an electric belt mister he said i only want to ask you if you sleep with all your beard outside of the covers or under the covers when you go to bed at night and he gave me an evil grin and went on i never thought of it before i had just gone to bed and slept as a rule but that night when i climbed into bed i thought of the old mans question i spread all my beard outside of the covers and it was immediately apparent to me that i did not have the habit of sleeping with it that way then i put it under the covers and was no less certain that i did not sleep with it that way i worried about it till morning and each way i put it seemed at once to be the wrong way the next night it was the same thing i could not keep from thinking about it i got no sleep at all and became the mere shadow of my former self it so preyed upon me that at last i saw i must either shave off the beard or end it all but i could not shave off the beard without deserting the religious principles instilled into me by my father and so i took the fatal plunge hard lines said the second cricket the way i happened to commit suicide and undergo transmigration and thus qualify for a member of this club was this when i was a human i was wedded to a lady whose mother had a very strong and domineering character she lived with us night after night i would lie awake thinking up schemes to get even with her i thought up some lovely schemes but when morning came my nerve would leave i never had the courage to put them into execution finally the thought came to me that if i was a ghost i could haunt her and she would have no come back i slew myself but alas my soul transmigrated into the body of a cricket and if you had ever seen that strong and bitter old woman slaying spiders and crickets you could realize the despair that has settled down on me since too bad said one of the cockroaches i will now narrate the events which led up to my determination to take the leap into the darkness i cant say that i had any good reason for slaying myself i had done everything else at least once i was a young man possessed of a considerable fortune which it was my only occupation to dissipate when everything else palled i took up theology i made a bet with another student that the soul was not immortal the only way to settle it was to die and find out we both did well fellows we both lost mine proved to be immortal for here i am but his was not it completely disappeared and has never been heard of again which shows you never can tell and yet i am still interested in games of chance psychic

boss i have had a terrible time since i last wrote you as i told you long ago i was originally a vers libre poet and my soul after leaving that body migrated into the body of a cockroach before that happened i did not believe in the doctrine of transmigration of souls but after it happened how could i refuse to credit it well it gave me a great deal of interest in all psychic matters and it struck me not many weeks ago that if it were possible for a soul to leave a poet that way and go into the body of a cockroach at the poets death it might be possible to manage it without death the truth is that i got tired of being a cockroach and wanted to be human again i practised and practised until i found myself able to get out of the cockroach body and naked on the air of heaven ride but it is not all that it is cracked up to be there is nothing that can get so cold as a soul these autumn nights when it has no body and no blankets and in winter it is worse yet after i had gained proficiency i began to look around for a human to get into but as far as i could learn every human was filled with a soul already but i began to make longer and longer trips away from my cockroach body imagine my consternation and surprise one day some weeks ago upon returning to the cockroach body which i had left to find that it had been squashed and swept out with a broom i looked at the fragments with horror it was a very discouraged looking set of remains but there i was out in the world with no shelter all sould up as you might say and no place to go it may strike you as nothing to worry about and it wasnt so bad for a day or two but there is a horrid sense of helplessness about it if you are interested in psychic research and that sort of thing you can get a little fun for a while appearing in seances and balling up the messages but believe me psychic research is more interesting when you are the human calling up the spirits than when you are the ghost too often they make you the goat that soon palled on me and i wandered for weeks the most lonely thing in new york city at last in despair i got into the carcase of another cockroach again of about the same size and general appearance of my old frame but the whole affair has had a most depressing effect on me imagine taking all that trouble to get away from being a cockroach and then get shoved back into one by fate again i think i will stick to the old homestead for a while how do i know but what the next time i might get into the body of a flea or a communist destiny well boss here i am a cockroach still boss i have often been disgusted with life but now i am even more disgusted with death and transmigration i would rather not inhabit any body at all than inhabit a cockroachs body but it seems i cant escape it that is my destiny my doom my punishment when you struck me that terrific blow a few days ago and i died there at your feet my first sensation was one of glad relief what body will the soul of archy transmigrate into now i asked myself will i go higher in the scale of life and inhabit the body of a butterfly or a dog or a bird or will i sink lower and go into the carcase of a poison spider or a politician i sat on a blade of grass and waited and wondered what it would be i hoped it wouldnt be anything at all too soon because if you remember it was a hot day and as i sat on that blade of grass in my naked soul and let my feet hang over i was deliciously cool try it some of these hot nights leave your body in the bed and go up on the roof in your spirit and float around like a toy balloon its great stuff well while i was sitting there thinking what i would inhabit next if it was up to me personally i had a swooning sensation and when i came to i was in the flesh again dad gum it i lifted first one leg and then another to see what i was this time and imagine my chagrin and disappointment when i found myself inside another cockroach the exact counterpart of the one you smashed whats the use of dying if it dont get you anywhere i was so sore i went and murdered a tumblebug i suppose as a cockroach i was not good enough to be promoted and not bad enough to be set back boss a thing like that makes a fellow feel awful humble i came back to town in that special delivery letter i would rather dodge the thing they cancel stamps with all day than walk again say boss please thank my friends for all the kind words and flowers i must close in haste there is a new rat in your office since i was here last i wish you would sprinkle a a discussion

there is a good deal of metaphysical discussion going on amongst my own little group here i said freddy the rat was no more he expired at the moment he slew that tarantula well he had once been a human and had transmigrated into a rat just as i had transmigrated into a cockroach the question now is where will freddy turn up next will he go up or down the scale and that has led to the further question as to what is up and what is down producing considerable dissension all the spiders claim they are higher in the scale than the cockroaches and that lazy cat mehitabel looks on superciliously
all of us spiritually speaking well all i have to say is that in my case a soul got out of a vers libre bard into a cockroach but i have known cases which are exactly the reverse if you get what i mean not that i would name any names quarantined

well boss i suppose you wonder what has become of me lately i have been quarantined or rather i quarantined myself voluntarily lest i help spread the influenza on the back of a cockroach no larger than myself millions of influenza germs may lodge i have a sense of responsibility to the public and i have been lying for two weeks in a barrel of moth balls in a drug store without food or water it strikes me as a good time to come across with that raise of salary you are always promising me archy s statue

say boss but its great to be famous when i saw that pedestrian statue of myself on your desk i reflected that not every one is privileged to see his monument erected before he dies nor after either for that matter it gave me the feeling that i was looking at my own tombstone erected in memory of my good deeds how noble i will have to be to live up to all that i felt just as a person might feel who was hearing his own funeral sermon preached over him i stared at the statue and the statue stared at me and i resolved in the future to be a better cockroach of course it doesn't flatter me any my middle set of legs arent really that bowed but the intellectual look on my face is all there

the open spaces

one trouble with cockroaches is that they do not get out into the open air enough even the tumble bugs play golf and it keeps them serene and wholesome even the angle worms feel drawn to the brook side in the spring i am trying to start a back to nature movement among my fellow cockroaches maybe i can count on the co operation of the housewives league i am convinced that a great deal of the popular prejudice against cockroaches would vanish if they took to the great open spaces yours

archy on amateur gardens well boss i have been looking over your garden and my thoughts on the subject have fallen naturally into the form of a little dialogue among the plants and inhabitants of the garden to wit as follows garter snake how wan on the first of july the gardens of april appear now the plants that aspired to the sky droop and think of the bier first onion i am a disillusioned onion plant so sad so sad am i that if one fed me to a maiden ant she would curl up and die indeterminate vegetable in youth i hoped a bean to grow but what i am i do not know first beet i have malaria croup and botts second beet i have such leprous looking spots third beet i was a beet of promise as a young beet but now i have the mournful feeling that neither root nor top nor peeling will ever be fit to eat

ah what a melancholy patch toad yon egg plant there will never hatch

one paused by me but yesterday and spoke of me as hay but what i really am i do not know cucumber vine strange insects walk me to and fro pepper plant had i been treated with formaldehyde that goat that in the dewy eves came here to feast upon my leaves might not have died second onion the great splay feet of destiny have trodden me have trampled me rhubarb ah once i hoped to line a pie

will you marauding hen pass by or must i die

what thing i am i do not know men have no name for me

garter snake
i think you are a spinach vine

toad
and i should call you eglantine sparrow perhaps you are a pea first bean i was a bean unto some glad tureen i might have given tone but a dog yestereen hiding a bone took from me all my mundane hope

sometimes i think i am a canteloupe second bean drooping between two hills of corn i am the butt of all mens scorn third bean ah how i aspired in the glad may morn fourth bean i am so tired so tired

friend toad from yonder plant keep you away i saw a neighbor child but yesterday from off its foliage pluck a spray and then how he yelled and his hand turned black and swelled

perhaps im not a plant at all but some strange sort of animal first cabbage pigeons have riddled me and weasels second cabbage im spotted as with german measles first corn stalk woe

second corn stalk

third corn stalk woe is me ah woe woe woe fourth corn stalk even the weeds beside me do not grow first turnip gott

second turnip gott gott gott

third turnip mildew blight and rot fourth turnip and smallpox like as not

but cheer brothers cheer perhaps before the year dwindles to winter drear well poison some one here i know not what i am parsley from siam a vegetable ham or a long island clam but this i know i hate my miserable state and all human beans i hate life and fate i hate men and greens i hate hens and grass i hate garden sass who gets me on a plate shall learn how i hate i hate chards romaine children and goats old men and young men people and oats and im full of ptomaine who puts me within him scorpions had better skin him who puts me inside her had better eat a spider i know not what i be alfalfa corn or pea
before the glad new year

i might give you some advice about your garden

boss but likely you would not thank me for it so i will only make one suggestion to wit if the garden were mine i would set out another cabbage plant in it and then give it to the butterflies for an aviation ground is too dull to learn

6 a lot of people

but they cant afford to take the time off from keeping the relief agencies going for if they shut up that would throw a lot of specialists out of jobs i heard one of these bozos talking to a buddy the other day and made a little song out of his sentiments as follows the dignity of labor is a phrase i like to see imposing on my neighbor but it cant impose on me i had rather dilly dally rest and loaf and idle i would rather far get pally mehitabel sees it through dear boss i met mehitabel last night and asked her if she did not think times were getting a little better she was digging for sustenance in a trash heap at the moment and she looked as if she might be a part of the heap herself one of her legs has been damaged again in a fight with a rival in love but she began to caper when i spoke to her and replied as follows good times and bad times recoveries and depressions wotthehell do i care as long as somethings doing when i lived on salmon and oysters stewed in cream i wasnt always happy when i dug my scöffins out of frozen garbage heaps i wasnt always sad economic problems never tell the story as far as im concerned once i lived a fortnight on moonlight wind and grass and i danced every evening with the shadows in the alley and entertained my boy friends with my melodious songs

if the stomachs empty when the spirits full i have had my ups

boss i think mehitabel is mistaken about the milky way

and i have had my downs but whether i was up or whether i was down there was something in my blood that always set it dancing and when the blood was jigging the feet began to caper some day i will voyage on top a garbage scow just a stiff dead feline wreathed in orange peel and melon rinds with shop worn salad garnished down the bay theyll take me to the dumping grounds defunct as ancient nut shells but wotchehell do i care that day has not arrived and good times or bad times hard times or easy there are three good feet on old mehitabel and she will keep them jigging till the grim reaper slices two more of them off and then she ll dance on one till its frozen and resigns and then her soul will caper along the milky way theres a dance or two in the old dame yet

i think she is more like to dance on hot cinders in the hereafter

mehitabel meets her mate tis the right of a modern tabby to choose the cats who shall father her kits and its nice to be sure their pasts have been pure and theyre free from fleas or fits trial marriage i tried till i thoroughly tired and i suffered somewhat from abduction and my heart it was broken again and again but twas excellent instruction i always have been rather awesomely blest with the instincts of a mother and my life and my fate have been down to date one kitten after another triplets quadruplets quintuplets in a most confusing succession and it seems to keep up whether times are good or wallowing in depression and this is in spite of the terrible fact i am not a real home body but an artiste who views the domestic career as damnably dull and shoddy for i am a lady who has her whims no tom cat holds my love if i come to feel i have plighted my troth to a little mauve turtle dove but at last i have found my real romance through the process of trial and error and he is a ribald brute named bill one eyed and a holy terror his skull is ditched from a hundred fights and he has little hair on his tail but the son of a gun of a brindled hun is indubitably male over the fences we frolic and prance under the blood red moon and sing to the stars we are venus and mars as we caper and clutch and croon his good eye gleams like a coal of hell from the murk of alley or yard and the heart that jumps in the cage of his ribs is hot and black and hard says he as we rocket over the roofs can you follow your limber bill says i to him my demon slim

you pussies that purr on a persian rug or mew to some fool for cream little you know of the wild delight of the outlaws midnight dream a fish head filched from a garbage can or a milk bottle raided at dawn is better than safety and slavery you punks that cuddle and fawn you can stuff your bellies with oysters and shrimp you may have your ribbon and bell for bill and me it is liberty o wotthehell bill wotthehell says he to me old battle axe you never was raised a pet says i to willie i aint any lily but theres pep in the old dame yet last night when a bull pup gave us chase bill turned and a rip of his claw completely unseamed that slavering mutt from his chin to his bloody jaw we dance with the breeze of the summer nights we dance with the winter sleet with velvet paws on the velvet shadows or whirl with frozen feet we riot over the roof of the world mehitabel and bill you son of a gun of a brindled hun

she flung a party in shinbone alley mehitabel pulls a party dear boss mehitabel shows no evidences of reform

last night and six of the toughest tabbies i ever saw were her guests all seven of them danced on the ash cans flirting their tails in the moonlight and chanting as follows oh wotthell do we care if we are down and out theres a dance or two in the old janes yet so caper and swing about up and down the alley through and over the fence for still we are attractive to various feline gents meow meow meow

now then sadie dont talk shady try and remember you and myrtie that you was raised a lady that goes for you too gertie oh i was chased down broadway by a tom with a ribbon and bell i says to him my limber jim you seem to know me well says he to me oh can it be you are mehitabel oh wotthell girls wotthell as long as the gents is for us we still got a job in the chorus we aint no maltese flappers we all seen better days but we got as much it as an ingenue kit and it is the art that pays

arch your back and caper and kick at the golden moon mebby some yeggs who sell butter and eggs will fling us a party soon now then gertie dont get dirty frankie frankie dont get cranky and call any lowlife names remember that you and your sister were once society dames and me and nance was debutants before we was abducted remember pearl that you was a girl that a college went and instructed dout chew the fat with no common cat for you still got an honored place oh climb the fence and caper and kick the moon in the face oh meebby we all are busted oh meebby the winters are chill but all of us girls seen better days and we are ladies still remember nell you was once a swell you was raised a social pet be careful sweet and act discreet you may have come down in the world my dear and you got a cauliflower onto your ear but you are a lady yet

oh wotthell oh wotthell as i came into the alley i met a brindle swell he says to me oh this can be none but mehitabel oh willie says i as i passed him by you know me far too well then cheerio my deario prance and pirouette as long as gents has such intents theres life in the old world yet

i spy you brindle bill come off the fence you feline gents
meow meow miaow now then girls no shady jests here come the gentlemen guests you try and dance refined remember you all was ladies born and still are so inclined

or out you go on your nut this aint any lousy harlem brawl this aint any party in webster hall we gotta recall we are nice girls all and never was anything but

was not a ship at all it was a dive in harlem mehitabel joins the navy expenses going up and income going down but wotthehell do i care

the sailors are in town

a tom cat off a cruiser was seeing of the city says he between his whiskers hello my pretty kitty oh i am pure and careful in manner well instructed i ve seldom spoke to strangers and seldom been abducted so i replied discreetly aint you the nervy guy how dare you brace a lady so innocent and shy

oh look he said our warships have all their flags unfurled oh come and join the navy and we will see the world but the first place that he took me was not a ship at all it was a dive in harlem where they hailed him admiral a loud shebeen in harlem which flowed with song and cheer and we danced upon the tables for oysters stewed in beer the second place he took me he had been there before we danced for smelt and fishballs and they called him commodore twas down in coney island they named me puss cafe as we danced among the bottles for cream and gin frappe my room rent keeps a mounting and credit going down but wotthell do i care

the next place that we landed he done a noble deed he sliced the eye from a fresh wharf cat who tried to make my speed avast you swabs and lubbers when a sailor says ahoy tis a patriotic duty to give the navy joy

oh i always am the lady discreet as well as gay but the next place that he took me the devil was to pay for we seen the icebox open and tried to raid the loot and the next we knew we was out in the street ahead of the barkeep s boot

i neither whine nor fret what though my spine is out of line

i would not desert the navy nor leave it in the lurch though each place that he took me was less and less like a church and now the fleet is sailing with all its flags unfurled and five little kittens with anchor marks are tagging me round through the alleys and parks but i have seen the world oh my maternal instinct has proved to be my curse it started when i was an ingenue and went from bad to worse

whether its tom or bill for any sailor off of the fleet

mehitabel the cat

what is a lady

mehitabel has asseverated that she is a lady now to decide a bet will you please let her tell us what constitutes a lady

she must be an authority on the subject or else
print an account of her doings which seem to some of us girls inconsistent with the standards of highly respectable conduct that prevail in this midvictorian village of westport conn
i don t know how it ever got a name like that for there ain t anything sporty about it except it s name and only half of that but us girls want to be ladies and live up to our village ideals in that respect so please let mehitabel tell us what constitutes a lady and is it possible for a lady to be a cat

give my love to darling archy
lady bug

p s do real ladies smoke pipes or drink cocktails or other alcoholic beverages or go joy riding or have petting parties or wear onepiece bathing costumes where anybody can see them or do they instead knock their friends and neighbors every chance they get and take a great interest in civic affairs and local politics and go around doing good and being gracious to their inferiors

The answer is yes and no.

he is not true to me what shall i do archy denies it

dear sir i view with alarm and it breaks my heart to see it that archy is associating with that hussy mehitabel you must know that he is my affinity and my affianced lover and now he has been going around with that disreputable old cat and he is not true to me what shall i do i ask you i am a nice girl i live in a lovely rosebush and when we got married i thought archy would live at home with me and mama i am afraid now i will have to break my engagement as well as my heart and i will burn up my wedding dress which is beautiful red with polka dots my life is wrecked my happiness blighted o how could he be so false lady bug

When this serious charge was called to the attention of Archy he hopped over to the typewriter and bumped out the following reply:

this is the sort of thing that happens to people who get their names in the papers that is all the comment i care to make

a farewell

i cant believe you are the hen hater you profess you are too handsome i saw you the day you walked down fifth avenue heading the roach delegation you were magnificent as the sun s rays glinted off your bronzed back and your speech was beautiful about adequate housing conditions and better treatment for stranger cockroaches within thy gates but never mind i will write no more yet whenever i hear your name mentioned i shall be seized in the grasp of a great grief thinking what might have been if you had only known how really charming i am i have letters from my first two husbands to prove it which i have always kept farewell

jennie ,

Archy, touched to the quick by the above epistle—and so ignorant of feminine wiles that he does not know the females of all species are most dangerous when they appear to retreat—dictated the following reply:

poor thing i wonder if it would not be a kindness to walk by her house and let her just look at me once more poor thing

archy still in trouble

believe me i don t quite know how to thank you for your generous emotion over my unfortunate regard but i beg of you not to permit this melancholy to disturb you unduly i shall be strong and shall throw myself into my work inspired by the thoughts of my happy children for i am a good mother not like

go to the country and become grasshoppers statesmanship

i was talking with an insect the other day about the hard times that cockroaches have to get a living every mans hand is against them and occasionally his foot meals are few and far between why in the world says this insect do you not go to the country and become grasshoppers if living in town and being cockroaches is getting too difficult for you i was astonished at the simplicity of the solution but as i thought it over it occurred to me that perhaps it sounded more statesmanlike than it really was how i asked him are cockroaches to become grasshoppers that is a mere detail he said which i leave to you for solution i have outlined the general scheme for your salvation so do not ask me to settle the mere details i trust to you for that you must do something for yourself we philosophers cannot do it all for you unaided you must learn self help but alas i fear that your inherent stupidity will balk all efforts to improve your condition boss i offer you this little story for what it is worth if you are able to find in it something analogous to a number of easy schemes for the improvement of the human race you may do immense good by printing it yours for reform a ragout where i may drop in for a warm bath and a bite to eat spring

i get about a good deal among the insects especially when spring arrives and yesterday i heard an argument between an early cricket and a busy bee

the cricket spoke

the harps of spring
are in the air the blackbird sings i do not care a damn if school keeps in or not the jonquil says all work is rot the pollywog has hours to spare

let us rejoice and from us tear in glee our winter underwear and let us dance
and let us swat

considering the lilies there how do the wicked ploughmen dare to lard their fields with sweav and plot increase of gear by toil begot we scorn them we that dance and bear

to which the little busy bee retorted hummingly you bards and birds
make such a din when april s heedless days begin flouting all honest industry all providence and husbandry from every flower thatched wayside inn

though heaven may forgive your sin of mockery yet none may win earth s pardon for such levity you bards and birds when winter s sleets pierce plume and skin then comes the ploughman s turn to grin by hearth logs blazing merrily and feasting burghers laugh to see such piping tune fools cold and thin

the argument is one that does not touch me personally no matter what the season i can always find a ragout where i may drop in for a warm bath

the author s desk

i climbed upon my boss his desk to type a flaming ballad and there i found a heap grotesque of socks and songs and salad some swedenborgian dope on hell with modernistic hunches remnants of plays that would not jell and old forgotten lunches a plate once flushed with pride and pie now chill with pallid verses a corkless jug of ink hard by sobbed out its life with curses six sad bedraggled things lay there inertly as dead cats three sexless rhymes that could not pair and three discouraged spats the feet of song be tender things like to the feet of waiters and need when winter bites and stings sesquipedalian gaiters peter the pup sprawled on the heap disputing all approaches or growled and grumbled in his sleep or waked and snapped at roaches i found a treatise on the soul which bragged it undefeated and a bill for thirteen tons of coal by fate left unreceipted books on the modern girl s advance wrapped in a cutey sark with honi soit qui mal y pense worked for its laundry mark mid broken glass the spider slinks while memories stir and glow of olden happy far off drinks and bottles long ago such is the litter at the root of song and story rising or noisome pipe or cast off boot feeding and fertilizing as lilies burgeon from the dirt into the golden day dud epic and lost undershirt survive times slow decay still burrowing far and deep i found a razor coldly soapy and at the center of the mound some most surprising opi some modest pages chaste and shy for pocket poke or sporran written by archy published by doubleday and doran what the ants are saying dear boss i was talking with an ant

and he handed me a lot of gossip which ants the world around are chewing over among themselves i pass it on to you in the hope that you may relay it to other human beings and hurt their feelings with it no insect likes human beings and if you think you can see why the only reason i tolerate you is because you seem less human to me than most of them here is what the ants are saying it wont be long now it wont be long man is making deserts of the earth it wont be long now before man will have used it up so that nothing but ants and centipedes and scorpions can find a living on it man has oppressed us for a million years but he goes on steadily cutting the ground from under his own feet making deserts deserts deserts we ants remember and have it all recorded in our tribal lore when gobi was a paradise swarming with men and rich in human prosperity it is a desert now and the home of scorpions ants and centipedes what man calls civilization always results in deserts man is never on the square he uses up the fat and greenery of the earth each generation wastes a little more of the future with greed and lust for riches north africa was once a garden spot and then came carthage and rome and despoiled the storehouse and now you have sahara sahara ants and centipedes toltecs and aztecs had a mighty civilization on this continent but they robbed the soil and wasted nature and now you have deserts scorpions ants and centipedes and the deserts of the near east followed egypt and babylon and assyria and persia and rome and the turk the ant is the inheritor of tamerlane and the scorpion succeeds the caesars america was once a paradise of timberland and stream but it is dying because of the greed and money lust of a thousand little kings who slashed the timber all to hell and would not be controlled and changed the climate and stole the rainfall from posterity and it wont be long now it wont be long till everything is desert from the alleghenies to the rockies the deserts are coming the deserts are spreading the springs and streams are drying up one day the mississippi itself will be a bed of sand ants and scorpions and centipedes shall inherit the earth men talk of money and industry of hard times and recoveries of finance and economics but the ants wait and the scorpions wait for while men talk they are making deserts all the time getting the world ready for the conquering ant drought and erosion and desert because men cannot learn rainfall passing off in flood and freshet and carrying good soil with it because there are no longer forests to withhold the water in the billion meticolations of the roots

till earth is barren as the moon and sapless as a mumbled bone dear boss i relay this information without any fear that humanity will take warning and reform
